CAUCUS CHOOSES FIVE FOR SLATE

Editor's Column

STUART R. FADDOCK

CLEARWATER, FLORIDA—We think President Kennedy is missing a good bet when he does not allow newsmen to use the prefix "Jack" to his name. The "JFK" the newspapers down here use hasn't the personal touch that good politicians prize so highly.

MacDill air base has runways nearly as long as those at O'Hare field, but it may go under the hammer in 1962.

We were told yesterday, when we visited the base, that although its construction cost many millions, the modern defense of this country does not require its operation after next year.

We hope a use will be found for its fine hospital facilities.

A bank official explained to us the other day the operation of the new IBM electronic computer which can give an instant answer to the personal bank transaction of 50,000 depositors.

Will the time ever come when a computer will be doing the brain work of an editor, freeing him from the charge of erroneous judgment?

It would be wonderful if a short digest of today's happenings could be fed into the machine leaving to its brain the digesting of information and advisable comment.

There are many people in Dunedin who think that 'shuffle-boarding' is the world's most important sport. Of course, they are not teenagers.

We have not become sufficiently adept to participate in the weekly tournaments at this 30-court municipal park but we have enjoyed 'shuffling'.

There is also a club house which is the scene of almost daily bridge sessions and bi-monthly pot luck dinners, which the other night led us to again break our diet.

Take note, we still weigh nearly 20 pounds less than when we left home.

When in Charleston, 'grits' was on every menu. The invasion of northerners in Florida has removed that supposedly southern dish from restaurant bill-of-fares.

Two thousand Cuban refugees have entered the Tampa area. As we hear appeals for towels, soap and tooth brushes our thoughts go back to World War II.

We see by today's paper that President Kennedy plans to save the gold dollar by decreasing duty free imports from $500 to $100.

Such an order will remove part of the incentive of visits to foreign lands.

It at least provides a good alibi to the traveler who returns home without gifts for his friends.

750 Vote In 5-Hour Meeting

More than 750 local residents, meeting in a prolonged Arlington Heights Caucus session Monday night, chose a five-man slate to carry the Caucus banner in the April 18 village election.

The public deliberation lasted over five hours, but brought about the selection of Caucus candidates for village president, three trustee seats' and village clerk.

Elected handily on the first ballot to represent the Caucus for village president was John G. Woods, 501 Windsor dr., an attorney.

Slated to run for trustee were Richard A. Glantz, 202 S. Stratford rd.; Norval B. Stephens, 330 S. Bristol; and William J. Moore, 6 S. Waterman. Selected as village clerk candidate was Mrs. Alberta Foerster, 1541 N. Ridge.

BEFORE VOTING, residents heard Edward Huster, general chairman of the Caucus, declare "the Caucus is not a political party," and Donald Whiting, chairman of the candidate recommendation committee, repudiate "pre-electioneering and pre-slating."

Following the introduction of candidates recommended by Whiting's 21-member committee, nominations were opened to the floor. Nominated were Jerome B. Mockenhaupt, 818 N. Harvard, for president, and Warren Petersen, 118 S. Prindle, and Moore for trustees.

On the first ballot, 733 votes were cast for president. Woods received 381, Mockenhaupt 194, and Robert B. Bishop, 530 S. Chestnut, 158. Woods garnered more than a majority and was declared elected.

IN THE VOTE for village clerk, 726 ballots were cast. Mrs. Foerster received 377 and Howard C. Sorensen, 1717 W. Oakton st., collected 349.

It took five ballots to elect the three trustee candidates. None of the nine candidates running could muster a majority on the first ballot. Douglas A. Brown, 1323 W. Sigwalt, the low vote getter was eliminated in accordance with Caucus by-laws.

The second ballot brought about the election of Glantz, with Fred Jasper, 717 N. Chestnut, withdrawing and Bishop being eliminated.

On the third ballot, no candidate received a majority and Edgar F. Neas, 201 N. Brighton, was eliminated. The fourth ballot witnessed the election of Stephens and the elimination of Petersen.

THUS THE STAGE was set for the final ballot and the evening's most spirited contest between Moore and John J. Walsh Jr., 675 Clarendon ct.

An unidentified resident stood to ask chairman Huster if Moore had been considered by the candidate recommendation committee. Huster referred the question to Whiting.

Whiting answered, "Yes, Bill Moore was considered. But he withdrew his name from further consideration because he is my brother-in-law and didn't want the Caucus to be subject to charges of rigging."

The 268 voters remaining in the Arlington high school girls gymnasium then elected Moore as the third trustee candidate, 138 to 130.

IN HIS EARLIER five-minute address, floor nominee Mockenhaupt assured his listeners he has "always espoused the principles of the Caucus." He added, "If I fail in the election here tonight, I shall not head up an opposition party as has been widely rumored."

In addressing Caucus supporters, elected candidates made the following statements:

WOODS — comprehensive planning for the overall village is of prime importance.

GLANTZ—the village is faced with tremendous growth and its trustees must provide leadership and direction.

STEPHENS—there is a challenge for each one of us to work for better village government.

MOORE—I promise to keep you informed as to what the village board is doing and planning.

MRS. FOERSTER — I am completely confident I can handle the job of village clerk.

CAUCUS CANDIDATES for five village offices are (seated, l. to r.) John G. Woods, candidate for village president; Mrs. Alberta Foerster, candidate for village clerk, and Richard A. Glantz, trustee candidate. Standing are trustee candidates William J. Moore (left) and Norval B. Stephens. The five candidates were elected Monday to carry the Caucus banner in the April 18 village election.

COUNTING BALLOTS during Arlington Heights Caucus deliberations Monday were Albert C. Peters, 403 N. Belmont ave., and Mrs. Leslie Bang, 1315 N. Illinois. More than 750 local residents attended the Caucus meeting at Arlington high school.

No Building Permit

Order Halt to Work On New Cement Plant

Building commissioner Harold Best ordered work stopped Monday on a construction job being undertaken by Consumers company, a ready-mix concrete operation, at the village's inactive sewage treatment plant.

Best said he delivered the verbal stop work order because a building permit had not been issued for the job.

"I was not aware of this construction until Saturday," Best told the Herald Wednesday. "Work was ordered stopped until the village and the company reach an agreement on the company's relocation."

ACCORDING to village manager L. A. Hanson, Consumers company representatives asked several weeks ago if they could begin to pour building foundations at the sewage plant to take advantage of the mild winter weather.

Hanson said he assured the company it would be proceeding "at its own risk" and that permission to begin construction "should in no way be construed as an indication that the zoning board of appeals will rule favorably on the relocation petition."

The zoning board is currently studying a petition filed by the village of Arlington Heights which asks for a zoning variation at the sewage plant to permit the ready-mix firm to move there from its present location at 301 W. Northwest hwy.

THE 9.5 ACRE sewage plant, inoperative since 1958, is located at the southeastern corner of the village south of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks. The village seeks the variation on three acres.

The zoning board voted at a hearing last Saturday to continue study of the proposal until Saturday, Feb. 25. Some 80 residents of residential areas surrounding the sewage plant appeared to protest the petition.

Submitted on behalf of the Stonegate Home Owner's association was a letter protesting the relocation on the grounds the village does not have the right to create a new zoning classification for Consumers company, which was referred to as a heavy industry.

ALSO SUBMITTED was a petition voicing the objections of 186 residents representing 132 properties in the vicinity of the sewage plant.

The zoning board indicated Saturday it could not rule on the village's petition until a contract has been signed with the company. Village attorney Stephen Jurco said the contract may be completed by February 20.

Tragic Mishap

Tot's Death Accidental

Last week's tragic death of a 4-year-old Arlington Heights boy was ruled accidental Saturday by a coroner's jury.

The jury deliberated in Black's funeral home, 207 N. Vail, to investigate the death of Michael Sokolski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sokolski, 726 N. Chicago. The boy was strangled Friday when his arm became caught in a washing machine wringer.

According to police, the boy plugged in the washing machine, turned it on, and caught his arm in the wringer. He died of strangulation.

THE BOY was discovered by a 14-year-old sister, Christine, who was caring for Michael and two sisters, Jo Anne, 6, and Patricia, 2, while Mrs. Sokolski visited a relative in a nearby hospital and Sokolski was at work in Chicago.

An ambulance rushed the boy to Northwest Community hospital about noon Friday, and he was pronounced dead shortly after arrival there. Doctors worked for 45 minutes to revive him, but to no avail.

Christine Sokolski told police Michael was in the basement playing with his train and she and her sisters were upstairs. She said she noticed the electric power shut off at 11:50 a.m. and went to the basement to investigate.

POLICE theorize the burden on the washing machine caused a fuse to blow. The machine was not working properly when tested Friday afternoon.

MICHAEL SOKOLSKI

Funeral services were held for Michael Monday at Our Lady of the Wayside church, Arlington Heights. He was buried in St. Michael the Archangel cemetery.

Survivors include his parents and sisters Alice, 18, Christine, Jo Anne, and Patricia.

Park Board Incumbents Have Filed

Incumbent commissioners of the Arlington Heights park district have filed petitions of candidacy for re-election in the April 4 election, it was announced this week by Tom Thornton, park district director and secretary.

Filing were Wilbert Becker, 116 S. Fernandez; Douglas Thomson, 919 S. Vail; Charles Cronin, 415 S. Evergreen, and George Schaefer, 25 S. Salen. The fifth incumbent commissioner, E. E. Ormsbee, 605 S. Mitchell, has four more years to serve of his six-year term.

BECKER AND Thomson are seeking two-year unexpired terms and Cronin and Schaefer have filed for full six-year terms. They are the only candidates to file to date, but other residents have picked up candidates' petitions from the park district office.

Thornton pointed out that petitions may be obtained from the Pioneer park fieldhouse and that 25 voters' signatures are required. Deadline for filing is March 6, Thornton noted.

Clean Getaway

An Arlington Heights woman reported to police last Friday the theft of her week's washing from a village laundromat. The thief made a clean getaway.

Tag Reminder

Tom DeReimer, village finance director, issued a reminder to Arlington Heights residents this week that vehicle licenses are being sold at the village hall and that those not displaying licenses are subject to fines.

School Bond Issue

Referendum Is March 18

Members of the board of education of Arlington Heights school district 25 approved a resolution Tuesday which officially set Saturday, March 18, as the referendum date for a $1,125,000 building and expansion program.

According to Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of district 25, the bond issue had been tentatively scheduled for earlier in March, but was slated for March 18 in order to give the school board more time for preparation.

The referendum will provide funds for construction of two elementary schools, an addition to Miner junior high school and enlarged administrative facilities.

IT IS estimated the issue will not result in much of a taxe rate increase since the assessed valuations of merged districts 24 and 25 have been combined and there will be two annual increases in assessed valuation before payment on this issue begins.

Elementary schools, kindergarten through fifth grade, are to be built at State rd. and Olive st. and at Patton and Maude sts., under the referendum's outline. Plans also call for a 17-room addition to Miner junior high and a two-story addition to administrative quarters at South junior high school.

Designated as polling places Tuesday were the district's eight elementary schools, Dryden, Kensington, North, Park, Ridge, Westgate, Wilson and Windsor.

Ask Referendum For Annexation

The board of commissioners of the Arlington Heights park district Tuesday passed an ordinance petitioning the county court to call a referendum for the annexation of 240 acres located in the extreme southeastern corner of the village.

The tract is divided into two parts, the 80-acre Park Manor subdivision and the 160-acre Kirchhoff subdivision lying to the east. The latter parcel is an industrial area and part of the village of Mt. Prospect.

THE TO-BE-annexed land is bounded by Central rd., Dryden ave., Fairview st. and Waterman ave.

Tom Thornton, park district director, told the Herald residents of the Park Manor subdivision have indicated a desire to be annexed to the district.

A tentative time table sets the referendum date for Saturday, April 15. It will be up to the county judge to finalize the date, Thornton noted.

LATER THIS month the park commissioner are expected to decide if propositions concerning the Scarsdale Estates subdivision and unincorporated areas to the south of the village should be included in the referendum.

"We have been working hard to keep park district boundaries the same as village boundaries," Thornton said. He pointed out that all voters of the district will take part in the April referendum.

Youth, 17, Back In Police News

Vernon Bergner, the 17-year-old Wheeling township youth who was fined $200 recently for stealing a microphone from an Arlington Heights police car, was back in the news this week.

He was arrested Saturday night and charged with driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The youth, of 203 S. Elmhurst rd., was released on $1,000 bond.

BERGNER'S latest arrest came as a result of a complaint signed by the father of a 16-year-old Mt. Prospect boy. The complaint alleged Bergner and four accomplices accosted the boy and his girl friend as they sat in a parked car Friday night on Douglas st. between Olive and Marion.

His accomplices enticed the boy out of the car and held him while Bergner entered the vehicle and drove off, the complaint says. The car was returned 15 minutes later.

POLICE ARE also considering reinstating charges of larceny and tampering with an auto against Bergner. These charges originated from his January 22 theft of a microphone from police squad 105.

Three Vacancies

School Caucus Meets Monday

Delegates to the nominating committe for selection of candiates to fill three vacancies on the school board of Arlington Heights district 25 will select from among 21 candidates Monday.

At a meeting in the South junior high school cafeteria at 8 p.m., delegates will discuss the qualifications of the prospective candidates recommended January 30 and then vote to select thre to run for board seats.

Vacancies caused by the term expirations of Lambert W. Bredehoft, board president, William F. Hannum, and J. Brooks Smith will be filled in April.

The delegates, all representatives of village clubs and organizations, will hear the findings of the five-member interviewing committee which will have interviewed each candidate by Monday.

Members of the interviewing committee are William Stull, chairman; Mrs. Keith Posselt, Thomas O. Grisell, V. C. Wroblewski and Mrs. Marvin Brand. The committee was appointed January 30 by Harold E. Sortor, nominating committee chairman.

SUGGESTED AS potentially good school board candidates were George E. Herbert, Charles O. Bennett, Louis D. Gregg, Ben F. Carns, Richard K. Stephens, S. Frederick Marks, Earle S. Auge, Clyde E. Rhodes, Ralph C. McGee and Eldon C. McKie.

Also Murray Woolley, Richard D. Hoen, Thomas A. Bird, Mrs. Ethel Ward, John E. Gross, George Harris, Robert H. Skamfer, Nicholas R. Shuman, Norbert J. Hruby, Newell B. Crockett and Fred Jasper.

Two Street Resolutions Are Passed

Arlington Heights trustees voted last week to adopt two resolutions under the Motor Fuel Tax law, one designating arterial streets in the village and the other calling for street improvements.

The first resolution designated Sigwalt st. from Highland to Ridge, Dryden ave. from Miner to Oakton, and Oakton st. from Dryden to State as arterial streets, subject to the approval of the state department of public works.

THE SECOND resolution called for the improvement of Dunton st. from Northwest hwy. to the railroad tracks, Grove st. from Dunton to Highland, Pine st., Vine st. from Dunton to Walnut, and Sigwalt st. from Highland to Ridge.

The improvements are to consist of resurfacing, drainage appurtenances and curbs. The street improvements are to be financed by $40,000 from Motor Fuel Tax funds, the resolution said. (A

Garage Thieves Wreck Machine

Unkown persons who broke into the garage at Fernandez and Grove sts. in Pioneer park last Thursday night caused $500 damage to a vending machine while stealing $15 from it.

Tom Thornton, Arlington Heights park district director, reported the thieves entered the building through a west window, apparently disturbing only the vending machine.

The Arlington Heights village board will receive sealed bids for a trenching machine until 8 p.m. Monday, it was announced last week by Mildred Pearson, village clerk.

Specifications for the machine are available at the village clerk's office, 107 W. Davis st. The board has reserved the right to accept or reject all bids. (A

Library Offers New Books On Science for Children

In the young adult's section of the Arlington Heights public library are to be found many books of interest to young people who are preparing for careers in science and to others who may still be uncertain about their plans for the future.

A recent publication by American Heritage entitled "Men of Science and Invention" describes American Scientists and their accomplishments from the Colonial days to the present. "Famous Men of Science" by Sarah Bolten is a collection of biographies of some of the world's outstanding scientists.

What they gave to the world is described in nonscientific terms. Their personal lives are related in a warm, anecdotal style — what kind of men they were, how they lived, how they worked, and what they accomplished. The list is varied and includes naturalists, astronomers, physicists, and chemists.

TWO FULL length biographies are "America's First Woman Astronomer, Maria Mitchell" by Rachel Baker, a compelling portrait of a fascinating woman, and "The Courage of Dr. Lister" by Iris Noble, a Scientific suspense story as well as a romantic idyll.

The story of the life of Leonardo Da Vinci, a famous artist, is also of interest to scientists because of his drawings for flying machines, diving apparatus, and other inventions.

"The Scientific American Book of Projects for the Amateur Scientist" is a book of experiments and constructions, challenges and diversions in the fields of astronomy, archaeology, biology, natural sciences, earth sciences, nuclear physics, mathematical machines, aerodynamics, optics, heat, and electronics with 256 drawings and photographs.

Another timely and important book is "New Worlds Through the Microscope" by Robert Disraeli. The author arouses the interest of young people in the world around them and shows how to pursue these inquiries with the microscope. There are directions for finding specimens of insects, algae, fungi, pollen and seeds and mounting them on slides.

"The Story of the Atom" by Mae and Ira Freeman tells one of the most exciting stories in all science. Atoms are so small that we can hardly imagine them; yet power from these tiny atoms can make life richer and better for people everywhere. In easy-to-understand terms, this book explains the parts of an atom.

It tells how scientists change atoms to make them more useful, and it describes a power station where atoms are split to make electric power.

IN THE BOOK "Time for You" by Duane Bradley, we learn how the measurement of time has become more and more accurate as man through the years has devised new means of telling time. The development of the Julian and Gregorian calendars, as well as the concepts which underlie the Egyptian, Mayan, Greek, Japanese and other systems of measuring time are explained. (A

Village Concerned With Routing Plan

The village of Arlington Heights will be represented this afternoon (Thursday) at a public hearing called to discuss the proposed realignment of route 53.

The hearing, scheduled for 2 p.m. in the Palatine village hall, will concern itself with the state highway department's proposal to reroute the highway, known as Hicks rd., so that it may cross property in north Arlington Heights.

AT A VILLAGE board meeting February 6, trustees indicated their intentions to see that the village is represented at the hearing. The route 53 topic came up when the board began to discuss the Village Green subdivision.

The Village Green, located between Rand, Wilke and Palatine rds., may lie in the proposed path of the highway, testimony revealed. Trustees were concerned that zoning of the subdivision might be seriously impaired if the highway bisected it.

Acting village president Harold Carlson pointed out that the village had not been notified of the state's plans for rerouting of the highway. He added that the plan commission feels the 82-acre parcel "may be rendered useless" if route 53 bisects it.

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Wil-Rand corporation, developer of the subdivision, urged the board to approve the plan commission's recommendation that rezoning be granted and that the preliminary plat of subdivision be accepted.

The spokesman, Albert Miller, said, "We were informed there are three alternate routes proposed for the highway. There is much secrecy involved here, and we cannot wait for the state to make up its mind.

"We are fighting to get in shape for the Spring season. I don't think the highway will go through our property anyway."

Trustees voted 6-0 to accept the rezoning recommendation and the plat of subdivision. (A

Toastmaster Speech Fete Award Made

The February 8 meeting of the Arlington Heights Toastmasters club 1087 was in the form of a speech contest.

The first speaker of the evening, introduced by Steve Frangmeir, toastmaster, was Joe Brogan whose topic was "Should the Electoral College be scrapped?" He was followed by Mel Coobs, "What is wrong with the American way of life;" Al Hawkes, "The pros and cons of a state income tax;" Gene Hoskstetler, "Should teenagers be allowed to vote?" and Ed Janos, "My college room mate was a character."

The last speaker, Bob Mongrain, was the winner with his topic, "How Istopped smoking." Bob Mongrain and Ed Janos will represent the "Windjammers" of Arlington Heights in the area contest March 6 at the Elks club, Des Plaines.

A special award was given to Jim Kulse, the new area governor. (A

The Arlington Heights Women's club is heading a drive to raise $1,000 to provide Family Service with operating funds needed for immediate use in serving Arlington Heights service requests.

MRS. MELVIN Kurtz, club chairman of the coffees, said first reports indicated the project was off to a successful start.

She reported coffees had already been sponsored by Z. R. Rogozinski, 1219 Woodford; William Ross, 1252 N. Chicago; Mrs. Wendell Prunty, 413 S. Highland; Mrs. D. G. Schinke, 624 Gibbons; Mrs. Everett Nelson, 817 N. Hickory; Mrs. Peter McAndrews, 546 S. Chestnut; Mrs. Eugene Baker, 1848 N. Chestnut and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 Windsor.

Mrs. Kurtz said any woman wishing to participate in the fund - raising activities should contact her at CL 3-2851. She will assist in setting up coffees and will arrange for speakers from Northwest Family Service. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Here I come at you again with some of that crass commercialism that is often tied with advertising. I hate to do it to you, but we have some Vitamins that we should sell.

How have you been standing the winter weather so far? We all have a tendency not to take care of ourselves during the winter; consequently I'd like to remind you that you should keep you and your family fortified with Vitamins. Naturally, I'm speaking of the everyday variety of Vitamins, as I am not qualified to prescribe a therapeutic type of Vitamin for specific purposes. That would be up to your family doctor.

The only thing I ask is that you take care of yourselves. I have said many times and I repeat, "I'd rather sell you prescriptions that act as preventatives rather than sell you a prescription that is a cure." That is about all from "Old Dad Harris," so remember, "Keep Healthy."

The Prospect chapter of the De Molay is planning a teenage record hop for Saturday, Feb. 25 at the Pioneer Park field house in Arlington Heights.

Featured at the dance will be Jack Hilton, star of WGN television's "Spin Time," who will serve as emcee for the affair.

David Hill, of 833 N. Yale, publicity director for the event said "We want to extend a sincere invitation to all young couples who want to attend, irregardless of whether they have any connection with De Molay."

"Dance contests and all the latest in popular records will make the evening an exciting one for everybody," Dave predicts. The dance will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. and the donation is $1.50 per couple payable at the door. (ACM

Young GOP Warned Of Red Challenge

"Today there are five children being educated under Communism for every one child being educated under the teachings of Jesus Christ."

That's what Herman Deisenroth, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Des Plaines Veterans of Foreign Wars post, told 50 members and guests of the Wheeling Township Young Republican club February 1.

Deisenroth, addressing his audience at the Young Republican club's February meeting, said "all Communists read out of the same book—they're all striving for world domination."

HIS REMARKS served as a preface to the showing of the film "Operation Abolition," a product of the House committee on un-American activities. The film attempted to show that student protests against the House committee's hearings in San Francisco last May were inspired by Communists.

Robert Bradner, chairman of the Cook County Young Republican organization, also addressed the club. "The Wheeling club has a fine start and should be up with the most effective soon," Bradner said.

Jerry Moe of Buffalo Grove, dance chairman, reported the orchestra of Roger Ragland of Rolling Meadows has been engaged for the club's annual dance being held Saturday, March 25, in the Arlington Heights VFW hall, 811 N. Yale.

Moe said tickets are now on sale and that the band will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Sally Lollar, ticket chairman, indicated the importance of wide participation in the dance.

OTHER BUSINESS included reports of the treasurer and education committee and discussion of a candidate night scheduled for March 16 in conjunction with the Regular Republican club and Women's Republican club.

President Tom Houser announced the appointments of Martha Boos as program chairman and Joe Tolson as membership chairman. Serving on the membership committee are Pat Quast, Carolyn Elliott, John Peters and Jerry Moe.

The Young Republican club meets the first Wednesday of each month in the community room of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association building. Judy Heinrich, CL 9-3666, is recording secretary. (ACM

Ghana is the "rich man's" state of Africa. Per capita income there is over $150, compared to an average $70 for all the continent.

Service Station Rezoning Granted

With Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines and Arlington Heights voicing no objections, the county board Monday adopted a rezoning ordinance clearing the way for construction of a gas station at the northeast corner of Palatine and Elmhurst roads in Wheeling township.

The owner, Robert J. Bluett, a Mt. Prospect builder, found himself without enough properly zoned land for a gas station after the county acquired 50 feet of the south end of the property for widening of Palatine road and also 23 feet on the west end for Elmhurst road.

SO THE BOARD rezoned an adjoining half-acre, located on the east side of Elmhurst road and 215 feet north of Palatine road, from residence to restricted service district.

Bluett says this'll give him enough land to put up a gas station

One already is in operation at the southwest corner of the intersection and another is planned to be constructed on the southeast corner, according to the zoning board. (ACM

Plans Enlargement

Natl. Bank Observes Its 24th Anniversary

The Arlington Heights National Bank celebrates its twenty-fourth anniversary on February 20, a greatly changed banking institution in a greatly changed time and place since 1937, the year of its origination.

Back in 1937, things moved much more slowly in Arlington Heights and the surrounding Cook County. The village had only a few thousand residents then, for the movement to the suburbs was just beginning to get under way.

It was with confidence in the future of Arlington Heights that Carl Ewert, Hugo Thal, Alfred Jasper and Henry Mueller (the last three now deceased) went about interesting business men and investors in organizing the National bank twenty-four years ago.

Ewert and his committee were successful in their efforts to interest others and a charter was obtained from the Comptroller of the Currency to begin the bank in the center of the small business community alongside the railway. Here the bank remains today, an enlarged, modernized version of the small beginning twenty four years ago.

DEPOSITS at the end of the first year were $314,391.97. Those were different dollars then, for, according to the indexes, today's dollar bought $2.30 in goods in 1937.

The bank grew steadily through the years and by 1958 had just about reached its physical capacity in the building at Campbell and Davis sts.

By that time resources had reached $15,000,000 and need for enlargement was obvious.

Advice was sought from professional and local business sources. Some said move the business south, some said move to a shopping center, some said acquire a building site west of town.

THE DECISION was to stick with the downtown area. To help revitalize and modernize the central business community was the task to which the bank management set itself. And expanding and modernizing the banking quarters was a job completed in 1959.

Wisdom of the decision is evident in the fact that the bank has already used up the doubled space it acquired in 1958-59, and is now making plans to enlarge the quarters to accommodate the expanding services offered its 15,000 customers.

In the last year the Arlington Heights National Bank has increased its capital accounts by more than $325,000 to over one million dollars.

It has arranged lines of credit for large and small firms.

THE LINE-O-CREDIT was instituted in 1959. In this new banking technique, the individual applies for a "line of credit" just as a business would. He may then write checks against that "line of credit" to the agreed maximum. It is a popular service with more than 600 local people.

ONE OF THE bank's exceptional strengths is experience. The chairman of the board is a lawyer who for 35 years has devoted himself to banking and tax matters. The president is a banker with almost 50 years experience in banks in the Chicago area. The executive vice president is a former national bank examiner with 37 years experience in banks. The cashier has 37 years of banking experience. Thus, the top four officers have almost 150 years of banking experience. With the experienced men on the board of directors there is an aggregate of financial experience of more than 200 years.

THERE IS a great day ahead for Arlington Heights, say the men at the National bank. They predict a population of 50,000 in the Village, 5,000 commuters daily, a bigger business district, and many more industrial firms to help spread the tax burden. (B8 SPACIOUS LOBBY and modern facilities mark progress of the Arlington Heights National Bank as it celebrates its 24th anniversary this month. Bank's rapid growth has caused officers to make plans for further enlargement. (B8

Countryside Art Exhibit Is Open

Sunday, Feb. 12, saw the opening of the first exhibit this year by members of the Countryside art center.

On view at Pioneer park in Arlington Heights, the paintings and sculptures will be on display for a month. Everyone is invited to see the exhibition by artists of the northwest suburbs.

In addition to numerous paintings, several pieces of sculpture are on display. Two of these are modern, cast aluminum designs by Orville Bolte, while the other is a wood carving by Dorothy Kruse.

Most of the paintings are oils. There are, however, several water colors and one each of woodcut, pastel and pen and ink.

Barbara Houskeeper displays an oil entitled "Madonna and Child" and a colorful one entitled "Watermelon."

WILLIAM Wimmer's woodcut, "Saroya," is quite large for this type of medium and is well designed. The abstract approach is utilized by Arlene Kargacos and one of them, "The Red Square," is quite modern in its techinque. "Fawn" by Christl Hansen expresses well the woodland charm of its subject, a young girl.

Other exhibitors are Mary Madon, Mrs. Vlasak, Carole Komarek, Fran Shillington, Elizabeth Smith, Mary Moore and Aloise Zehner.

With a few exceptions, all of the works on exhibit are for sale. (B8

Propose Tax Aid To Parents for College Purposes

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church 13th district) is receiving much favorable comment on H. R. 340, the bill which she recently introduced to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 so as to allow a taxpayer a deduction from gross income for tuition and other expenses paid by him for his education or the education of his spouse or any of his dependents.

"I have long been aware," said Mrs. Church, "of the tremendous and growing burden placed on students and particularly on parents during those years when a family's expenses for education take a huge share of family income. This legislation would allow as a deduction any amounts paid during the taxable year by the taxpayer for the tuition and other educational expenses of any individual, including himself, who is enrolled in an educational institution and with respect to whom the taxpayer is entitled for the taxable year to an exemption under the present law. The portion of this deduction allowed a taxpayer on such basis could not exceed, for any one individual for any taxable year, the amount of $1,500.

"THE TERM student" means an individual who, during each of 5 calendar months during the calendar year in which the taxable year of the taxpayer begins, is a full-time student at a duly accredited educational institution having a regular faculty and curriculum and a regularly organized body of students in attendance.

"The term 'other educational expenses' means the expenses of books, fees and charges, uniforms, and, if the student is away from home, transportation, board and lodging.

"The bill has been referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, where early consideration has been asked." (B8 BURTON DIXIE Matress company representative Robert Peterson is pictured discussing bedding products warehouse sale with E. H. Lindgren, president of Arlington Furniture on south State rd., Arlington Heights. Peterson, along with representatives of other leading bedding firms, will be on hand during the sale to help customers. The sale begins February 16 and ends February 24. (B8

Warehouse Bedding Sale Set for Arlington Mart

In an effort to present Arlington Heights' residents with the biggest bedding sale ever held in the suburbs, Arlington Furniture company on South State rd. will open its bedding warehouse to the public at 3 p.m. today, February 16.

This warehouse, located at 205 S. State rd. facing George st., is bulging at the seams with every type of bedding product—hundreds of mattresses, utility beds and lounges. The sale is scheduled to run six straight days, including Sunday, and end at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21.

THIS WILL BE the first time Arlington Furniture has ever opened its warehouse facilities for sales purposes. When asked if this type of sale indicated a policy change at Arlington Furniture, E. H. Lindgren, president, replied "Certainly not. This is a one time thing.

"We had a 2,000 square foot warehouse empty and idle. It was suggested by our bedding manufacturers that this would be a good time for us to show the people how an honestly operated warehouse sale can effect big dollar savings.

"We agreed on the condition that the quality of the products did not suffer, and that controls were set up guaranteeing customer satisfaction and service.

"BUT NO ethical warehouse sale," continued Lindgren, "can last for weeks on end. Ours definitely ends February 21."

Adequate parking facilities are available directly in front of the warehouse entrance on George st. There is a loading dock for those customers who wish to take their purchases with them, Lindgren noted.

Warehouse sale hours are given in Arlington Furniture's advertisement in this week's Herald. (B8

Zontas Plan Thrift Shop

The opening of a thrift shop to offer clothing and general household items at bargain prices was proposed by members of Zonta International, a service organization composed of professional women, at its regular meeting held in the Palatine Savings and Loan on January 24. Dr. Patience Noecker of Palatine presided.

The thrift shop tentatively will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. one day a week on a regular basis, proceeds to be used to finance service projects in the Palatine area. A site for the shop has not yet been selected.

One project which the local Zonta chapter is considering contributing to is the Countryside School for Retarded Children, near Palatine.

X-Ray Technology Instruction Set

Following investigation by the American Board of Radiology, Northwest Community hospital has been authorized to provide a two-year course of instruction in x-ray technology.

This represents new recognition of the excellence of the staff of the local community hospital. The new instruction service is a facility provided only by duly authorized and approved institutions.

INSTRUCTION in the x-ray technology program will be provided by members of the radiology department of the hospital and, according to Alan B. Campbell, hospital administrator, there is at present an opening in the x-ray training program.

Applicants should be high school graduates (a year or two of college background is preferable) and they should have an aptitude for science, physics and chemistry. Persons interested should call the x-ray department at the hospital.

The hospital staff has welcomed the opportunity to establish this new training activity as a new service not only to the community but to the profession of radiology.

AFTER completion of the hospital course, trainees will have an opportunity to pass specified examinations and receive certification by the American Board of Registry for x-ray technicians. The work of x-ray technicians includes assistance to staff radiologists, taking x-ray films, and processing x-ray film preparatory to its examination by the hospital radiologist. There has been a long-recognized need for well-qualified x-ray technologists, and it is to help meet this need that the hospital decided to institute the training program.

Registered x-ray technologists find openings not only in hospital x-ray departments but also in private offices, government departments, defense establishments and other laboratories where x-ray and other forms of radiation are utilized.

INSTRUCTION in the course at Northwest hospital will include the following subjects: x-ray techniques, x-ray therapy, anatomy, physiology, physics, x-ray equipment, medical technology, isotopes, professional ethics, record keeping and dark-room chemistry and procedures.

The education offered by Northwest Community hospital is free, and meals are provided without cost during the first six months of training. At the end of the six-month period the student will be eligible to earn some recompense for duties performed. (B8

Raps Gags On Naming Juveniles

Excessive secrecy used in protecting juvenile offenders is responsible for letting young hoodlums get away with everything up to murder, according to Claude R. Sowle, Northwestern University assistant law professor.

"Our legislatures have withdrawn the youthful offender from the stern, orderly and public processes of the country's criminal courts," Sowle has said.

"They have placed him instead under the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts where privacy and informality prevail and rehabilitation is the sole goal," he added.

SOWLE HAS also said he believes public hearings, followed by appropriate sentences would have a "sobering effect on the offender, his parents and upon the community."

He has been on the Northwestern faculty since 1958, is 32 and a veteran of the Korean War (Navy) and was educated as both an undergraduate and law student at Northwestern. (B8

TELEVISION SURVEY

by ED LANDWEHR

According to the census bureau, a record 88% of American homes have television sets. Ten years ago the census recorded just 12% of all households.

Of course, this survey includes areas of the country where TV reception is poor, and there aren't many sets. I believe a check of our area around here would put the figure at about 98%.

Many homes were reported with more than one set, 11% in this classification.

Of course, TV improvements and color have added to its popularity, and precision service and maintenances from organizations like LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, are a big factor, too, in this big increase. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 next time for the finest service that lasts the longest. It costs no more.

70 Young Skaters Kept Busy By Club

"THESE KIDS are not soft," Mt. Prospect Skating club officials sa yof their members. Pictured in starting positions above are six of the club's youngest members. They are (l. to r.) Tom Benda, 8; Guy Courtney, 7; Ray Leonard, 7; Barbara Winder, 8; Janice Lutsch, 6, and Tony Winder, 6. The club puts an accent on youth through its skating program.

Tough Sport More Popular

by BRUCE LADD

They're off and skating in Mt. Prospect.

And that's the way the founders of the three-year-old Mt. Prospect Skating club planned it.

Lions park, the club's training headquarters, assumes characteristics of an Olympic village between 5 and 7 p.m. weekdays. Desire, energy and sportsmanship are there.

"These kids are not soft," explained Steve Solley, 113 N. Fairview, Mt. Prospect, club manager. "Skating is a tough sport. It builds the body."

He was referring to the club's 70 young skaters ranging in age from seven to 22. The chartered, non-profit organization is now in the midst of its third year of teaching youngsters to ice skate.

THE CLUB was formed in 1958 through the efforts of H. J. Haenisch, 900 W. Gregory, Frank Grady, 513 S. Owen, and Ray Leonard, 402 N. Oak, all of Mt. Prospect. Also of great assistance was the late Edward Planert Sr., ice skating specialist.

"The love of the true winter sport prompted us to initiate the club," Haenisch pointed out. "Ice skating keeps the kids busy during the winter, teaches them endurance."

And Haenisch knows what he's talking about. He's a winner of the coveted Silver Skates, former national indoor speed skating champion, and an official with the Amateur Skating Association of Illinois.

The club, a member of the state association, encourages boys and girls of all ages to ice skate. It provides skilled instruction, takes part in competitive meets and acts as an outlet for bottled energy.

Ten-year-old Bob Grady, son of one of the club's founders, entered the national speed skating championships in 1959 after only one year on skates.

IN 1960 two club members, Jim Rybarezyk, 13, and Jack Gehl, 14, hit the big-time. Jim won the 220-yard champion ship in North American speed skating competition and Jack participated in the national indoor meet.

This year pretty Helen Joy Lutsch of Chicago, the club's coach, and Bob Grady, now 12, will skate in the national outdoor championships. The worth of the club to these members is self-evident.

"So far we've been very successful in being able to attract young skaters from all parts of the northwest suburbs," manager Solley said. "Even though the club was founded and is based in Mt. Prospect, it's open to all those interested in skating in nearby villages."

SOLLEY NOTED that the club has also had a good deal of success in being able to sustain members' interest. He said only youngsters who have learned to "skate a little" are advised to seek membership.

"We'll teach the new skater to get better," Solley indicated, "but we don't have the time or teachers to work with a child who has never been on skates. Time needed to teach from scratch is valuable time taken from the other skaters."

The club enters competition throughout the state—Champaign, Chicago, Northbrook, in neighboring states. Members, competing under an incentive plan, vie for the club's 40 black, red and white uniforms. All skaters are insured against bodily injury.

The club sponsored its first annual Winter Carnival on January 2 of this year. Camped at the site of the Lions park warming house and ice facilities, several thousand spectators witnessed performances by some of this country's finest skaters.

TAKING PART in the carnival were E d Rudolph, a member of the United States Olympic team, Keith Meyers, another Olympic member, and Mary and Ray Novak, national champions.

As a publicity stunt, the club released several hundred ballons containing the names of area children and instructions for the finder to write were found in Canada and eastern states. The letter writer living farthest away wrote from Rochester, N. Y.

Inside the balloon which drifted to Rochester was the name of Mary Cunningham, 9, 107 S. Hi Lusi, Mt. Prospect. She received a pair of brand new speed skates from the club.

The carnival included competition in 62 racing events, as well as figure skating acts, hockey demonstrations and exhibitions of skill.

THE CLUB also holds an annual banquet in May, giving the achievement award to the skater who has shown the most progress, sportsmanship and good will towards skating.

During the warmer months, club members travel to far away artificial ice rinks to practice. Skating begins in October and runs through February. Skaters are groomed the year around for the 1964 Olympic tryouts.

"The excellent cooperation of the Mt. Prospect park district makes our whole program possible," manager Solley commented. "We couldn't exist without a place to skate."

Solley, elected to his manager's position along with the club's officers and board of directors, believes in the legitimacy of outdoor exposure and exerciese.

HE FEELS the Mt. Prospect Skating club is providing a service to area youngsters, all of whom may join the club for a very nominal membership fee.

"The club provides the outlet for winter energy, and we like to think we're helping the physical and mental maturation of the youngsters," Solley confided.

Most agree the club is accomplishing its purpose.

DEMONSTRATING FORM to their skating coach, Helen Joy Lutsch, are 13-year-old Bob Grady (left) and 14-year-old Jim Rybarczyk (right). Grady will skate and represent the Mt. Prospect Skating club in the national outdoor championships this year and Rybarczyk took first place in the 220-yard championship in North American speed skating competition last year. Both boys joined the club as novice skaters.

SKATING CLUB MANAGER Steve Solley, 113 N. Fairview, Mt. Prospect, presents new pair of speed skates to Mary Cunningham, 9, of 107 S. Hi Lusi, Mt. Prospect. Miss Cunningham won the skates as a result of a publicity stunt undertaken in January at the club's first annual Winter Carnival.

Promotion Planned by Foundation

Promotion Planned 1-24 bold

The Suburban Press Foundation this week revealed plans for sponsorship of "The Parade of Progress on Suburban Community Development."

Announcement of the promotion was made by Robert Y. Paddock, foundation president, who said it will be held in Chicago sometime in the fall of 1961.

"Purpose of this promotion will be to document and dramatize the great development of, and advantages in, the rapidly expanding suburban communities of the nation," said Paddock.

AN AWARD will be given to the "Most Progressive Su[illegible]urban Community" at a "N[illegible]onal Conference and Exposition on Suburban Community Development."

The foundation is comprised of nine suburban publisher groups in metropolitan Chicago. (B8

January 10, troop 368 practiced setting the table for breakfast, lunch and an informal dinner. The girls discussed table manners, party manners, how to behave when listening to a speaker and how to make introductions.

January 17 and 24, Mrs. Janet Hinze and Mrs. Lucy Lauger taught square dancing to the troop. Mrs. Hinze and Mrs. Lauger also showed the girls how to do the Bunny Hop and the Hokey Pokey.

JANUARY 31, troop 368 elected the following officers: Pamela Gale, president; Jean Franklin, vice president; Candice Vogt, secretary; Sheila Lauger, treasurer.

Troop 301 and Mariner Ship 334 together, chartered a bus and went in to Chicago February 4 to see "Spartacus." The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Donald Sargol and Mrs. Peter Mickus, co-leaders of troop 301. Everyone brought a nose bag lunch which they ate on the bus.

ROLLINS MEADOWS

In spite of the cold February 3, troop 666 enjoyed a skating party at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights. Having fun along with the Brownies were Mrs. Hal Cress, leader, Mrs. Eugene Ball and Mrs. Mathew Gorden.

The girls are now working on finger puppets and are planning to use them in shows for the troop. (B9

Blue-Ribbon Report Declares:

Anti-Discrimination Laws Needed to Reduce ADC Load

Legislation, dealing with racial discrimination in employment and other causes of increased Aid to Dependent Children costs, was called for in the final report of the blue-ribbon citizens committee on the ADC program.

Ten long-range recommendations, many of them requiring legislation, were made public to augment the recommendations for immediate action sent to the Cook county board of commissioners last week.

President Dan Ryan of the county board appointed the committee more than one year ago, and it has since authorized the most intensive study ever made of a local welfare program in the United States.

Committee Chairman C. Virgil Martin, president, Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., said of the study:

"The ADC program is enormous, in terms of human welfare and in cost to the taxpayer. More than 100,000 recipients in Cook county alone receive help at a monthly cost of $4.4 million. We must solve the problems which have forced these people to depend upon ADC for subsistence.

"TO MY MIND, this hard-working committee has made two key contributions. One was to lay bare serious problems by stripping away many misconceptions, mostly involving alleged fraud. The other was to point out constructive answers involving removal of families from ADC roles by stressing rehabilitation of mere relief."

The 10-range recommendations, which summarized more detailed suggestions contained in the study by Greenleigh Associates, a New York City welfare consulting firm, are:

1. RACIAL discrimination in employment is one of the most serious causes of family breakdown, desertion and ADC dependency. It needs to be more effectively dealt with by existing organizations. It undoubtedly requires state or federal legislation for any effective solution to this problem.

2. The ADC program should be extended to all children in need living with any relatives, including both parents, as one means of preserving family unity and reducing the incidence of desertion and illegitimacy. This would require federal and state legislation.

3. Research projects on the causes and prevention of dependency and illegitimacy should be undertaken as soon as possible, and the knowledge gained should be incorporated in state and local programs.

4. OLD AGE and Survivors Insurance should be extended in coverage, and the benefit payments should be increased in accordance with the changes in our economy. Eligibility requirements for Disability Insurance should be liberalized. These require federal legislation and would have an appreciable effect on the numbers requiring ADC.

5. The state vocational rehabilitation program should be expanded and improved, so as to rehabilitate more disabled persons in ADC families and to prevent dependency for others.

6. The program of state child welfare services should be expanded and improved, so as to serve more children who need such services and to provide specialized child welfare services to ADC children in their own home where necessary. To be effective all child welfare services need to be better coordinated and gaps in service eliminated.

7. Vocational counseling, training and placement services should be improved and expanded both on the state and local levels. This is especially needed to help ADC mothers and older children learn marketable skills, and to prevent the need for ADC in other families. These, too, need to be better coordinated.

8. SCHOOL SOCIAL workers in sufficient quality and numbers should be employed in the school systems to help resolve the problems of children and to identify incipient problems which might lead to delinquency, dependency or illegitimacy.

9. The housing problem needs concentrated attention and more effective action by both private and public interests. Too many ADC families are living in segregated slum housing at exorbitant rentals. This is costly to the taxpayer, 10. Residence requirements causes family disorganization for financial assistance in fed- and retards rehabilitation. eral grant-in-aid programs This undoubtedly requires a should be eliminated by fed- coordinated and comprehen- eral and state action as in- sive legislative effort at all consistent with present day levels. labor market realities. Three Named To Committee

Otto C. Maleske, Democratic committeeman for Elk Grove township, has appointed three members of his organization to work with the committee to re-district the 13th Congressional district, it was announced by Laurence A. Kusek, executive director for the committee.

Those appointed were Fred Thulen, 4 S. Owen st., Mt. Prospect; George Honemann, 1229 E. Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights; and Chester Chesney, 105 N. Adams st., Chicago. (B8

Most State Problems Are Rooted in Money Dilemma

By
REP. BERNARD PESKIN

Discuss any facet of state government and you wind up right back at the place of beginning, namely, money.

Virtually every day the metropolitan newspapers carry stories relating to deficits in the appropriations for the common school fund, the Public Aid Commission, various state code departments — almost every branch of our state will be short of funds before the end of the bi-ennium on June 30, 1961.

Governor Kerner has talked about a possible increase in corporate franchise taxes, broadening the base of the sales tax, increasing the sales tax, and even the possibility of a state income tax. The first three will definitely be proposed as administration measures, with the sales tax increase as the only one with even a good chance of passage. I doubt, in light of the platform pledges of both political parties, that a flat rate income tax will be proposed by the Governor.

OUR REVENUE problems are compounded by the rigid, inflexible Revenue Article in our Constitution. Obviously, before the Legislature can draft an equitable revenue program, one which will treat all segments of our population fairly, we must approve a constitutional amendment which will give the Legislature the leeway it needs.

Iast week I introduced a resolution (HJR 11) for an amendment to the Revenue Article. Co-sponsors with me were men such as Representatives Robert Marks, Abner Mikva, Anthony Scariano, Paul Simon, Jack Rairstow and others.

It is a short Revenue Article. It is easily read and understood. It meets every test of a good Revenue Article. It provides simply that "the legislature shall have the power to levy such taxes as it deems necessary." It further permits the legislature to classify property.

THIS LAST part will cure what is generally agreed to be the most objectionable part of our present Revenue Article — the uniformity provision. This proposal will allow the legislature to put real and personal property into separate classes, and tax them at different rates. It will give a measure of relief to the home owner who is being racked with higher and higher real estate taxes.

It will also allow further classification of personal property into at least two classes, tangible (things you can see and feel) and intangible (stocks, bonds, etc.) and tax them at different rates. It will allow the legislature to exempt household furniture from the personal property tax. It will permit homestead exemptions for home owners.

It will, in short, permit us to do what almost every other state does, and spread the cost of state and local government more equitably.

IT WILL allow the legislature to exempt food or any other item from the sales tax. And it will allow these taxes to be levied directly instead of making us go through various legal fictions, such as taxing the privileges of doing business at retail because a direct sales tax is prohibited by the Constitution.

This proposal does one more thing — it seeks to eliminate the 5% bonding limitation on corporate authorities. This limitation has been the biggest stumbling block to consolidation of school districts and is the sole reason for our having so many overlapping governmental agencies. The bond market, we feel, will serve as a natural limitation to keep corporate authorities from going wild on bond issues.

It should be clearly understood that we can raise all the money necessary to operate our state and local governments under the present Revenue Article. The evil we seek to correct is that the present Article is so inflexible that we cannot change the means of raising revenue to meet our changing times.

IN 1870, when this Constitution was adopted, Illinois was a largely agricultural state and the wealth of Illinois was in real estate and tangible personal property. That's why the Assessor's tax forms still call for declarations of farm animals and such. Today, the bulk of our wealth is in intangibles, such as stocks and bonds, which largely escape detection and taxation. We must reach this untouched source of wealth, but at rates which will not be confiscatory. (B8

THE 56 PIECE concert band, the 65 member senior choir, and the combined freshman choruses of 80 voices will furnish the music, which will begin at 7:45 p. m. in the girls' gym.

Tickets will be available at the door tonight. Adult admissions are 50 cents, while children's tickets are 25 cents.

The concert band will initiate the program with the lively and well known march "Emblem of Unity," by J. J. Richards. Joseph Skornicka's "Erotica Overture," based on themes from Beethoven's "Third Symphony," will be next.

THE TECHNICALLY difficult Farandole from "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2" by Georges Bizet; a novelty number, "Relax" rumba; the fantasia "Funiculi, Funicula"; selections from Jerome Kern's "Showboat"; and the "Parade of the Charioteers" from the movie Ben Hur complete the program for the band.

The freshmen girls have scheduled three numbers under the direction of instructor Vincent Ahnquist: "Christopher Robin Is Saying His Prayers," by H. Fraser-Simson; "Madame Jeanette," by Murray; and Loesser's "Thumbelina."

Accompanists are Nancy Bohac and Patricia Faust.

RELIGIOUS a cappella numbers by the senior choir will complete the program. Director Robert D. Wolff has selected "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee!" from the Cantata "Sleepers, Wake!" by Bach; "Lobet Den Herben" to be sung in German, by Michael Praetorius.

"God Is a Spirit" by C. Albert Scholin; "It Is a Good Thing To Give Thanks" with the words from the Psalms, by Clifford McCormick; two Negro spirituals, "Were You There" and "Gonna Ride Up in De Chariot"; and "God Be in My Head" by W. Davies. (ACM

February Is Birthday Month for Local Residents, Too

Midway through the month most noted for birthdays of famous people, local vacationers are returning from or leaving for warmer, summerier climets than ours. There's been some entertaining, lots of club and committee activity and, oh yes, the birthdays of several famous people of Arlington Heights.

Marguerite Dalton was 15 Friday and celebrated with a slumber - pizza - breakfast party for 18. A defurnished room in the Dalton home accommodated the bumper crop of would-be sleepers who began the safari to 522 S. Dunton about 9 o'clock Friday night.

After a post-midnight pizza supper, the stay-awake marathon began and with almost no effort 18 young insomniacs greeted the dawn, wide-eyed and cheery. They remained awake throughout a sociably long breakfast session, then yawned a bit at the going-home hour. Since none were reported found asleep against a tree over the weekend it's safe to assume they all made it home in a hurry.

THURSDAY night Jeanne Swanson, 901 S. Highland, also celebrated a birthday, slumber-party style. Jeanne was 13 Friday, a convenient no-school day, and she entertained six girl friends at her overnighter which adhered strictly to the no-fair-sleeping rule of all slumber parties.

Although most such partyites sleep the next afternoon, Jeanne had a bowling birthday party to go to and postponed her date with Morpheus until Friday evening, right in the middle of a family dinner party in her honor. Among the understanding guests who wished her happy birthday and pleasant dreams were Jeanne's grandmother, Mrs. Hulda Hansen, and her uncle, aunt and cousin, former Arlington Heighters Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Andersen and Pam, all of Park Ridge.

The previous weekend the Swanson family joined Chicago friends for a 2-day ski fest in Boyne Falls, Mich. Skiing, while Barbara attended an academy dance, was also on the schedule this past weekend at Lake Geneva, site of the Northwest Naval and Military academy and a popular winter lodge. The dance was neat but, due to spring-like temperatures, the skiing was not.

A FEBRUARY 10 birthdate also belongs to Susan Grashorn, 817 S. Walnut. Susan, like all Friday celebrants, appreciated the no-school edict in her honor and used the day to advantage, entertaining seven girl friends at a birthday luncheon and afternoon party in her home. Susan was 10.

Melanie Hall also used Friday for party purposes although her birthday was two days later and a national holiday to boot. She left the glory of February 12 to Mr. Lincoln and shared the fun of Friday with eight young friends at a luncheon party in her home, 226 N. Derbyshire. Melanie was 5 years old.

Among the guests last Tuesday afternoon at a dessert luncheon-card club session in the home of Mrs. Elmer Crane, 626 N. Belmont, was a former club member, Mrs. August Wenzel, now of Columbus, Ohio. A longtime Arlington Heights resident, Mrs. Wenzel has in recent years made her home with her daughter and family, the Marvin Pingels in Columbus.

She returns here at the holiday season each year for a long visit with her sister, Mrs. Christine Clark, 105 E. Davis, and for reunions with her many friends in the area. She tentatively plans to return to Ohio late this month.

Other guests in the Crane home last Tuesday were Mrs. Alma Ihle, Mrs. Emil Schubert, Mrs. Joseph Wichtner, Mrs. Albert Mors and Mrs. Harry Topping.

SEVERAL of the same ladies, members of a birthday club, were guests Monday afternoon at a dessert luncheon in the home of Mrs. Alma Ihle, 418 S. Evergreen, celebrating her February 13 birthday. The visiting Mrs. Wenzel again enjoyed being with her longtime friends and was joined in wishing the hostess a happy birthday by Mrs. Christine Clark, Mrs. Wichtner, Mrs. Topping, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Henry Schad and Mrs. William Lauterberg.

Mrs. Edwin Starbuck, 506 S. Evergreen, recently returned from Willow Grove, Pa. where she became a snowbound grandmother with a broken wrist. The broken wrist was caused, indirectly, by the unprecedented snow in the east and her trip to Willow Grove just before Christmas was caused by the then imminent arrival of her daughter's third child.

Early in December Mr. and Mrs. Starbuck left here for a 2-week vacation in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. When Mr. Starbuck returned home his wife went on to Willow Grove and the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Nofer, Bobby and Jane. January 11 a son, Paul George, was born to the Nofers.

February 5 Mrs. Starbuck left Willow Grove for an eastern airport and a flight home, one of many flights that have been cancelled in the east this winter because of the weather. At an airport motel where she outwaited the elements, Mrs. Starbuck slipped on some ice and arrived home to discover, via X-rays, that her arm hurt with good reason. Her double fractured wrist will be in a cast for several weeks.

MR. AND MRS. Clyde Eberhardt, 432 S. Waterman, returned Friday from a 10-day weather-perfect vacation in Las Vegas, Santa Monica and Mexico. Enroute the Santa Monica home of Mrs. Eberhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wood, the Eberhardts had one day in Las Vegas and a repeat stay there for two days on the return trip.

After the visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wood and before beginning the homeward route, they enjoyed two days, "south of the border, down Mexico-way." During their absence from home, the Eberhardts' daughter, Susan, stayed with Grandpa and Grandma Eberhardt in Mt. Prospect.

Wayne Schmidt celebrated his February 10 birthday Friday night at a family party in his parents' home, 1209 N. Dunton. Among the guests were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Havlik of Mt. Prospect.

MR. AND MRS. Elroy Wilk, 1214 E. Fremont, returned Saturday from a week in Tampa, Fla. They were accompanied by Mr. Wilk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Krause, and her grandparents, the Edward Krauses. During the Wilks' absence from home, their children invited Grandmother Wilk of Chicago to stay with them here, "so she wouldn't get lonesome."

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Plotner of Gowrie, Iowa, left here last Friday afternoon after an extended visit with their daughter and family, the Dale Hausers, 101 N. Forrest. They missed by a few hours, the chance to greet fellow Iowans, Des Moines friends of the Hausers, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hillman and Mark who arrived for a weekend visit Friday evening.

The Hillmans were en route to Des Moines after a Florida and Bahama Island vacation that was Mark's high school graduation gift.

Mrs. Doris Ostermick of Milwaukee returned to her home Sunday after a week's visit here with her son, Bruce, and his family, 126 N. Forrest.

MR. AND MRS. Harold Drew and Mr. and Mrs. James Evanger were hosts Saturday night at a farewell party in the Drew home, 420 N. Gibbons. Farewelled to a fare-thee-well by 16 neighborhood friends were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sauter who will soon leave their home at 1716 Frederick for a new one in Detroit.

A group gift of remembrance was presented the departing couple who will recall their local friends each time they use the dip dish or double chafing dish given them Saturday night.

Although local friends of former Arlington Heighters, the Richard Krals, were glad to see the family recently they were saddened to learn that the death of Mr. Kral's father in Chicago last week was the reason for their return. Mr. and Mrs. Kral and twin daughters, Kathy and Susan, were former N. Gibbons st. residents and moved 13 months ago to Tokyo where Mr. Kral is with Bell and Howell.

Kathy and Susan have stayed here with their grandmother, Mrs. Otto Kalous, 828 N. Walnut, while their parents have been with the senior Mrs. Kral in Chicago. Tentatively, Mr. Kral was planning to return to Japan today leaving his family here for further reunions with family members and local friends.

OF INTEREST to many young "oldtimers" in Arlington Heights is a letter recently received from former residents, the Don Costains, now of Huron, S. D. Costain was the high school music instructor here from 1930 to 1945 and he and his wife, active in school and civic organizations, were widely known in the area.

In a letter to Miss Lucile Paddock the Costains remark upon the lifelong friendships they formed during their 15 years here and they write, "Arlington Heights will always be home to us." Their son, Richard, received his bachelor of science degree from South Dakota State college last December and he is now working toward his master's degree, at the same time continuing his flying with the Air National Guard.

His brother, Bob, is in the bomb navigation section at Beale Air Force Base, Cal. Further news of his service duty will be appearing soon in the "With Uncle Sam" section of this paper.

MR. AND MRS. T. A. Coward, 410 N. Beverly, returned Saturday afternoon from a 2-week traveling vacation that took them to Seattle, down the coast to San Francisco and Monterey, then to Las Vegas, Phoenix and Tucson. In Seattle they visited Mr. Coward's brother, James, and his family and in nearby Bellingham they visited his parents, the P. A. Cowards.

During their parents' absence from home the Coward children entertained Grandmother Porter who just "happened" to come a-visiting from her home in Dearborn, Mich. when Mr. and Mrs. Coward left for the west.

Mrs. George Breust and daughters, Carole and Martha, recently returned home to 1206 E. Oakton from two weeks' of sun, sand and surf on South Padre Beach, an island in the Gulf of Mexico. The island is rich in buried-treasure-pirate lore and offers fascinating opportunities for exploration. Mrs. Breust and the girls also enjoyed a short visit in Old Mexico.

CELEBRATING their 53rd wedding anniversary last Friday, Feb. 10, were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tossman, 110 S. Dunton, who have lived in Arlington Heights for 50 years. Originally from Austria-Hungary, the Tossmans have three children, all of Arlington Heights, Paul Tossman, Mrs. Betty Meehan and Mrs. Helen Martini. They also have eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Jim Clabaugh and Bob Hutchinson will spend the weekend in Bloomington, where they will visit the Indiana university campus and attend the Indiana-Ohio State university basketball game. The boys, seniors at Arlington high school, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson, 1218 Woodford.

Because several members of his family were recovering from bouts with "flu," Steven Robinson celebrated his 11th birthday quietly at a family dinner party. Steven is the son of the Hugh Robinsons, 711 E. Fairview.

To mark her 10th birthday, Sherry Dunham, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Albert Dunham, 401 Bristol, and brother, Tom, attended her first stage play, a matinee performance of "Flower Drum Song."

Mrs. Harry L. Wickstrom, 527 S. Dryden, gave a valentine party Monday for 12 friends of her son, Paul, and daughter, Lorie.

Lt. Col. Walter Edelblute returned home to 209 S. Pine Friday after spending two weeks of active duty in the Pentagon. While in Washington D. C., he was the guest of Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. N. Adair of Arlington, Va.

MR. AND MRS. Swen Forsberg, 929 S. Beverly, and their children, joined Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giery and their son, Bob of Palatine, for a weekend at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Norman, 634 S. Dryden, had a pleasant but brief visit with their son, Stan, who arrived here Friday with his Grinnell swim team to participate in the Loyola-Grinnell swim meet at Loyola university. Stan left the following day for Milwaukee for a swim meet with the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Roy Baumann, 421 E. Orchard, spent eight days in Marion, Ala., where she attended the inauguration of her nephew, Dr. Conwell Anderson, who was chosen president of Judson college. Dr. Anderson was former dean of Mary Hardin Baylor college in Belton, Texas.

Mrs. Baumann was accompanied to Marion by her sister and brother-in-law, the Gust Carlsons of Sister Bay, Wis. and her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Carlson of Des Plaines and during their stay were the houseguests of Dr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Before returning to Arlington Heights, Mrs. Baumann spent several days visiting relatives in Mobile and Fairhope.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Russell of Ocean City, N. J., spent the weekend in Arlington Heights visiting his sister and family, the John B. Hermes, 717 Mayfair.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Shuart and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Ewing were hosts at a buffet supper Thursday in the Ewing home, 110 S. Stratford, for a large group of Community Concert patrons of the Stonegate area, before attending a performance of the Obernkirchen Children's choir at Arlington high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunlop, 115 Mayfair, gave their annual family dinner party Sunday to celebrate the birthdays of their children, Nancy, 10, Ricky, 8, Jimmy, 6, and Jeff, 4. All have February birthdays except Jeff, who will celebrate his own birthday again in July.

Guests include 20 Dunlop relatives from the Chicago area and Dixon, Ill.

MR. AND MRS. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor, were guests at a birthday dinner party Saturday in the LePavillion, given by L. Volz for his mother, Mrs. R. Volz.

Mrs. Z. Rogozinski and Mrs. Stephen Jurco gave a coffee Monday in the Jurco home for the benefit of the Northwest Family Service agency.

MRS. DEWEY Broberg of Park Ridge is spending a month here with her daughter and son-in-law, the Edward Ekstroms, 1106 E. Mayfair, while Mrs. Ekstrom is recuperating from recent surgery.

Weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winters, 315 S. Windsor, was Mrs. Christopher Lund of Skokie.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Now that Charlotte and Jim Ronayne, 1011 N. Kennicott, have seen "Exodus," they are anxious to read Leon Uris' book to compare notes. They had dinner at the London House before meeting friends from Wheaton at the theater.

A break in the weather brought out-of-town visitors to more than one family in Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Hans H. Koppke came down from Middleton, Wis. Friday for a visit with their daughter and her family, the John Hauris, 930 N. Harvard, and stayed until Sunday.

Jean and Len Garasha, 809 N. Harvard, had visitors from Wisconsin, too. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fellows, came down from Genoa City.

When the telephone rang at 932 N. Fernandez last Thursday, Dorothy and Gene Wells weren't prepared to hear their son, Robert, at the other end of the line. Robert had to fly to the Philippines to meet the ship to which he had been assigned and had just returned to San Diego.

Since Peggy has been at St. Joseph convent, Milwaukee, her parents, the John J. Lightners, 921 N. Harvard, have gone up to see her several times. This past weekend the girls at St. Joseph had prepared a clever skit for the parents and included a basketball game and singing on the program. The E. H. Mergeses, who also have a Peggy at the convent, were equally impressed with the program as was another couple that drove up with the Lightners and the Mergeses.

AMONG THE cocktail parties that preceded the Hundred Couples club dance at Sportsmen's country club last Saturday evening was one given by Espar and Ed Oja, 921 N. Patton. Around 36 couples sipped cocktails and enjoyed good conversation at the Ojas' before heading for the club, where they danced to the music of George Finelli and his orchestra.

Saturday was a full day for Helen and Dick Bulinski, 725 N. Kaspar, and their three children. They all attended the wedding of Dick's brother, Norbert St. John, to Mary De John in St. Cornelius church in Chicago, Larry being one of the ushers at his uncle's wedding. The reception afterward at the Belden Stratford hotel included a seated dinner and dancing.

Now that Mrs. C. J. Tews, 935 N. Kennicott looks back on her two weeks in Hollandale, Fla. with daughter, Joan, and son-in-law, Mike Arias, she laughingly admits she packed a great deal of sightseeing in that length of time. So that she could spend more time with Joan and Mike, she boarded a jet here and was in Florida two hours and 23 minutes later. It was her first jet flight and her first trip to Florida, but she is already planning on another trip in the spring. Mr. Tews will be able to join her for that one and they will drive. Her sister, Mrs. Katherine Serbin, went with her this time and is still in Miami visiting her daughter. Even Joan hadn't seen some of the places of interest she did when her mother was there. The Seminole Indian reservation stands out in Mrs. Tews' memory as an interesting tourist attraction, along with the breathtaking wrestling match between a man and an alligator. Another day was spent at the dog races and a visit to the fruit orchards and the shopping centers.

Ten rip roarin' cowboys arrived for chow at Ricky Sundquist's home Saturday to help him celebrate his seventh birthday. Chip Kunberger was there, as well as Billy Windhorst, Terrence Platt, Jim Anderson, David Hahn, Larry and Gary Scalzitti, Tommy Ungaro, Ricky Brandt and Craig Colgrove. They played games before heading for the basement, where a fire blazed in the fireplace just waiting to roast hot dogs. Ricky is the son of the Len Sundquists, 804 N. Fernandez.

IT WAS A BUSY weekend for the Baron Zoellicks, 912 N. Kaspar. Saturday there was a family party celebrating Patty's fifth birthday, February 8 and Peggy's third, February 15. There were 10 cousins to help eat the ice cream and cakes. Two sets of grandparents and aunts and uncles were also included. The same group was together only two weeks ago, when Russell was baptized in St. Peter Lutheran church. His sponsors, Arnold Schulmiester and Mrs. Annette Zoellick, joined the family for dinner after the service and the balance of the family came in the evening for cake and coffee.

Get well quick wishes are extended to Mrs. Arthur Kieck, 1015 N. Chicago ave., who is home recuperating from a recent operation in Northwest Community hospital.

Doris and Cas Nastal and their boys, 701 N. Kennicott, had a winter vacation last week. They took the boys out of school and drove to Detroit to visit Cas' sister and her family and then drove over to Williamston to see his brother and his family. It was while they were in Williamston that they took the day off and drove to the state capitol in Lansing. They timed their visit perfectly and arrived at the capitol when the House and Senate were in session and both Frankie and Joe found it very interesting.

The governor was out to lunch just long enough for them to get a peek at his office, too.

A giant crepe paper bootie at Julia Buehler's, 939 N. Fernandez, was filled with gifts for Barbara Rubenking's baby-to-be last Thursday night. Included on the baby shower list was Delores Klippert, Marge Raitt, Joanne Nelson, Lois Vesecky, Rosaleen Bensen, Florence Hannum, Pat Kunnen, Jean Vetter, Norma Robertson, Laverne Buechner, Debbie Parvin and Mary Barthel. Jean Dilley and LaVerne Lavers weren't able to come.

THE FOLLOWING evening Barbara and Glenn were in the audience when daughters, Marla and Marissa, were on the program given by Debbie Parvin's school of the dance for the Mr. and Mrs. club at the Presbyterian church. Other Ridge Park girls who were part of this vaudeville in miniature were Jill Astley, Marjorie Phillipp, Debbie Warejcka, Ann Van Duzer and Darlene Straitt.

Saturday evening Barbara and Glen attended a buffet supper in the home of the Harold Neals in Downers Grove. The supper was a means of raising funds for the new 4-H house at the University of Illinois.

The Westgate teachers had a treat in store for them last Friday when they met at the high school for Teacher's Institute day. They had lunch at the Harry Phillipp home, 644 N. Salem. Because it was Marjorie's sixth birthday that day, her mother also had a party planned for her in the afternoon. LeAnne Niell, Susan Inselberger, Kathy Bartik and Marjorie all played a few games at Marjorie's house before her mother took them out to dinner. Gay Hill missed the fun because she is ill with pneumonia and all her friends are still wishing her a speedy recovery. Patty Shumate would have been there, too, but she spent the weekend in Wisconsin with her family.

Get well wishes go to Danny Elenz, who had a tonsillectomy in Northwest Community hospital Tuesday morning This sixth grader at South junior high is the son of June and Ed Elenz, 1008 N. Ridge.

Because Mary Busse was too busy to catch her Saturday, the J. T. Garrisons, 716 N. Kaspar, invited Mary and her mother for breakfast to help celebrate Scott's fifth birthday. That evening the Garrisons had dinner with the Ted Guttenbergers, who were their former neighbors on Douglas, and celebrated again. This time Shirley got in on the celebration too—her birthday was last Sunday. Shirley's parents and the Busses joined them for dinner on Sunday.

FROM SHERWOOD

Doris Cornelius and Charlotte Auld attended a tea in the home of Mrs. Herbert Anderson in Park Ridge Tuesday. The tea was an annual benefit for Lake Bluff Children's home.

This past weekend Gayla and Don House, 1120 N. Harvard, took Nancy Criswell with them to St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis. as Rob's guest for the mid-winter weekend there. The Herbert Conners, 1117 W. Burgoyne, took Terry's guest, Dawn Wagner of Palatine, with them when they drove up for the weekend, which began at one Saturday when the girls were registered at one entire dorm (probably the only time in their lives they'll get to stay in a boys' dorm). When the boys moved out, it took the whole dorm to accommodate the girls.

Although old man winter changed their plans somewhat, the tea dance in the afternoon began what was to be a memorable weekend for everyone. Dinner that evening at the academy was in the big dining hall, but the excitement of the military ball won over the appetities of many of the girls. Even Gayla admits it was a thrill to see the arch of steel and the grand march. The following day they breakfasted before the boys took their dates to 10:30 chapel. Dinner was served before the weekend closed at 3:00 and the girls and their chaperones headed for home, taking the memory of a wonderful weekend with them.

Tag Costs

Arlington Heights trustees have directed the village attorney to amend a village ordinance to provide more realistic registration practices for demonstration vehicles owned by village automobile dealers.

In a letter to the board, seven auto dealers petitioned for reduced vehicle tax rates. They proposed the first vehicle tag cost $20 and each additional tag $2.50. The regular rate is $6.

Trustees approved the petition and directed attorney Stephen Jurco to prepare the ordinance amendment. Petitioning were Bill Cook Buick, Lattof Motor Sales, Roto Mercury, Mark Motors, Morton Pontiac, George C. Poole and Curtis Studebaker Suburban Motors.

Hasbrook Happenings

Mark Arneaux, Larry Peifer, Kenny Miller and Donna Botefuhr helped Scott Christianson of 1704 N. Walnut celebrate his fourth birthday.

Gary Grasch of 1831 N. Mitchell celebrated his third birthday at a party for Lynn Bullard, Larry and Donny Peiffer, Cathy Pasquale, Steve and Tom Ley and Larry Baker.

Janet Wood of 1624 Walnut gave a party for her second birthday. Helping her celebrate were Jimmie Sheahan and Debbie and Donna Miller.

The Jim Constantines of 1540 N. Ridge are being congratulated on James Jr., born January 30. The Constantines have a daughter, Jackie, 3.

The Croghan baby is now home from the hospital after undergoing his third operation. Friends and neighbors of the Croghans of Fernandez pl. are wishing the baby a speedy recovery.

A GOING AWAY party is being given for the Hardistys of 1611 Chestnut, who are being transferred to Peoria, by Jean Dunn of Wilmette, a former neighbor of the Hardistys. Present neighbors of the Hardistys were invited.

Audry Graham of 1809 Ridge and Pat O'Neill of 1729 Ridge took part in a Gilbert and Sullivan musical comedy skit for the entertainment of St. James Catholic Womens guild Thursday night and were most successful as "vice presidents."

The Martinskis of Midland, Mich. have returned home after a visit with the Bartkowiaks of 710 Maude. (A

The Promise of America

To every man his chance, to every man, regardless of his birth, his shining golden opportunity—to every man the right to live, to work, to be himself, and to become whatever thing his manhood and his vision can combine to make him—this, seeker, is the promise of America.

Thomas Wolfe

Voters Service Set for Election

With interest in local and township elections at an all-time high, the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights is planning the following public services:

(1) a Candidates' Fair giving all citizens the chance to meet personally and talk informally with the candidates;

(2) a non-partisan guide presenting background facts on candidates and their stands on issues, offered in cooperation with Paddock Publications; and

(3) a series of FM radio broadcasts surveying the elections, the offices, the issues, and the candidates.

THE LEAGUE'S three-way approach affords the opportunity to see, hear, and read about the candidates before making choices. Citizens will vote on Tuesday, April 5, for township, some county, and park offices, as well as participate in the annual town meeting at 8 p.m.

Elections for elementary school board, high school board, and township school trustee are on Saturday, April 8. Tuesday, April 18, is the date for village and library elections.

ALL CANDIDATES to fill the 31 offices open in these elections will be invited to attend the Candidates' Fair on Sunday, March 26, between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. at the Arlington high school girls' gym.

There will be no speeches. Instead, township residents may meet any or all of the candidates and personally speak with them. "Presenting Arlington Heights," a booklet prepared and published by the Arlington League, gives facts about local government, officials, and operations. Particularly timely is a Voters' Calendar. Inquiries should be made to Mrs. Richard McCarthy, CL 5-2957. (ACM

Legislative Emphasis Is On Economy and Finances

W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON
State Senator
4th Senatorial District

The imperative emphasis in the current session of the Legislature must be on ECONOMY.

It is clear that the Illinois taxpayer will pay more State taxes in 1961 for the operation only of present State programs.

Many additional millions of dollars are being requested of the State for multitudes of new programs. There is a false notion that additional millions of dollars are in limitless supply.

THE SOBER legislator recognizes that all spending programs can continue only with appropriate controls.

To this end I recently introduced a Senate Joint Resolution expressing the current concern of the general public and members of the General Assembly relative to the ever-increasing State budget, as well as the status of revenues of the State. Senator Philip Carey joined me in co-sponsoring this Resolution.

The resolution proposes the immediate creation of a Joint Legislative Committee, consisting of members of both the House and Senate.

SUCH COMMITTEE is to have the following purposes:

(1) To examine the various departments, agencies and commissions of Illinois government for opportunities to elminate any duplication and waste;

(2) To point out the causes of skyrocketing increases in expenditures of the major State programs, such as schools, welfare, public aid and road building;

(3) To analyze present tax programs with the view of increasing the revenue therefrom by strengthening the collections through the use of improved auditing and accounting practices;

(4) To recommend the curtailment of spending proposals which are not practical and for which revenue has not been provided.

IN OTHER words, the Resolution is designed to put the emphasis on whether we can afford any proposal, no matter how meritorious it may be.

The Committee would be required to make its findings and recommendations known to the Appropriations and other standing Committees of the Senate and House, and to make its findings known to the General Assembly on or before May 1, 1961.

A LARGE number of civic, business and taxpayers' groups are strongly supporting the Resolution. They have each promised that if the Resolution is passed, the full facilities of their organizations will be made available to the Joint Committee.

As one organization has recently stated: "The accelerated economic growth of the State cannot be achieved without cost, as there is no magic carpet, no free ride. But expansion of government spending, in itself, never brings growth. Implementing policies known to be for the best, do promote economic expansion without fail." (ACM

Reviewer Is Slated for Adult Class

STUART BRENT

Chicagoland's "Man About Books," Stuart Brent, will review Greene's "The Burnt Out Case" Monday night, February 20, as part of high school district 214's evening adult education program.

Brent, well known book store owner, author, literary critic, and thought by many to be a leading authority on modern literature, will speak in Arlington high school's Little Theatre at 8 p.m.

THE BOOK concerns an engineer who deserted civilization for the far reaches of Africa, only to build a hospital and find that he couldn't escape life after all.

The philosophic novel should be right down Brent's line, night school director Thomas Shirley feels. Tickets for the review will be sold at the door. Single admission is $1.25. (ACM

Church Women Plan World Prayer Day

Our Saviour Lutheran church, 1234 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, will be host church for the United Church Women of the Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Village area, Friday, Feb. 17, at 1:30 p.m. as they participate in the 75th annual observance of World Day of Prayer.

Dr. Walter Leibrecht, director of the Ecumenical institute, Evanston, will be the speaker.

Dr. Leibrecht studied at Zurich and Heidelberg universities, and in 1953 received a doctor's degree from the University of Heidelberg. From 1953-1955 he was minister to students at Columbia and New York universities.

At the same time he was an associate in the department of religion at Columbia. From 1955-1958 he was a professor in theology at Harvard Divinity school, and in July, 1958, he assumed his present position.

IT WAS IN 1887 that a consecrated woman in the United States first dreamed of a Day of Prayer for missions — a whole day to be set aside for the women of the nation to come together to pray for the missionary work of the church.

This vision spread to Canada in 1920, and on to Europe and the United Kingdom, then Latin America, Asia, Africa, and to the islands of the sea.

Today in 1961, the same service is being used in 145 countries, translated into countless languages and drawing together a multitude of Christians who are all singing the same songs and using the same theme, "Forward Through the Ages."

Area chairman for the event is Mrs. Albert J. Roggenbuck, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Ratchek, co-chairman. Mrs. William Coffman of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Lloyd Cederberg of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church will be the soloists, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Petersen of Our Saviour's, organist. Greg Inman of N. Douglas participated in the first swim meet to be held at the new Northwest Suburban YMCA a week ago Saturday. Greg, who formerly swam with the Chicago Swim club, was in the group that won the free style relays.

Another neighborhood swimming star is 11-year-old Barbara Raasch who took third place in the 11-12-year old 50-yd. breast stroke in the Central AAU Girl's Championship Indoors, Saturday, at Hinsdale Township high school. Barbara also placed fifth in the medley relays. She swims for the Portage Park Swim club.

THE FACT that February is the month of birthdays is borne out by this month's celebrants. Phyllis and Bob Hoese, Bill Inman, Les Moodie, Joe Babs and Dick Bronwell, all from the same block on N. Douglas ave., will be honored for their February birthdays at supper Sunday night in the Bronwell home. The day of the party, the 19th, is actually Mr. Bronwell's birthdate.

There's been a lonesome feeling in the Babs' household this past week. Daughter Judy and her new son, Francis Gerard Bichl III, who have been staying here since Christmas day, have returned to their own home in Evanston, but did come back to spend the weekend here.

Although the snow was melting locally over the weekend, there was considerable at the Warren Dunes State Park in Michigan, and that made for a wonderful three days of tobogganing for Phillip Neas and Dennis Ellertson. The boys were part of a group that spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday in a cabin at the dunes. Besides tobogganing the boys had a fascinating time exploring along the shores of the ice bound lake.

TOURNAMENT bridge occupied the leisure time of many of our neighbors over the weekend. Friday night the Ben Yunkers were hosts to Marcia and Dick Koczakiewicz, Betty and Matt Cockrell and June and Bruce McBride.

Museum Is Toured By Fifth Graders

Among recent visitors at the Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale, were fifth graders from Westgate school in Arlington Heights, accompanied by their teacher, Joseph Nynaber.

They heard talks on the various exhibits by a member of the museum educational staff, with special emphasis on the brain and the senses, after which they saw "Gateways to the Mind," a motion picture on the body senses from the museum film library.

THE ARLINGTON Heights class was among some 177 groups which have visited the popular museum during the three-month period ending February 10. Grand total attendance at the museum, which opened in May, 1958, now stands above 160,000, including thousands of school children on organized science field trips.

The Health Museum is open every day in the year with the exception of national holidays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free, and special lecture tours for groups may be arranged in advance by writing the museum, Hinsdale, or calling Faculty 5-1900. (A

Weller Creek Drainage Crisis

Water-Logged Residents Up in Arms

Appointments Prompt Charge

by DICK HOFFMANN

Frustrated Forest View residents south of Arlington Heights—sure of death, taxes and an annual flooding—have had their hackles raised over the appointment of three commissioners to the Weller Creek drainage district.

The appointments were politically inspired, they charge. "We want a commissioner who has water in his backyard," says Mrs. Helen Homer, 139 Golf terr., Elk Grove township, who serves as secretary of the Forest View Citizens' committee.

The committee complains that not only do the three new commissioners live outside the Weller Creek drainage district since it was detached from Mt. Prospect, but that two of the commissioners are Democratic precinct captains.

AND THEY ARE yelling "foul" over the Cook County court taking action on a petition filed in these commissioners' names even though they claim they filed a petition earlier asking that three residents of the drainage area be appointed to these posts.

Troubled over reports that the proposed widening of Arlington Heights State rd. from Higgins to Central rds. will eventually mean steep assessments to pay for more drainage facilities, the citizens' group feels it is not being properly represented.

One cannot help but hear that distant echo from the past of "No taxation without representation." Unlike the Boston tea party goers, however, the Forest View residents have been addressing their complaints over flooding to everyone from the county superintendent of highways to the U.S. district attorney.

The issue which currently has residents smarting is the question of which petition the county court acted upon first. Harvey Klehm, 100 E. Golf rd., chairman of the group, said that a petition requesting that three citizens of the area be appointed commissioners to the drainage district was filed with the court on May 27, 1960.

KLEHM SAID that the court appointed the Mt. Prospect commissioners August 27, and that they were sworn in October 17. The petition filed by the Forest View group, however, was not stamped as being received by the court until November 2, he asserted.

Frederick Thulin, Jr., one of the three commissioners appointed, however, disputed the contention that Mt. Prospect is no longer in the Weller Creek drainage district.

Thulin, of 4. S. Owen st., Mt. Prospect, said the meaning of the detachment order "is not clear." He said that he understood the order meant that certain rights were ceded to the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

He also said acting County Judge John Marshall Karnes (who was appointed to serve after Otto Kerner resigned) had wanted to appoint a professional engineer and doctor to the drainage district commission.

"I'M ALSO licensed as a professional engineer, and Dr. (Werner F.) Cryns has a master's degree in public health," Thulin stated. Cryns, a pediatrician, lives at 111 W. Prospect, and the third commissioner, George Schack, 611 S. Elmhurst rd., is the "interested party," Thulin said .

Asked about a report in a newspaper in which Otto Maleske, Democratic committeeman for Elk Grove township, announced their appointments, Thulin said: "Otto did say a few nice words about us, I remember, just as members of the regular organization.

"I don't know if you'd call it coincidence; but it's not in the nature of a political appointment. Karnes is a Democrat, and as a general rule Democratic judges appoint Democrats."

Thulin said the goals of the commissioners were to "get the ditch covered and to turn it over to the Metropolitan Sanitary District."

THERE IS some question, though, if the sanitary district would accept responsibility for the Weller Creek drainage district. The district presently has a bonded indebtedness of $80,000 to $90,000, according to Fred Wille, 26 W. Busse, Mt. Prospect, who has been treasurer for the district since 1951.

To further stir the muddy waters of confusion swirling around the drainage district problem, Wille confided that he doesn't know yet if he is still treasurer.

"That's a hard question to answer. I still have the financial records, but I haven't heard from the commissioners," Wille said. He said his treasurer's bond expired November 30, 1960. Wille, who had received a salary of $100 a month for keeping the district's records, said, "I have not been paid in two-and-one-half years now. I'm going to hold onto the records until I'm paid.

PART OF the Weller Creek drainage district's problem is that it is a farm drainage system which hasn't been able to absorb the shock of rapid growth. Once a system threading through nothing but farm land, it has since become a problem as complicated as the Gordian Knot.

The district (if Mt. Prospect can be considered detached) embraces an area running approximately from Central rd. on the north to Algonquin rd. on the south, from Busse rd. on the east to some point west of Arlington Heights State rd. on the west.

Weller creek, a tributary of the Des Plaines River, drains an area of about 17 square miles. According to a report prepared by the State Division of Waterways, "Further flood damage is inevitable if existing stream conditions are not corrected, and each runoff is greater and more damaging than the previous."

The state report advocated an "interim design plan" which would feature a dual channel near the river, excavations, approach structures, removal of some bridges and building of others to provide adequate drainage. The estimated cost: $1,577,000.

FOLLOWING issuance of the report, the village of Mt. Prospect dispatched a letter to the Division of Waterways urging that Weller Creek—or at least that part of it which runs through the built-up area of the village—be completely enclosed.

The ditch which runs through the village has been labeled a "health and safety" hazard by the East Westbrook Parents' Safety committee, a group of concerned parents fearful of the consequences of having the creek so close to the Westbrook grade school in Wego Park, Mt. Prospect.

According to reports of Mt. Prospect officials, the village in 1949 chose to join the Metropolitan Sanitary District rather than bear the awe-inspiring costs of building a sewage disposal plant.

The sanitary district in 1951 and 1952 installed two huge interceptor sewers along Weller Creek and in the Feehanville area of Mt. Prospect, the other "farm" drainage system which had previously served the community.

WHILE THESE interceptors solved the village's sanitary sewage disposal problem, it apparently did nothing to ease the drainage in the old districts.

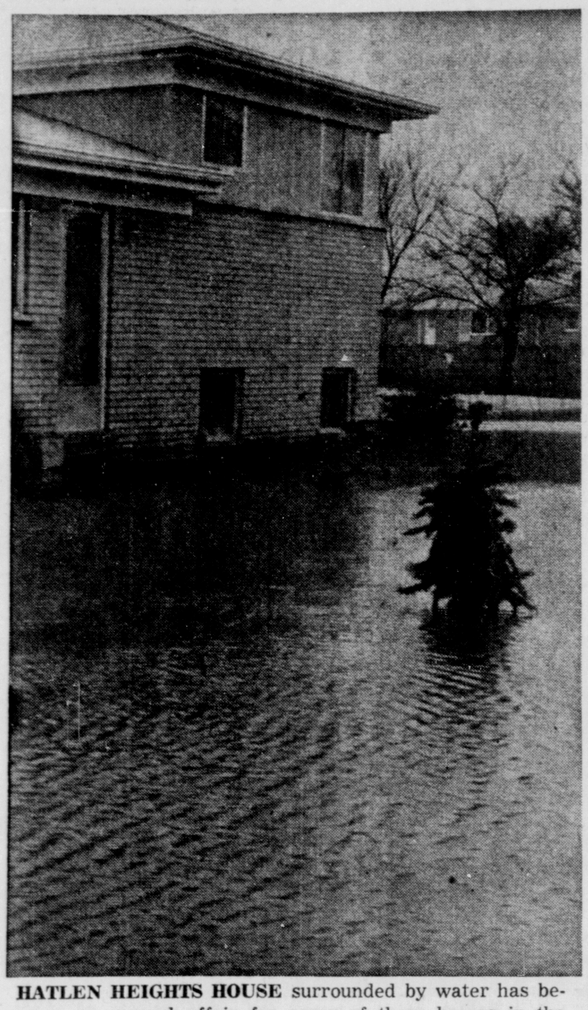
Attorney Richard E. Dowdle, 156 Wildwood pl., Elk Grove Village, another member of the regular Democratic organization of Elk Grove township, who was appointed attorney for the Weller Creek district by the County court, said the district hasn't assessed taxes since 1957. He said he wants to familiarize himself with records which the former attorney for the drainage district, Aribert Wild of Palatine, has promised him before pressing for action.

Commissioner Thulin says Dowdle is to ask the County court for a ruling on the question of the treasurer's status.

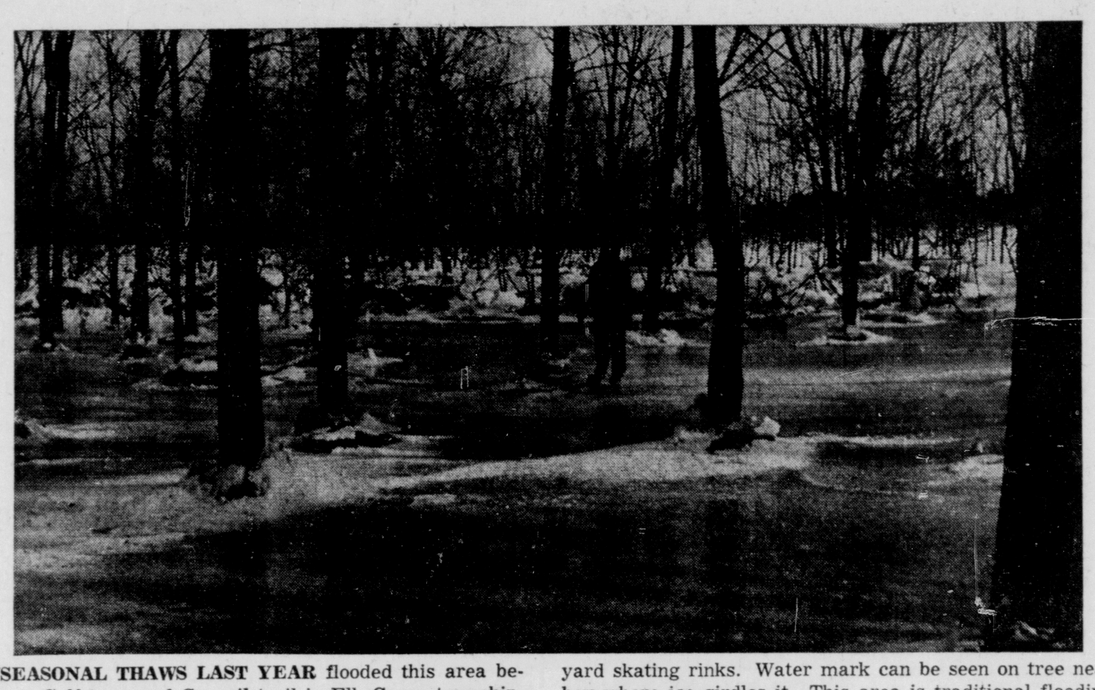
George Coticchio, attorney for the Hatlen Heights Civic association, which has been meeting with the Forest View Citizens' committee, said the detachment order which divorced the drainage district from Mt. Prospect is dated April 17, 1957. He says the order (General No. 57, County 896) states: "All the detached area will become the property of Mt. Prospect. The village will be charged with the duty of keeping such property in repair." (Approximately 10 to 15 per cent of the 330 homes in the Hatlen Heights subdivision are affected by flooding problems, he estimates.)

Klehm, while an incumbent Republican justice of the peace in Elk Grove township, feels that politics has no place in solving the problem. He produced photographs and records of the citizens' committee of flooding going back to 1942 to show the efforts the group has exerted to reach a solution.

"I don't think the commissioners actually knew what the Weller Creek drainage district was. I think they're only concerned with the creek proper (that flows through Mt. Prospect)." This being the case, Klehm feels the residents of the drainage district must have representation if the problem of keeping water out of their basements is to ever be solved.



HATLEN HEIGHTS HOUSE surrounded by water has become an annual affair for some of these homes in the Weller Creek drainage district. One home in Hatlen Heights and another in the subdivision of Colonial Heights were constructed directly over tile lines.



UNSEASONAL THAWS LAST YEAR flooded this area beteween Golf terr. and Council trail in Elk Grove township, with the return of cold weather providing backyard skating rinks. Water mark can be seen on tree near boy where ice girdles it. This area is traditional flooding ground for Weller Creek drainage district.

Works on Exhibit

Area Students Win Top Art Competition

Arlington and Prospect high school students dominated the recent 1961 Scholastics Regional Art Exhibition and competition conducted at Wieboldts' department store in Evanston.

District 214 artists captured 38 gold key awards out of the 150 given and a total of 125 awards out of the 700 offered.

Some 55 suburban high schools competed in the exhibition which included all of northeastern Illinois with the exception of the Chicago schools.

EVEN MORE amazing than the gold key and place awards was the fact that of the five "Hallmark Award" selections, which represent the best of the 2600 pieces submitted, two were works by an Arlington high student, Don Nichols, and a third was an entry of Ed Flood, Prospect high student.

Nichols, already a successful amateur artist, covered himself with more honors when he was awarded 11 gold keys and six place awards. Another Arlington artist, Dick Wetzel, captured three gold key awards.

Wetzel and Nichols had their portfolios accepted for the national scholastic scholarship competition in New York next month.

JULIE STRATHEARN, Arlington high, received three gold key awards and one place award. Other gold key winners among the Arlington entrants were Kathy Wessling, Sherrie Summers, Diane Fill, and Jill Dedering.

Place award winners from Arlington were Nancy Ristow, Suzy Bowdle, Warren Wahl, Dee Dornan, Keith Kasen, Myna Cordaro, Judy Whipple, Mike Gould, 3; Herb Greksa, Don Schanmeir, Ron Petersen, Judy Roeske, Jan Crawford, 3; Mike O'Connell, Roger Poznan, 2; Mary Hess.

Sue Milliken, Andy Poklaske, John Cangelosi, Kathy Ryan, Jane Rutledge, Barbara Swanson, 3; and Joe Wertheimer, 3.

According to Arlington's art department chairman, Ed Fischer, the 700 winning works will remain on display at Wieboldts for about three weeks. Judging was finished Sunday, with instructors from Chicago's Art Instttute and Barat College making the selections. (ACM

Presbyterian Men to Hear Time-Lapse Photographer

John Ott, time-lapse photographer, will speak before the Presbyterian men's dinner meeting at 6:45 p.m., February 20 in Fellowship hall at the First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights. He will show his motion pictures of the strange speeded-up time-lapse world and explore the secrets of growing things.

Ott's motion pictures revealing such wonders as the actual unfolding of flowers or the formation of an apple have enthralled millions through Walt Disney's nature films and his own TV program, "How Does Your Garden Grow."

UNKOWN to TV and movie fans, he has been putting time-lapse photography to work as a serious tool of scientific research. Cooperating with universities and pharmaceutical laboratories, he has been training his cameras on the amoebae which cause amoebic dysentery, on ragweed pollen and on cancer cells. He is advancing new theories concerning life processes which are winning the attention of medical scientists.

At his new laboratories in Lake Bluff, Ott has installed special equipment to photograph microscopic life. He focuses high intensity light through slides. His timers, with speeds of one-five-thousands of an inch an hour, can be set to expose as often as every 10 seconds or as seldom as every hour and a half.

Most significant of the findings of the time-lapse cameras are the response of plants and animals to natural and artificial light. (AK

Suburban Men Prefer Out-of-Town Brides

Complete Survey Of Area Marriage

by JOHN DREXLER

Do the gentlemen in the northwest suburbs perfer girls from their home town when it comes to marriage?

Limiting this only to marriage licenses issued last month, the answer is they do not.

But then — a special survey by Paddock Publications revealed — the women looked to other towns, too, for their partner in life.

This was true in Palatine, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, and Streamwood.

In Arlington Heights, half of the 14 bridegrooms-to-be chose mates from their home town. But six other Arlington Heights women marched men from other towns up to the marriage license counter last month.

IN WHEELING, the home town preference ratio was 50-50. In the case of one couple, both the man and the woman were from Wheeling. In another, the girl was from Wheeling but her beau was from another town, west suburban Riverside.

In Prospect Heights, neither the men nor the women escorted some one from the home town when they obtained a marriage license at the office of County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.

All four of the Prospect Heights brides-to-be made the trip with men from Chicago.

And the two men from this unincorporated town taking out licenses to wed last month did so with women from Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights at their arm.

SIX PALATINE men — but only one with a sweetheart from Palatine — also climaxed the courtship with a wedding license.

Palatine women returned this in kind. Six took ou licenses to wed, but only one selected a man from Palatine. The others chose men from Woodstock, Lake Zurich, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, and Chicago.

The fiancees of the other Palatine men included two from Chicago and one each from Roselle, Elmwood Park, and Des Plaines.

What happened in Palatine also occurred in Mount Prospect.

Five men and five women from Mount Prospect obtained marriage licenses, but only in the case of one of the couples were both partners from Mount Prospect.

THE OTHER Mount Prospect men gave wedding rings to women from Evanston, Hinsdale, Des Plaines, and Chicago. The other Mount Prospect women got their wedding bands from men from Oak Lawn, Roselle, Prospect Heights, and Arlington Heights.

In only one instance last month did some one from the northwest suburbs select a mate from out of state. An Arlington Heights woman signed the marriage license register with her beloved from Great Neck, N. Y.

The other Arlington Heights women who didn't favor the home town men selected their husbands from Highland Park, Aurora, Des Plaines, Prospect Heights, and Chicago.

Two women from Chicago, two from Des Plaines, and one each from Palatine, Mount Prospect, and south suburban Crete got the other Arlington Heights men who obtained marriage licenses last month.

A Rolling Meadows man and his sweetheart from Chicago took out a marriage license, and a Rolling Meadows woman did so with her beau from Evanston.

Two Elk Grove women selected men from other suburbs, from Cicero and Franklin Park.

Northwest Suburbs Lead Way in Growth

During the 1950's the eight counties of the Northeastern Illinois and Northwestern Indiana metropolitan areas added 1,208,365 people for the largest 10-year population gain in the history of the Chicago region, a report on the final 1960 census shows. The increase was greater than the combined populations of Boston and Denver.

The new tabulation was prepared by the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (NIMAPC) as the first in a series of Planning Information Bulletins which will provide communities and citizens with data essential to planning.

Over-all totals in the new report showed a 1960 population of 6,794,461 in the bi-state, eight-county area, for a gain of 21.6 per cent over 1950. For the six counties of Northeastern Illinois alone, the 1960 total was 6,220,913—a gain of 1,043,045, or 20.1 per cent.

SUBURBAN population in Northeastern Illinois actually showed an increase of 1,112,603 (more than 70 per cent), but this was offset by a loss in Chicago.

Other factual highlights derived from the data in "Population Growth, 1950-1960" are:

—Sub-areas of heaviest growth were North Cook county, South Cook county and DuPage county, each of which more than doubled in population. Ten-year percentages of increase for the three sections were North Cook, 120 per cent; South Cook, 109 per cent, and DuPage, 103 per cent.

—OF THE municipalities listed, 14 were non-existent in 1950, and two of these (Portage, Ind., and Rolling Meadows, Ill.) had more than 10,000 inhabitants apiece in 1960.

—In numbers, Skokie's sensational increase of nearly 45,000 was the largest, closely followed by that of Gary, which added 44,000.

—Among townships, Niles, in Cook County, showed the greatest numerical increase, adding more than 70,000 people during the decade. In percentages, the 880.3 per cent gain showed by Cook County's Schaumburg Township was the largest.

—Chicago's final population was 3,550,505, representing a decline of 1.9 per cent over the decade. Its 1960 share of the eight-county total was 52.3 per cent, as against 64.8 per cent in 1950.

—CHICAGO WAS still, in 1960, the second most populous city in the nation. Based on preliminary data elsewhere, the Chicago-Northwestern Indiana region kept its ranking as the second most populous metropolitan complex in the nation. (A-14

Q. Should the napkin be used for removing some particle of food from the mouth, such as a bone or inedible portion of meat?

A. Never. This is done with the fingers and then, of course, the napkin is used for wiping those fingers.

These Cocktail Appetizers Take Wits Instead of Time

Something GOOD is cooking

BETTER MEALS BUILD BETTER FAMILIES

Paddock Publications
FOOD PAGES

A hostess always hopes she can come up with at least one new and different appetizer for cocktails or before a company dinner. But there is never enough time to do all the things one wants to do when planning a party, especially a big party.

Quick and easy appetizers that are colorful and have just enough of a new flavor twist to be different will make as much of a hit as more elaborate ones. Here are a few suggestions.

SET OUT a variety of exotic-type foods and seasonings. These may include such seasonings as curry powder or cumin, or foods like avocado, artichokes, crabmeat or caviar. Put these together in unusual combinations, use a fragrant Spanish olive oil to blend seasonings together, either set out ingredients so that guests may make their own canapes or slap things together yourself at the last moment.

Pureed mixtures can be prepared long in advance and left to season, well-covered, in the refrigerator. Shrimp, crabmeat and lobster mixtures usually improve when made up in advance, too. Other appetizers are best when put together at the moment of serving.

Spanish Crabmeat Pate

Use a 6-ounce can of crabmeat; carefully remove every bit of gristle. Saute ¼ cup shelled chopped almonds in a little Spanish olive oil until browned; drain, cool, then chop fine. Combine crabmeat, nuts, 2 tablespoons finely-minced parsley and ¼ teaspoon salt; place in electric blender and set in motion at low speed, slowly add 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil and 1 tablespoon dry sherry; beat until smooth. Or beat mixture with fork until well-blended.

Serve in tiny patty shells, purchased in cracker department of market, or on toast rounds, or in bowl for guests to make their own canapes.

Guacamole

This flavorful Mexican appetizer can be served as a dip with corn snacks or as a pate topped with shrimp. Puree 2 ripe peeled avocados, blend with two tablespoons Spanish olive oil, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt (or to taste), ½ teaspoon chili powder and ½ crushed garlic clove. Serve from bowl with corn snacks; or at serving time, spread as needed on crackers with a shrimp on each.

Zesty Spanish Shrimp

Saute 1 pound shelled deveined "green" shrimp in Spanish olive oil until bright pink; add 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon marjoram, 1 teaspoon paprika ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper. Cook a few seconds longer, drain shrimp on absorbent paper. Good hot or cold.

Spicy Almonds

Blanche shelled almonds with boiling water; rub off skins, cool, then saute in Spanish olive oil until golden; drain on absorbent paper, sprinkle generously with salt, powdered cumin, powdered ginger or curry powder.

Stuffed Mushroom caps

Use fresh white raw mushroom crowns; fill with mixture of hard-boiled egg yolks blended with salt, pepper, minced parsley and Spanish olive oil—all to taste. Beat until smooth. Pile lightly in mushroom caps, top each with a sprig of parsley. (If you object to the flavor of raw mushrooms, marinate in well-seasoned olive oil overnight; they no longer taste raw).

Caviar and Egg Canape

Place slice of hard-boiled egg on each round cracker, brush with Spanish olive oil, sprinkle with salt; top with a little black caviar or lumpfish caviar; sprinkle caviar with lemon juice and olive oil. Serve at once.

Artichoke Appetizer

Cook fresh artichokes in salted water, to which ¼ cup Spanish olive oil has been added, until tender; add 1 teaspoon lemon juice during last 5 or 10 minutes; drain upside down. Serve on platter with bowl of well-seasoned French dressing—guests can pull out leaves one by one, dip in dressing and munch leaves, discard on platter. (If fresh artichokes are not available, cook frozen artichokes in Spanish olive oil—use no water at all. When tender, sprinkle with lemon juice and salt. Serve in this dressing as an hors d'oeuvre, sprinkled with garnish of minced parsley, minced stuffed olives and minced pistachio nuts or almonds).

Smoked Salmon

Cut salmon in bite-size pieces, marinate in olive oil with sprinkling of lemon juice. Serve on crackers accompanied by black olives, preferably the olives soaked in brine known as "Greek olives." (SH

Spanish Vegetable Platter Marinates In Oil, Vinegar

Now is the season of frequent entertaining, both formal and informal, and many a buffet supper will be staged in the coming months. The perfect buffet menu, of course, is one that's prepared in advance and can be kept waiting for hours without wilting or drying up.

Casserole dishes have an enduring popularity because they fulfill both these demands. However, instead of the usual tossed salad, which usually looks and tastes quite sad after an hour of standing, a "cooked salad" of Spanish-Mexican inspiration waits better and is a far more substantial offering.

FOR AN attractive platter, select vegetables which will be a contrast in color and texture; cook until just tender but still a little crisp, and marinate each separately in a blend of Spanish olive oil, vinegar and condiments.

These can all be prepared a day ahead; they do not have to be kept in refrigeration and extra space is needed for a chilled dessert or hors d'oeuvres, remove vegetables from refrigerator several hours ahead, arrange attractively and cover with waxed paper or pliofilm.

THE VEGETABLES have more flavor, actually, if not too cold. Room temperature is just about right. A sprinkling of chopped pimento-stuffed olives, parsley and capers as garnish over the top of the vegetables adds both color and flavor. Additional dressing can be served on the side.

To go with a casserole of macaroni, ham and cheese, the vegetable might be artichoke hearts, carrots, limas and tiny canned beets. If the casserole is a rice dish such as Jambalaya or Arroz con Pollo (chicken with rice), vegetables on the platter might be string beans, zucchini squash, broccoli, and wedges of raw tomato.

FOR BEEF or chicken pie, cold potatoes, peas, cauliflower and carrots might be chosen. The vegetables in other words, will complement the casserole.

Besides the casserole dish and vegetable platter, to complete the buffet supper menu you need only bread or rolls of some sort, dessert and coffee. If hors d'oeuvres are to precede the casserole course, these might be easily-prepared pates or dips, tiny boiled shrimp served with mayonnaise, rolled anchovies on egg slices.

AN EXAMPLE of a Spanish "cooked salad" is given here, but any vegetables may be substituted for those suggested.

SPANISH VEGETABLE PLATTER

3 medium potatoes, peeled and cooked
1 cup string beans, cooked
3 carrots, cooked, cubed
1 package frozen artichoke hearts, cooked
1 or 2 zucchini squash, cooked
½ cup Spanish olive oil
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon salt (or to taste)
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon capers

All vegetables should be cooked until tender but still crisp. Drain, cool. Combine olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and grated onion; divide dressing among vegetables, marinating each vegetable separately.

Shortly before dinner is to be served, arrange vegetables on platter as shown, garnishing with parsley sprigs or curly chicory. Combine chopped olives, parsley and capers and sprinkle over top. Serves 8 to 10. (SH

Week's Best food buys

Food supplies, value opportunities and widely ranging retail prices continue virtually unchanged this week in meats, poultry, produce and groceries.

Reduced livestock receipts fail to spark general sluggish trade. The Lenten season adds its tendency to depress movement, and movement is the key at the moment to any basic price adjustment.

With the forthcoming emphasis on fish, it is noted that weather has been rough on commercial fishing, too.

Fresh supplies are scarce and prices relatively high to form an opinion that no real bargains abound in this segment.

GROCERIES showed signs of the general slackening, with the wholesale index declining a full point from two weeks ago, to 4.3 below year-ago.

The weekly University of Illinois consumer service food markets survey for the week ending February 18 sums it up this way: No basic change in beef, lamb and veal costs. Pork is a limited value in some stores. Fryers quote higher at wholesale, mostly steady at retail. Inventory clearance price tags show again on a continuing slack turkey market. Buyer resistance stalls advancing wholesale egg prices at retail.

Fresh produce is ample in supply and vegetable variety improves at firm prices. A harbinger of spring: Fresh asparagus appears on the Chicago scene. (Chicago wholesale $10 to $15 a crate, New York wholesale to $38 a crate.)

THE U. OF I. consensus bargain buy list is about the same as week-ago: Meats—rump and sirloin tip roasts, beef steaks, ground beef, lamb leg roasts, pork picnics, smoked Boston butts; poultry — turkeys, stewing hens, large eggs; produce — bananas, grapefruit, oranges, tomatoes, lettuce, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, peppers, radishes, salad greens; Groceries — values in a wide range of staples, canned and frozen fish emphasized.

Consumers can expect to find most retail tags unchanged from last week. What significant pricing action was found, occurred at wholesale, and in the case of livestock, at live markets.

Poultry — Fryers advanced 1¼c at wholesale, but retail held a mostly 39c for whole birds, and showed a new 43c for cut-up parts. Stewing hens steady at all levels, with 35-45c continuing at retail. Turkeys are still adjusting, or trying to, in a rough market situation. On large carry over supplies, toms and Beltsville show 39c as a good value price, while hens range upward to 45-49c. Eggs advanced 1½c at wholesale but confronted with lagging demand, retails hold at 55-65c.

Pork — No basic change at retail. Wholesale was 3c higher on loins, 2½c higher on butts and ½c higher on ribs. Live markets were uneven, steady to lower except on heavier weights. Buyer resistance to higher prices was evident on limited supplies, aided by slow eastern demand.

Beef — Steadiness at retail made it difficult to clear loins, ribs, rounds and chucks at wholesale — and for the first time in the memory of many, cost quotes were static on all primal cuts. The situation was not helped by the live market, either, which saw small receipts, a continuing decline in prime steers, steady to lower on other grades, and a weather-reduced eastern buying situation.

Lamb — The only class to quote ½c higher on small live receipts, and a full penny higher on active wholesale trade, only to be met by dull steadiness at retail.

Veal — Steady but high prices prevail at all levels against generally scarce supplies. (SH

In 'Easy' American Style French Seafood Normandy

All the goodness of the sea is in this French recipe for Seafood Normandy, easy to follow, made of ingredients easy to find in your supermarket. Flaky fish fillets, rosy shrimp and tender mushrooms—what could be more appetizing?

The fish may be sole, cod, haddock, ocean perch or any other white-meated fillets which your grocer carries. Shrimp for garnish may be bought frozen in the shell, or already peeled and deveined. In any case, it's best to start with uncooked shrimp.

SEAFOOD NORMANDY

1 package frozen fish fillets (cod, haddock, sole or ocean perch)
1 lb. shrimp fresh or frozen, or 8 oz. peeled and deveined shrimp
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
2 egg yolks
½ cup light cream
1 small can sliced mushrooms, heated and drained
Buttered toast triangles

Let fillets thaw on refrigerator shelf, or at room temperature. Cook shrimp three to five minutes in boiling salted water (one teaspoon salt to one quart of water) or water to which pickling spices have been added.

Drain shrimp but save one cup of the cooking liquid. Melt one tablespoon butter in a large frying pan and arrange fillets in pan. Add reseve cooking liquid and bring to boil.

REDUCE HEAT so that liquid just simmers; cook slowly, covered, about 10 minutes, or until the fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Arrange fish in center of hot platter and place shrimp around fish.

Keep hot while you cream together soft butter and flour and stir into liquid in pan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks and cream together with a fork and stir into cream sauce.

Bring sauce back to simmer point, but do not let boil. Pour over fish. Garnish with mushrooms and buttered toast triangles. Makes 6 servings.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

If anyone asked you if you would serve your children a fermented beverage, you'd most likely be shocked at even hearing the question. Nine chances out of ten, however, you're giving your children something to drink that depends upon fermentation for its flavor.

No, this isn't an attempt to shock you with a daring expose. I'm just pointing out to you that the process of fermentation is important in the preparation of many of our foods. Cocoa and chocolate are fermented to improve their flavor prior to being roasted and ground.

Black tea is also fermented before it is rolled and dried, and how in the world would bread taste without the addition of that valuable fermenting agent, yeast?

Pizza Casserole, Raspberry Fluff Pie Make Tasty Meal

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER

The popularity of pizza prompted Mrs. Owen F. Oliveson of 1105 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, to choose a Pizza Casserole recipe to share with homemakers today.

"We Americans have found pizza so appealing, that I think other families might enjoy this casserole as much as my husband and I do," she said. "It has a definite pizza flavor."

This savory dish combines two old favorites, macaroni and cheese, with a nippy sausage topping. Italian sausage, the same type used for pizza, is used in the sauce, along with green pepper and onion. This is spooned over layers of Macaroni and cheese which are assembled in a baking dish, and the casserole is popped into the oven for a half hour.

"Because this is a hearty dish, a salad and rolls are the only accompaniments needed," said this good cook.

"With the peppy flavor of the pizza we prefer a simple salad - either salad greens with an oil dressing or a grapefruit and avocado salad."

It is a tempting Saturday night supper for family or guests, and is delicious luncheon fare, too.

For dessert Mrs. Oliveson suggests the piece de resistance, Raspberry Fluff Pie.

NOT MANY housewives will have the advantage Mrs. Oliveson has in making this pie. She usually has most of the ingredients on hand and simply takes a container of berries from the plentiful supply in her freezer.

The Olivesons have their own raspberry patch, and after they've eaten their fill this enterprising woman freezes the remainder - around 100 pints each year.

"They come in handy for this pie, as well as toppings for cereal, ice cream and other desserts," she said.

Raspberries are just one of the fruits grown on their large piece of property, Apple, peach and cherry trees yield a plentiful crop, and there are grapes and a strawberry patch as well.

"As you can guess, gardening is our hobby," said Mrs. Oliveson, "and we make use of most all of the fruit. We even have a cider press to make apple cider," she laughingly exclaimed.

However, home frozen raspberries are not a requisite for making her favorite pie. Commercially frozen raspberries may be used, as well as fresh berries when in season.

A BAKED vanilla wafer crust forms the base of this dessert, while the filling consists primarily of crushed raspberries, beaten egg white, evaporated milk and cream cheese.

Because unflavored gelatine is used, the pie has a true raspberry flavor, and the cream cheese and evaporated milk give it a creamy texture.

Although rich, it is not sweet, and the lovely red color of this chilled dessert makes it as appealing to look at as it is delightful to taste.

Mrs. Oliveson garnishes this Raspberry Fluff Pie with a ring of whipped cream. It is elegant company fare!

Pizza Casserole

1 8-ounce package macaroni
½ pound Italian sausage meat
1 diced onion
½ diced green pepper
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
½ pound American cheese, grated
Paprika

Cook macaroni and drain.

In a separate pan brown the sausage, onion and green pepper. Add flour, salt and milk and blend. Cook until thickened.

Place layers of macaroni and grated cheese in a casserole and top with sausage sauce. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Raspberry Fluff Pie

Crust:

1½ cups vanilla wafers, rolled fine
2 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup softened butter

Mix ingredients together. Press into a 9-inch pie plate and bake for 12 to 15 minutes in a 375-degree oven. Set aside to cool while making the filling.

Filling:

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
1½ cups crushed raspberries
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 egg white, beaten stiff
½ cup evaporated milk, whipped
1 3-ounce package cream cheese

Place the gelatine in the top of a double boiler and add ¼ cup cold water. Let stand for five minutes until it congeals. Add sugar and remaining ¼ cup water. Stir over boiling water until gelatine and sugar have dissolved.

Remove from fire and add crushed fruit and lemon juice. Chill mixture until it starts to thicken and congeal. Beat until foamy and fold in stiffly-beaten egg white.

Whip chilled evaporated milk; add cream cheese to this and whip together for a few minutes. Combine this mixture with the gelatine-fruit mixture.

Pour into pie shell and chill in refrigerator for three hours. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Serves 8. (SH

Thanks to today's frozen cooked food processors, you can prepare the most elaborate buffets so conveniently that you'll have plenty of time to take care of the other many details concerning your guests. For example, surprise your next gathering with this cocktail appetizer buffet, prepared quickly and easily:

Delicious King Crab Imperial in a chafing dish, served in petite cream puffs; welsh rarebit, also served from a chafing dish or a candle warmer, over melba toast; cooked shrimp over ice, with cocktail sauce, and hor d'oeuvres.

With the exception of the cream puffs, which are made from a prepared mix, all these items are in your grocer's freezer cabinets—with practically all of the preparation done for you in advance. (SH

Chips, Dips and Beer

For relaxing and nibbling potato chips, beer and Tabasco-seasoned dips are an unbeatable snacktime combination. The pictured dips are all smooth and creamy enough to scoop up with a potato chip. Two are made in an electric blender, the other simply blended by hand. The latter simulates a liver pate but is made easily with liverwurst and cream cheese as the main ingredients. A small amount of beer makes it smooth and tangy while Tabasco adds the necessary spark.

Sharp cheese lovers will be fond of the cheddar beer dip seasoned with Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning, and sesame seeds, while those who favor avocados will enjoy a variation of traditional guacamole.

Snappy Liverwurst and Beer Dip

1 pound liverwurst
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon horseradish
¼ teaspoon onion powder
½ cup beer

Cream together liverwurst and cream cheese. Add mayonnaise, Tabasco, horseradish and onion powder. Blend. Gradually stir in beer; beat until smooth.

Yield: 3 cups.

Cheddar Beer Dip

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
½ pound sharp cheddar cheese, cubed
¾ cup beer
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds

Combine cream cheese, cheddar cheese, beer and Tabasco in electric blender. Blend on high speed until smooth. Stir in sesame seeds.

Yield: 2¾ cups.

Avocado Dip

2 Florida avocados
2 tablespoons French dressing
2 tablespoons chili sauce
½ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 tablespoon cut chives (optional)

Cut avocados in half lengthwise; remove pit. Peel skin from halves; dice pulp. Add to electric blender with French dressing, chili sauce, Tabasco and lime juice. Blend on high speed until smooth. Stir in chives.

Yield: 2 cups. (SH

Withdraw Zoning Plea for Plant

A rezoning application for a temporary concrete batching plant in Wheeling township was withdrawn last week.

It had been filed with the county by Arthur Milbratz, 2211 N. Buffalo Grove rd., Arlington Heights, for Contracting and Material co., Evanston.

THE COMPANY holds the contract for paving work involved in the first stage of converting Palatine rd. into a 4-lane highway between Rohlwing rd. and Milwaukee ave.

Milbratz wanted to set up the batching plant, needed for the paving project, on 7.3 acres on the east side of Buffalo Grove rd. and 1,884 feet north of Palatine rd.

No explanation for withdrawing the application was given. It sought to rezone the site from residential to general manufacturing district.

The initial Palatine rd. paving project calls for construction of a 2-lane concrete road divided by a 4-foot median strip. The county later, perhaps in late 1962, plans to add two lanes.

WORK ON installing drains for the highway was started in December. Paving work will start by fall, according to the county highway department.

When the full $7 million project is competed, Palatine rd. will be what engineers term a "junior expressway," complete with local service or frontage roads and also grade separations at major intersections.

Grade separations are planned at Rand, Elmhurst, Milwaukee, and Arlington Heights rds. (ACM

Owned and operated by Signor Carmelo, a 25-year veteran of the musical world, the company sells organs, pianos, accordions and musical accessories, and teaches more than 300 students each week.

STUDENTS, both children and adults, take lessons once a week from eight skilled instructors. In addition to individual lessons, Signor Carmelo also directs group instruction to enable students to learn to play together.

The company's Northwest hwy. headquarters houses four instruction rooms and is open for lessons daily 5:30 to 9 p.m. and Saturday 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. General manager of the store here is Gene Novak of Hoffman Estates.

ONE OF THE busiest musicians in the suburbs, Signor Carmelo also oversees the operation of similar stores in Elgin, Hillside and Lombard. Instruction includes all keyboard instruments and many others.

The Northwest Organ company has kept in tune with area music since its inception in September, 1958. According to Signor Carmelo, the quality instruction will continue. (A

Chamber Launches Promotion Drive

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce has initiated its 1961 publicity campaign with a series of informal discussions on Sunday afternoons over WNWC, local FM radio station.

The first program February 5 featured a discussion of chamber activities by Robert Y. Paddock, chamber president, and Donald Hess, executive manager. Last Sunday, Hess interviewed Clare Gunderson, a member of the board of directors and chamber public relations chairman.

BOTH PROGRAMS were designed to inform the public of the chamber's activities and contributions in Arlington Heights.

Brought out during the programs were the chamber's functions as an informational and legislative service. The chamber serves as the community's spokesman on questions of legislation and taxation in local, state and national affairs, it was pointed out.

The chamber has been instrumental in the promotion of a postal sub-station for the north side, in work on an underpass at the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, and in many other community matters, the program discussions established.

HESS indicated the chamber is a non-profit organization with only two full time employees, the manager and his secretary. The stimulation of retail sales through special promotions is one of the chamber's aims, Hess noted.

Those appearing on the programs maintained "that whether you are aided directly or indirectly by the chamber, it is a civic duty to participate and give more than is received."

Scheduled to be heard on this Sunday's program is Paul Collins, president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association and immediate past president of the chamber. (A

Red Cross Campaign To Begin on March 5

RED CROSS drive chairman Branson B. Barron, 1007 N. Yale, (right) discusses campaign plans with Harold E. Carlson, acting village president. Barron announced this week the annual drive for members and funds will begin here March 5. Wendell L. Prunty, 413 S. Highland, was appointed co-chairman of the campaign.

The Red Cross Campaign for members and funds in Arlington Heights begins March 5, reports Branson B. Barron, 1007 N. Yale, volunteer chairman of the campaign.

Barron has appointed Wendell L. Prunty, 413 S. Highland, as co-chairman; and Ronald F. Wittmeyer, 1522 N. Kennicott, as publicity chairman.

IN ADDITION to these volunteers, Prunty reports that many persons have volunteered to serve as block canvassers and are being assigned to sections of the city convenient to their homes. More volunteers are needed, Prunty says. Anyone interested is asked to call CL 5-8575.

The solicitors will begin their door-to-door canvass of houses Sunday afternoon, March 5, and will continue each day in March until they have covered their area. All the funds collected go to finance the Red Cross programs of service. None of the money goes to the solicitors or fund chairman. They are all volunteers who serve without pay.

"Red Cross' only source of funds is volunteer contributions," says Barron, "and a contribution to Red Cross is one of the greatest investment opportunities I know of.

"A five dollar contribution, for example, will provide $30 worth of service to the people of this village because the work is performed almost exclusively by volunteers who receive no pay," Barron concluded.

THE RED CROSS enables everyone to help make good things happen, not only locally but nationally and internationally as well. By giving money to Red Cross, each person helps to:

1. Restore the battered lives of disaster victims;
2. safety proof his community through training in first aid, water safety, and home nursing;
3. alleviate the personal and family problems of servicemen, veterans, and their dependents, and
4. prepare young people through Junior Red Cross to become the responsible family, community, and national leaders of tomorrow. (A

Beverly Bowling Addition

The Arlington Heights zoning board of appeals will conduct a public hearing Saturday, Feb. 25, on a petition for variation in required number of parking spaces to permit an addition and remodeling of Beverly Lanes, Inc., 8 S. Beverly ln.

The petition was filed on behalf of Edward Sander, owner of the bowling alley and the adjoining building. Sander seeks to remodel the building to the south of the lanes to provide a banquet room, meeting room and bar.

REMODELING work was halted December 19 when building commissioner Harold Best issued a stop work order because construction was being undertaken without a building permit.

Best said the permit had not been granted due to a shortage of parking facilities. Sander said he told the commissioner he had a lease on parking facilities north of the bowling alley, but that they were termed inadequate.

All interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard February 25, according to Victor Beisler, zoning board chairman. (A

Undoubtedly Washington was a truthful man. But according to the Bible all men are sinners even if they never lied.

Let us tell you of Christ, who is truth personified, in our Church this Sunday.

Lynnwood News

The officer of the Lynnwood Home Owners association this week is the vice president, Joe Camp, who was born and raised in Chicago. He married Kay January 13, 1951, in Our Lady of Mercy Catholic church in Chicago. They have six children, Joseph Jr., 8½, Vickie, 7½, Susan, 6, Diana, 4½, Terri, 2½, and Barbara 2 months old. They are members of St. James Catholic church and the older Camp children attend St. James school. Kay and Joe moved into their home at 1429 Yale ct. in June of 1958.

Joe is an IBM supervisor for Marsh McLennan in Chicago. In spare time, bowling and golf top the list.

The Camps feel that active participation in organizations other than the Home Owners association will have to wait until the needs of their children diminish.

CAROL AND Bob Fey, 1412 Maude ave., visited Bob's folks, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fey in Abingdon, over the weekend. Today the Feys leave for their new residence in Orlando, Fla.

A speedy recovery is wished for the Jannusch children, who have chicken pox.

Dorothy and Bill Meyer, 1427 Maude ave., entertained Mary Ann and Dick Somers Saturday evening.

Naomi and Fritz Ruprecht, 1631 N. Wilke rd., attended the Austin Fine Arts Valentine smorgasbord and dance Friday evening. Tommy Ruprecht celebrated his ninth birthday with 9 playmates February 9.

Saturday, Barb and Carl Couve, 1509 N. Chicago ave., had the newcomers round robbin bridge. Attending were the Ray Benards, Jim Braggs and the Harvey Klemms. Sunday the Couves had dinner with Bill and Marilyn Banker, Chicago.

Telephone Tariff Change Proposed

Elimination of extra mileage charges now paid by 14 telephone customers in the Arlington Heights area has been proposed by Illinois Bell.

The tariff, as filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission, enlarges the base rate of the Arlington Heights exchange to include territory which has developed sufficiently to warrant furnishing urban telephone service, said G. W. Kaucher, Illinois Bell manager here.

MOST OF the customers, Kaucher noted, are located in an area extending from just northwest and the extreme southwest of Arlington Heights. The changes are expected to be effective March 10, 1961.

When effective, the tariff changes will permit telephone users moving into the enlarged Arlington Heights base rate area to have urban type service without payment of an extra mileage charge.

HE ADDED that more than four residential and business subscribers who have had rural service in the area have ordered urban type service.

Addition of a considerable amount of phone equipment was required to make the extension to the base rate area. Substantial amounts of wire in cable were added, in addition to changes made in the central office in Arlington Heights.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

THERE'S NO PLACE like home.

Just ask a basketball coach.

And you don't have to go too far to find some striking examples of basketball's fabled home-court advantage.

At the halfway mark in the 1960-61 schedule Coach Harry Combes' University of Illinois quintet boasted a 4-8 record. The Illini had won all four games at home in sardine-packed Huff Gym, and had dropped eight on the road.

Combes' sophomore-laden outfit started to perk up with some impressive basketball following the semester break, then journeyed a few miles to Lafayette, Ind., last Saturday for a key battle with Purdue's Boilermakers. Purdue had no trouble posting an 89-73 decision.

HARRY COMBES

During the past ten years Illinois compiled a 57-15 mark at home in Big Ten with a mediocre 40-32 standard on the road. Indiana's hurryin' Hoosiers had even more success at home with a 58-14 mark. The Bloomington powerhouses, however, could pick up only 41 victories in 72 encounters on foreign hardwoods.

In that ten year period Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa were the only schools with more road wins than losses.

Nebraska offers an interesting example on this subject. The Cornhuskers have won only seven of 62 road games in the Big Eight in the past ten years but have posted a 37-25 record at home playing the same teams.

Look at the way the current season is going. Houston halted Bradley's 18-game all-victory skein and then followed up with a 75-67 conquest of St. Louis before its home fans. Coach Ray Meyer's DePaul five rolled to its eleventh straight victory by smashing Louisville's 13-game streak with a 78-70 decision on the Blue Demons' home court. Meyer's quintet carried that unbeaten string into Notre Dame's cracker-box gym and dropped its first game of the season. Vanderbilt was tumbled from the undefeated ranks after 11 victories as a result of a 74-65 loss at Mississippi State.

A survey made by the Des Moines Register-Tribune shows that major college basketball teams are winning on the home floor at the amazing rate of 71 per cent this season. As pointed out by scribe Buck Turnbell, "It is a recognized fact that athletes tend to perform better at home in their normal environment. They are less efficient when traveling and this combination leads to a home advantage that runs through all sports. But nowhere is it as pronounced as in basketball."

Kentucky holds the national record with 129 consecutive victories on the home floor. Through games of February 9, Cincinnati had won 46 in a row on its own floor for the longest home-court winning streak currently in major college basketball. Bradley had a 46-game standard snapped by Drake on February 6.

It's felt that officiating, crowds, traveling, gyms (different in court size, construction, lighting) and climate variations are the reasons behind this marked home-court advantage on a college level.

Insofar as the officiating, Turnbell commented: "When you combine officials making a long series judgment calls, wildly cheering (or booing) partisan fans only a few feet away, and a visiting team with sagging reflexes, it is easy to see what the home boys have going for them."

Sharm Scheuerman, successful young coach of the Iowa Hawkeyes, considered the traveling and said, "The players get loggy on a road trip when they sit around with nothing to do. But I have always felt that if you have a solid group of kids, they should be able to adjust to these changes. The good teams win away from home—that's why they're good."

"In basketball you just feel sharper at home," Iowa State Coach Glen Anderson added. "I always think we have a chance to win at home no matter who we happen to be playing."

The climate comes in for consideration particularly in the high-altitude Rocky Mountain area. When such squads as Colorado, Colorado State, Denver and Wyoming boast formidable squads to begin with, watch out when you're playing them in their own gymnasium.

Although this home-court advantage is pronounced on a college level, it hasn't been that noticeable in the high school ranks—at least not this year. In the four conferences covered by Paddock Publications—Interim, West Suburban, Tri-County, and North Suburban—the home team has won 55 of 99 games. That's just 56 per cent or a little better than half.

Home teams have been winning on a 58 per cent basis in the Interim; 57 per cent in the North Suburban; 53 per cent in the West Suburban; and 50 per cent in the Tri-County. Those figures are hardly significant in comparison to the college statistics.

Arlington has definitely played its best basketball at home but has had trouble winning. Prospect rolled through its first 17 games unbeaten, then dropped a decision in the fieldhouse to a club it had leveled by 17 in an earlier meeting. Last year the Knights were unbeaten at home.

As a closing thought on the home-court subject, Kentucky's Adolph Rupp won't take one of his teams into South Bend anymore to play the Fighting Irish. Notre Dame has a small gym by college standards with a 4,000 capacity and almost all the seats are filled by students. After seeing several of his outstanding clubs drop games at Notre Dame, Rupp said that was the end.

"Not only did the student body roar at us," the veteran coach declared, "but that group in black (priests and seminarians) must have been praying against us!"

Hardwood Encounters

Arlington at Home Friday; Knights to Face Maine West

Area basketball fans will have a chance to watch both Arlington and Prospect in action this weekend as the local hardwood representatives engage in loop clashes on different evenings.

Coach Frank Bonac's Arlington Cardinals will play their final home game of the season Friday when they host a strong Hinsdale five, and Dick Kinneman's Prospect Knights will hit the road Saturday for a battle at Maine West.

Both games will follow 7 p. m. preliminaries with the frosh-sophs at Arlington and junior-varsity fives at Maine.

FOUR BOYS will be playing their final home game when the Cards entertain the Red Devils. Seniors on the Arlington aggregation include starters Jim Clabaugh and Bob Jacobsen and reserves Grant Wallhoff and Skip Witt.

Hinsdale will bring a creditable 15-3 record into Friday's fray with Coach Larry Hoff's outfit standing 10-2 in West Suburban action. Maine township East and East Rockford have been the only clubs able to bounce the Red Devils this season with league-leading Maine turning the trick twice.

Junior Bob Haarlow is Hinsdale's top point-producer and is only one point behind LaGrange's Dick Ruggles in the tight battle for the conference scoring title. Haarlow has pumped in 216 markers in 11 league tilts for a 19.6 ppg with a high of 28 against Riverside.

BOUNCING back in the past two games after experiencing a slight scoring slump, senior Hal Brandt is still the Red Devils' No. 2 marksman. Hal has 178 tallies for the league campaign and is averaging at a 16.2 clip.

Center Jeff Munn has been giving Hinsdale about 11 points a game, but the back-court combinations haven't been too productive on offense. Bill Walsh, Jim McAlpin, and Keith Feiler round out the Red Devils' "top six."

Hinsdale blasted the Cards in an earlier meeting, 73-52, and that 21-point margin represents Arlington's worst defeat of the season.

IN LAST FRIDAY'S loss at York sophomore Chuck Close paced the Cardinals' offensive attack for the third straight week. Close collected 14 points with some effective outshooting and now boasts 128 in league play and 168 for the season.

Arlington just hasn't been playing good ball on the road but the squad wants to make this final home appearance one to remember. Hinsdale's the favorite but could be in for some unexpected trouble.

AT MAINE WEST Saturday Prospect will be meeting a club that gave it all it could handle in the first get-together. The Knights were ahead by only three, 39-36, heading into the final quarter but pulled away to a 51-39 decision.

Maine hasn't been playing consistent basketball this season but has been able to rise up when least expected. Coach has pumped in 112 points for an 11.1 ppg and 6-1 Bruce Shriver has collected 100. Doug Halpenny, a 6-0 senior, was the Warriors' chief weapon offensively in the first battle with Prospect with 11 points on five baskets and a charity throw.

PROSPECT WILL have the benefit of a rest Friday evening while Maine West tackles a formidable East Leyden quintet, but Maine will have the advantage of playing in its own gymnasium Saturday.

Kinneman's Knights had some trouble with Willowbrook last week before opening up and coasting in with their 20th victory of the season. It was 6-4 George Pomey, one of the finest players in the state, and 6-4 Bill Zadel, another state standout, who carried the offensive attack with 48 of the team's 63 points.

Pomey rimmed 29 with a brilliant second-half performance and boosted his Interim league average to 18.9. Zadel netted 19 and now boasts 157 in ten loop tests.

Jr. High Night At Arlington

Friday will be Jr. High School night at Arlington high!

Squads, managers, and coaches of the nine Jr. high schools that feed Arlington's section of the district will be special guests at the Cardinals' games with Hinsdale.

The schools invited for Arlington's final home game of the season were Grove Jr. high and Higgins Jr. high of Elk Grove; Salk Jr. high of Rolling Meadows; and Wilson school, Our Lady of the Wayside, St. James, St. Peter Luthern, Miner Jr. high and South Jr. high of Arlington Heights.

Gaston Freeman's Warriors stand 5-4 in the Interim league and have two boys among the top ten in scoring.

Mike Rowlee, a 6-1 senior,

ARLINGTON'S RICH Edelblute finds himself in an unfortunate position here in 180-pound title bout of last weekend's Prospect high district wrestling tourney. Holding the advantage on the Arlington senior is Willowbrook's Larry Fontaine. Fontaine won the 180-pound crown with a 5-3 decision.

Knights Open Varsity Track Slate Tuesday

Prospect high's varsity trackmen will launch their indoor campaign next Tuesday, Feb. 21, when they host Glenbrook and Proviso West in the fieldhouse.

The triangular will be staged on both varsity and frosh-soph levels with the festivities slated to get underway at 4 p.m.

Although Head Coach Bob Scott was still uncertain at the outset of the week on a definite varsity alignment for the 1961 opener, he did indicate a tentative squad.

Scott will probably go with Tom Petrosino, Al Spacone, Dennis Leonard, and Mike Field in the hurdles with Gary Marks and Jim Glidden in the 50-yard dash.

BRAD BLAIR and Rog Luedke will handle the 880-yard run with Glidden, Marks, Bill Bard and George Renner possible competitors in the 440. Cliff Stock, Don Coey, and Bob Koenig are listed among the probables for the mile run.

Bard, Renner, Glidden, and Marks should make up the 12-lap relay team with the eight-lap unit a definite question-mark at this stage of the drills.

It'll be Jim Peters, Bruce Andrise, and Jim Beasley in the shot put with Tom Flynn in the pole vault and Gordon Buchanan, Pat O'Keefe, and Flynn in the high jump. Glidden and O'Keefe will work in the broad jump.

SPRINTER and broad jumper Keith Voigt recently underwent a shoulder operation but should be ready for competition by the Evanston Relays in mid-March. Voigt holds fieldhouse records in both the 50-yard dash with a :05.6 clocking and broad jump with a 19-5 effort.

Glidden holds the 880-mark in the fieldhouse with a 2:09 and Stock's 4:56.4 is the best turned in by a miler.

Palatine to Host Sectional Meet

by DICK GOTTSEGEN

Ninety-six of the area's finest wrestlers, representing 22 high schools, will vie for state tourney berths this weekend at the Palatine sectional.

The top four finishers in each of the 12 weight divisions from both the Prospect and DeKalb districts have advanced to this weekend's extravaganza but only the winner and runner-up will survive the sectional eliminations.

First round matches are slated for 7 p.m. Friday. Semi-finals will be run off at 2 p.m. Saturday with the championship and third place battles set for 7 p.m.

Elgin, an easy winner at DeKalb last weekend, enjoys the largest representation in the upcoming sectional scramble. Only one of the 12 Maroons competing failed to gain a sectional berth.

MAINE EAST, a surprise winner at Prospect, will enter eight boys while Palatine, Prospect and Elmwood Park each had six qualifiers.

Friday's first round pairings have been drawn up on the following basis:

First place DeKalb vs. fourth place Prospect; Second place Prospect vs. third place DeKalb; First place Prospect vs. fourth place DeKalb; Second place DeKalb vs. third place Prospect.

However, in the few cases in which the district champion defeated a boy in the district that he would ordinarily wrestle in the sectional semi-final, the schedule will be revised.

SECTIONAL brackets are arranged so that a district champion cannot possibly meet a wrestler he has already defeated in the district until the championship bout.

At 95 pounds, Prospect's Del Blakely, Ed Leppert of Willowbrook and Bob Jonas of Maine West appear to be the top challengers for state berths.

Blakely, fourth in the district, will meet Elgin's Ken Stettner, DeKalb district champ, in the first round. Del nipped Stettner, 4-3, at the Prospect quadrangular last December.

DENNIS Destefano of Maine East and Bob Foster of East Leyden, one-two at Prospect, could repeat that finish this weekend. Foster captured last year's sectional 95 pound title and was third in the state.

Jack Masters of West Rockford, number one at DeKalb, is paired against Palatine's Jim Nordin in first round action at 103.

One of the most interesting battles of the tourney is shaping up at 112. Unbeaten Don Brown, of Elgin, district and Big Eight Conference titlist, should advance to the finale against Palatine's Andy Olytan.

OLYTAN HAS captured 24 of 26 bouts this season and has additionally acquired the North Suburban Conference and district 112 titles.

Another Pirate, Brad McCreery appears to have the inside track at 120. The Palatine senior, who is the defending sectional 120 pound champ, ran his unbeaten string to 26 last weekend with four easy victories enroute to the district crown.

Prospect's Bob Trausch rolled through the district without a point scored against him in the 127 pound class and rates a better than average chance to gain a state berth.

SHOULD Trausch get past his first round match with Bruce George of Sycamore, he will meet the winner of the Ron Vaughn (Elgin) - Bruce Hector (York) battle in the semi-final. Trausch defeated Vaughn at the Prospect quad.

It's anybody's guess as to who will survive at 133. Palatine's hopes at the weight were abruptly destroyed when heavily-favored Karl Knowles lost a shocking 1-0 decision to Maine East's Mike Blodgett in his opening district match.

Rick Jordan of Maine East and Gene Burnidge of Elgin will carry district titles into sectional warfare and rate the favorites' roles at 138.

ARLINGTON'S Mike Koenig will face John Luhtala of DeKalb in 138 pound first round action. Luhtala eked out a 5-4 win over Koenig at the Palatine Invitational tourney.

DeKalb's Gerry Turk, district 145 pound champ, Colin Carr of Maine West, East Leyden's John Daczewitz, also a district titlist, and Norm Schuettner of Palatine seem to be the best of a good crop of 145 pounders.

Turk and Carr are slated to collide in a first round match.

GEORGE McCreery, an easy winner at Prospect in the 154 pound division, could go all the way in the sectional. He finished second to Leyden's Dennis Owens in the 1960 sectional meet.

Dennis McCabe of Maine East looks like the best bet at 165. Arlington's Hal Selleck and Jim Rucker of Fenton rate outside chances for the number two state berth.

Unbeaten Dave Russell of Elgin has a slight edge on a real good field at 180 pounds. Willowbrook's Larry Fontaine, the Prospect district winner, Gene Humes of DeKalb and Rich Edelblute of

by G. A. McELROY

IN DECEMBER THE American Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation released the Pohndorf Report on the comparative physical fitness of British and American youth. Using the AAHPER fitness test of seven items, Dr. Pohndorf of the University of Illinois tested 10,000 English, Scotch, Welsh, and Irish youth between 10 and 17 years of age and compared the findings with American children of the same ages given the same tests. He found that British girls rated 23% above American girls and that British boys rated 14% above American boys.

The only item where Americans rated higher was "arm power" tests (baseball throw). The conclusion is rather shocking and reveals that the rapidly changing mode of American living is taking its toll on fitness of American youth. These tests, given to two predominantly Anglo-Saxon nations, are more comparable than any given to date.

The result is to be expected. Physical Education in this country is still geared too much to the recreation type of activities which may amuse and entertain young people but do not get the job done as far as physical fitness is concerned. It is time that physical educators and those administrators responsible for setting up a curriculum, took stock of their offerings and policies in the schools and substituted more body building and endurance type activities for the recreational games.

More emphasis on tumbling, trampoline, weight lifting, rope climbing, wrestling, calisthenics, modern dance, gymnastics, fitness stunts, swimming, and track work in running and jumping, are needed. Such activities as basketball, volleyball, touch football, ping pong, badminton, etc. should be emphasized and used in a limited manner only to provide some variety in an otherwise rigorous fitness program.

WE BECOME A BIT IRKED at times when sports writers take off on men like Dr. Conant and charge that the "egg-heads" are trying to knock sports out of the school program. Dr. Conant made a comprehensive study of public high schools and junior highs in the United States. His reports indicate that on the high school level there are spots in the country where over emphasis on sports hurts the rest of the program. He has justified the activities program and the vocational curriculum in the comprehensive high school as important to a full education.

For this, the groups who believe in education only for the superior and in a return to academic fundamentals, etc., criticize Dr. Conant rather severely. The only real criticism of athletics we have heard Dr. Conant mention in the three times we have heard him speak or in the books and articles he has written have been against high powered football promotion in the 7th and 8th grades in which the teams play before big crowds in lighted stadiums with marching bands and all the rest of the glamour activities.

This criticism is aimed mostly at the southwest and particularly Texas. In the suburban area Dr. Conant or any other investigator of schools would find little to criticize in the participation of grade school boys in athletics. Most administrators in the suburbs have a pretty good philosophy concerning sports. Some of them do have a hard time holding to that philosophy in view of ambitious parent and community pressure. Most of the criticism would be against the way sports are promoted and handled outside of school by community groups.

20 YEARS AGO (February 21, 1941)

Palatine closed the season with a 54-22 victory over Ela as Hahnfeldt tallied 18, Hollinger 16, and Roy DeBerge 12. Palatine lights share the championship with Grant by beating Ela 45-12 with Bob Howes scoring 19. The Palatine varsity finished undefeated 10-0 while Wauconda and Northbrook tied for second 8-4. Ray Hahnfeldt led the league in scoring with 118 points in 10 games . . . Palatine averaged 43.9 points a game to their opponents 18.9. Closest league game for the Pirates was a 35-19 win over Wauconda. Palatine's league records for the past 4 years are 7-3, 8-2, 9-1, and 10-0, a steady improvement in which the present senior players had a part all 4 seasons. Bob Howes, the Pirates' 6' 3½" center, topped the lightweight division scoring with 111 points . . . Woodstock beat Niles 40-36 to break a first place deadlock and win the Northeast championship.

10 YEARS AGO (February 16, 1951)

Barrington has the Northwest championship tucked away with a 40-32 win over Northbrook . . . Palatine moved back to a second place tie beating Wauconda 46-39 as Buenzow scored 13, Sievers 12, and Schrage 11. Just one game to go in the conference with Barrington 12-1 playing at Palatine 9-4 . . . Just 4 more games with DeKalb, Barrington, Maine and Palatine will close Arlington's season and a free lance schedule lasting 3 years. In another 7 days Arlington will be a full fledged member of the West Suburban Conference. "It has been a long 3 years and we are certainly glad to see it end," stated Athletic Director Wally Grace.

Mitchell Sparks Prospect's JVs To 58-49 Victory

Sophomore Dennis Mitchell's 20 points led Prospect's JV basketball team to a 58-49 comeback win over Willowbrook last Friday night on the Warriors' Villa Park floor.

Mitchell canned eight baskets and four free throws to pace Coach Ted Wissen's junior Knights to their eighth league win in ten starts this season.

It took a big 19-point third quarter surge to wipe out a Willowbrook 24-21 halftime lead, and some steady fourth quarter defensive play to bring home the win for Prospect.

The third quarter burst gave Prospect a 40-34 lead going into the final period. Willowbrook threatened to narrow the gap midway in the quarter with pressing tactics, but Wissen's lads managed to retain control of the ball and outscore their hosts again, 18-15, to win with ease.

Three other Prospect boys hit in double figures. Tommy Thomas had 14 points, Bob Gerrard 12, and Mike Francek 10. Neal had 14 for Willowbrook.

Colt League Meeting Slated

There will be a meeting for all representatives of the North Suburban Continental Colt League and the North Suburban National Colt League at the Foss Park Auditorium, 1704 Sheridan rd., North Chicago, on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

Starting time for the meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m.

Palatine Second In Two-Day Meet

by BOB FRISK

Maine township East, co-champion in the West Suburban conference, collected three individual titles and qualified eight boys for sectional competition with a smashing victory in the Prospect district wrestling tournament last weekend.

Coach Bob Schildgren's Blue Demons headed runnerup Palatine by 14 points and defending state champion East Leyden by 25 in the exciting battle for mat supremacy.

Among the four prep conferences represented in the 12-team field at Prospect each landed a slot in the top four positions. Maine of the West Suburban was first, Palatine of the North Suburban second, East Leyden of the Interim third, and Elmwood Park of the Tri-County fourth.

IN ADDITION to Palatine, the highest team finisher among the schools covered by Paddock Publications was Prospect. Coach Dick Mudge's Knights registered 43 markers for a fifth place berth.

Willowbrook's 41 points earned the Warriors a sixth and Arlington finished seventh with 26. Fenton and Lake Park were settled at the bottom of the pack in 11th and 12th respectively.

Of the four individual district champions returning two completed another successful journey throught the mat competition. Only Palatine's Johnny Anderson and Karl Knowles failed to repeat.

ANDERSON was the 95-pound titlist in 1960 but was working at 127 last weekend and dropped his first match to Frank Machac of Maine East. Knowles, 133-pound champ last winter, dropped a 1-0 decision in his first bout to Maine East's Mike Blodgett in the big surprise of the district. Karl had been seeded No. 1 and carried a 16-1-1 record into the tourney.

Palatine's unbeaten Brad McCreery again ruled the 120-pounders as he breezed through four matches for the title, and Prospect's Darryl Phillips recorded another district heavyweight championship.

ROUNDING out the individual champions were Maine West's Bob Jonas at 95 pounds, Maine East's Dennis Destefano at 103, Palatine's Andy Olytan at 112, Prospect's Bob Trausch at 127, East Leyden's Ron Zajac at 133 and John Daczewitz at 145, Palatine's George McCreery at 154, Maine East's Dennis McCabe at 165, and Willowbrook's Larry Fontaine at 180.

Maine East boasted the most qualifiers with eight but Palatine, East Leyden, Elmwood Park, and Prospect landed six slots each in the forthcoming Palatine sectional.

Other Palatine qualifiers were Jim Nordin at 103, Norm Schuettner at 145, and Bill Smith at heavyweight. Joining Prospect's Trausch and Phillips in the sectional will be teammates Del Blakely at 95 pounds, Tom Krause at 103, Doug Vaughan at 133, and Ron Christensen at 165.

CHRISTENSEN earned a sectional shot because of an injury to Elmwood Park's Joe Urbanski. The Tigers' grappler broke his thumb in a semi-final bout and had to default in the third place battle at 165. This left an opening and Prospect's Christensen was given the nod because he had lost to the eventual champion McCabe in a first round tussle.

Willowbrook picked up one individual champ with Fontaine at 180 and qualified Ed Leppert at 95, Bob Howe at 112, and Bill Pitts at 120.

THREE Arlington high Cardinals earned sectional berths with Rich Edelblute at 180, Mike Koenig at 138, and Hal Selleck at 165. Both Edelblute, a senior, and Selleck, a sophomore, were second in their respective classes and Koenig landed a fourth at 138.

The only Fenton grappler who could qualify was Jim Rucker at 165 pounds.

Six of the top-seeded boys walked off with the individual titles at Prospect. Top-ranked wrestlers who justified their lofty rankings were Olytan at 112, Brad McCreery at 120,

With the exception of the 133-pound class the other top-seeded competitors finished second in their respective divisions. At 133, where Palatine's Knowles was upset, the second-seeded boy came through with the championship.

Arlington's Tim O'Gorman, boasting a 14-2-1 season mark and one of the pre-tourney favorites for qualifying berth at 133, didn't wrestle in the district because of an injury.

Gymnasts Rout Elgin Maroons

Prospect high's varsity gymnasts, after registering 86½ points in a recent rout of Glenbrook, did even better last week when they massacred the hapless Elgin Maroons, 91½-38½.

Coach Rick Farris' Knights, working with several underclassmen in the alignment as no frosh-soph meet was held, recorded sweeps on the side hourse and in tumbling and also dominated the four other events.

Dan Simonsen was a double winner for Prospect with firsts on still rings and parallel bars. Also collecting top slots for the Knights were Ray Strobel on the Trampoline, Anderson on the side horse, Jeff Fahrner on the high bar, and Dave Leekley in tumbling.

PROSPECT also claimed the six runnerup positions thanks to soph Paul Shaw on the Tramp, junior Jeff Swanson on the side horse, soph Gary VanDerVoort on the high bar and parallel bars, senior Dave Price on still rings, and frosh John Strobel in tumbling.

Prospect's varsity and frosh-soph gymnasts will travel to Maine West Friday and host Hinsdale next Wednesday afternoon.

Piling up a 23-8 halftime lead, Prospect high's frosh "B" basketball team went on to dump Glenbrook's young Spartans, 54-18.

Coach Lou Schairer's Knights outscored the losers in every quarter with Ron Moehling heading the offensive attack with 14 points.

Alan Koehler chipped in with 11, Bruce Nyberg added nine, and Dave Hicks eight as Prospect won its seventh game of the season.

In another recent outing for the "Bs," East Leyden posted a 35-29 decision. Koehler was high for the losing Knights with nine points.

Arlington are other standouts at 180.

THE BATTLE for survival in the heavyweight division should prove interesting with only a whisker separating the eight entries.

Prospect's Darryl Phillips, 17-2 for the season, walked off with a district title but had a rough time with Elmwood Park's Vic Damen in the final.

Phillips, a senior at Prospect, claimed his third straight district title with the victory last weekend. His only two losses this season have been via a pin by Niles' Bill Fischer in the first meet of the season and by decision to Evanston's Bob Pickens, Waukegan district champ.

Soph 'Bs' Gain 37-35 Cage Victory

In their first and only game of the season Arlington high school's soph "B" basketball team shaded West Leyden, 37-35 Tuesday afternoon in overtime.

The young Cardinals, coached by Ken Schaller, trailed throughout most of the game but gradually closed the gap with a second half press.

A 20-foot fielder by Tom Tully with 12 seconds remaining knotted the count and sent the game into overtime.

The starting alignment for the Cards consisted of Bill Guilfoil and Tully at the forwards, Dan Bedford at center, and Ken Layden and Fred Ball at guards. Pete Furlong and Martin Purvis also saw action with Furlong popping in 14 points for game honors.

Dukes Handle Cards In Varsity Contest

by BOB FRISK

If Arlington high's hardwood Cardinals had started off the second half like they finished up the first, there may have been a different story to report from Elmhurst last Friday evening.

As things turned out, York snapped a halftime deadlock with six straight points in the first ninety seconds of the third quarter and gradually pulled away to a 54-45 West Suburban triumph.

The victory boosted the Dukes into fifth place in the varsity race as Downers Grove slipped a notch with a loss at Maine East. Arlington remained one game behind seventh place Riverside as both clubs dropped decisions.

TRAILING by eight points with 3:20 remaining before the intermission. Coach Frank Bohac's Cardinals suddenly caught fire and vaulted into a 26-all tie in the waning moments of the first half.

Bob Laughlin banged in a jump shot from left of the key hole and Bob Jacobsen netted one from close-in. Vince Furlong cut the Dukes' margin to two points when he tossed one in from out front and Jacobsen's fielder with 30 seconds remaining knotted the count.

But the Cardinals couldn't match this second period explosion in the third stanza and York rocketed off to a lead it never relinquished.

BOB RUDOLPH hit first for the Dukes and two quick bakets on a drive and jump by Charley Adams gave York a 32-26 lead. Don Kolstad broke the Cards' famine with a one-hander from the side, but Adams collected a pair from the charity stripe and Don Anderman netted a layup to give the hosts a 36-28 margin with 3:30 remaining in the period.

Thanks to some impressive out-shooting by sophomore Charlie Close Arlington did manage to put in ten points in the third quarter and stay within eight of the fired-up Dukes.

RUDOLPH, THE 6-4 junior who had scored York's final four points in the third quarter, got the squad's first five in the deciding segment and Arlington couldn't put on the rush needed for victory.

York held at least an eight point advantage through out the final eight minutes of play and boasted a 12-point cushion on two occasions. The Cards claimed the game's final three points to set the final margin at nine markers, 54-45.

COACH DICK Haselton's Dukes held the upperhand for a majority of the first period Friday and Arlington's only lead of the game, a 7-6 margin with 3:30 remaining in the opening quarter, was achieved on a free throw by Jacobsen.

York ran up a string of five straight points before Close hit a pair from outside the key. The teams traded baskets in the closing seconds of that first quarter.

THE DUKES got hot in the second period and pulled out to an eight-point, 26-18, lead before Arlington initiated its offensive revival.

Close hit double figures for the seventh time in the last eight games and wound up with 14 for his evening's work. Jacobsen chipped in with 11 for Arlington. Adams hit 15 and Rudolph 13 for York.

Knights Need Rally To Handle Warriors

by TOM McSHANE

The Prospect Knights staged a brilliant second half comeback last Friday night to whip a determined Willowbrook Warrior squad 63-48 and claim their 20th victory in 21 starts this season.

Down by six points, 29-23, at the intermission, Coach Dick Kinneman's lads stormed back to outscore their hosts 40-19 in the final 16 minutes.

High-scoring George Pomey, who currently is carrying an 18.9 average in 10 Interim association games, was Prospect's weather vane in this one. The 6-4 forward played possibly his poorest half of the season through the opening quarters. His four for 13 from the field was reflected in Prospect's 23-point total.

But the big fellow came back strong, hitting seven of 11 second half shots and adding five free throws to lead the Knights back to the barn with a big 29-point performance. Center Bill Zadel, playing his usual strong game under the boards, heaved home 21, to give the two big men 50 of the team's 63 points.

DURING THE first half, it was all Willowbrook. Led by two sophomores, Guard Harlan Krafft and Center Bill Bornemann, the Warriors took advantage of Prospect's poor shooting to build a 14-11 first quarter lead. Bornemann scored seven of the points and Krafft had five. Zadel kept Prospect in the game with six points.

In the second quarter, Krafft with six points and Bill Offill with five led Willowbrook to the six-point spread. Both teams had considerable trouble hitting shots during this stretch. Two full minutes ticked by without a basket at one point.

When the teams left the floor, many Prospect fans were remembering the night three weeks ago when Wheaton's Tigers upset the heavily-favored Knights and were wondering if it was going to happen again.

THE FEARS vanished quickly. Pomey took the ball after the second half tip and canned a driving layup to make it 29-25. Krafft countered with 10-footer. Then Prospect's Dick Palmer came to life and hit two jump shots in succession from the right corner to make it 31-29.

Pomey tied it up on a fast break layup with 5:22 left in the quarter. Willowbrook called a time out, and Offill came back with a drive shot and free throw to make it 34-31. The Knights pulled even again with 3:16 left on a Pomey charity toss and Zadel layup. Zadel moved Prospect ahead to stay 25 seconds later with a drive. Pomey gave the Knights a three point edge at 2:41 on a tip-in. The quarter ended with Prospect on top 43-40.

THE KNIGHTS really poured it on in the closing eight minutes. Pomey and Bob Glaser built the lead to 47-43, and then the two big boys, Pomey and Zadel, went on a spree that netted the Knights 12 straight points in a minute and a half. Each of the lads hit a basket and four free throws during the surge. Kinneman pulled his first string with 1:09 left and the team coasted home.

The win firmed up the Knight hold on first place in the association with a 9-1 record. A win this Saturday at Maine West would assure Prospect of at least a tie for the championship which it shared with East Leyden last winter.

Gary Erwin Back as Cards Top Gym Test

Gary Erwin is back!

The talented senior, state Trampoline champion as a junior, sat out the first semester of competition but got back into action last week and collected 11 team points as the Cardinals handled Maine township East, 73-58.

Erwin won his specialty, the Tramp, with 177 points and then finished third in tumbling, an event in which he hadn't performed in actual competition for three years.

Gary was ineligible for the first semester of competition because he wasn't in school within 10 days of its opening last fall. He spent the outset of the school year in Germany at the Berlin Industries Fair sponsored by the United States Information Agency.

IN ADDITION to Erwin, other individual firsts for the locals were picked up by state champ Dick Wetzel on the side horse, junior Jerry Russell on rings, and junior Pete Engle in tumbling.

Claiming seconds for Coach Gay Hughes' varsity Cardinals were Bob Cordaro on the Trampoline, Russell on the parallel bar, Len Witter on rings, and John Rush in tumbling.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph gymnasts will conclude their 1960-61 dual meet campaign Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 21, with a home meet against West Leyden. The state meet is slated for March 10-11 at New Trier.

Wayside Adds Two More Wins In Basketball

Our Lady of the Wayside varsity and junior-varsity basketball teams maintained their hold on first place in recent league games.

Zeller, Heinrich, and Connors shared scoring honors for the varsity and Olson and Bakalar chipped in with some steady play in a 37-26 victory over St. Monica's of Meadowdale.

The junior-varsity got good scoring balance from Ewart, Mueller, and Merkel to whip St. Monica's, 28-15.

Seventh Grade Elks Top Miner Outfit, 51-37

The seventh grade Elks of Elk Grove whipped Miner Jr. High, 51-37, last Friday for their third win of the basketball campaign.

Recovering from a six-point first period deficit, the Elks moved out to a 22-18 halftime lead. They scored 29 points in the last two quarters.

Roger Mollenkamp popped in 14 points to spark the winners and Pat Dunnigan added ten. Pete Phillips contributed eight for the Elks.

Transfer Paces Soph Gym Triumph

A transfer student appeared in Arlington's alignment for the first time last week and captured two events as Coach Mike Karon's frosh-soph gymnasts rolled over Maine East, 87-45.

Clayton Chrisman, a soph transfer from New Trier high school, copped the Trampoline and tumbling fields for 14 team points and his 80 turned in on the Tramp was the highest individual score of the afternoon.

Joining Chrisman among the individual winners for the meet were Bob Paddock on the side horse, Bob Edie on the horizonal bar, Don Schaefer on the parallel bar, and Bill Kelley on rings.

The victory was the sixth of the season for Karen's Cards with one dual meet remaining.

Rogers to Defend Mat Title Friday

Buddy Rogers, United States heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his title against Sweet Daddy Siki of Kingston, Jamaica, in an all-star show Friday, Feb. 17, in Elgin high school gymnasium.

The match will be a two-out-of-three fall verdict with a one hour time limit.

Robers, arrogant blond from Camden, N. J., has proven to be the greatest drawing card in the midwest. He drew $89,000 in one show in Comiskey Park in Chicago and $81,000 in another besides attracting capacity houses in the Chicago Amphitheatre.

SWEET DADDY Siki has also drawn large crowds on several midwest cards but his greatest problem will be trying to break the figure four grapevine grip of his rival. It is said that it is almost impossible for an opponent to break Rogers' grip once it is properly applied.

The Jaycees, sponsor of the Elgin card, have signed the midwest tag team champions to wrestle the bearded Russian team of Boris and Nicoli Volkoff in a tag team match.

Karl Von Hess of Germany faces Johnny Kace of Antioch and in a girls match Raymonde Coty of Paris, France, faces Betty Clark of Roanoke, Va.

The show will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are both $2 and $3.

Prospect's Frosh Rout Glenbrook

Dave Gobielle tossed in 19 points and Don Neubert collected 16, hitting 12 of 15 from the free throw line, as Prospect high school's frosh "A" basketball team rolled past Glenbrook, 57-38.

The young Knights jumped off to a big 20-8 lead in the first period and had little trouble posting their fifth straight victory and tenth of the season.

Neubert hit for ten and Gobielle eight in a first half that saw Larry Wyllie's plebes pull out to a 33-13 margin.

Tom McClellan also hit double figures for Prospect with ten markers on five baskets.

The Knights' frosh will get a chance to avenge their only loss of the season when they travel to Maine West Saturday morning.

Turning in their finest overall performance in almost two months, Arlington high's frosh "A" Cardinals fashioned an impressive 53-46 cage victory over York last Saturday morning.

Coach Rog Steingraber's plebes trailed by two going into the final stanza but thanks to an effective half-court zone press moved out to the lead with four minutes remaining.

Arlington trailed 27-24 at halftime and 38-36 heading into the final quarter.

The Cardinals shot 42 per cent from the field and 68 per cent from the free throw line with guard Ray Merkel pumping in 12 markers for local honors. Paul Splittorff and Jeff Beckman both hit ten and Jim Murray added nine for the winners.

Arlington's frosh will travel to Hinsdale Saturday morning for their final game of the 1960-61 campaign.

JUST DOGS

Westminster K.C. Show—

The Westminster show in New York City will be a thing of the past when this column gets into print, however, it will be of interest to many as to what dog turns up as best in show. A number of folks from this area will have attended and, as in every year, hopes for a dog to win from the midwest go with all those who have dogs entered.

A lot of hopes are with all including those to Erma Muster of Bensenville, who will have had her top champion Weimaraner kennels well represented with one of her great dogs entered in the sporting group.

The show has an entry of some 2504 dogs, which includes for the first time Australian terriers, which were just recognized as a purebred dog by the American Kennel club last summer.

International Judges—

Two additional judges have recently been announced by the International Kennel Club of Chicago to the slate of its 1961 show. It will be held here April 8 and 9.

John J. Liecty, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Harry J. Lowenbach of Chicago, will judge the obedience classes at the forth coming International. Novice A and B classes are assigned to Liecty, and Open A and B and Utility to Lowenbach. It is also announced that William J. Kofler of Chicago will act as obedience chairman.

The 21st annual Chicago dog show, to be held under the auspices of the International Kennel club, will be judged by 19 well known judges headed by Mrs. Geraldine R. Dodge, Madison, N. J., who will select best in show.

The Roamer—

There is an idea among some dog owners that a dog has to roam in order to be happy. Nothing could be further from the truth. A dog is hapiest in being with "his family" and knowing he is wanted at home. It is while roaming that dogs get into trouble and become nuisances in the neighborhood and school yards. One out of every 30 roaming dogs gets killed or injured on streets or highways. And in some areas there is a statute to the effect that "any person who neglects to cage or restrain any animal from doing injury to itself" can be charged with cruelty.

For your own peace of mind, protect your dog. Even a small outdoor enclosure or a trolley-line is sufficient for the dog that gets regular play periods, accompanied walks and companionship with the family in the home.

Barks & Bays—

A few ideas on the right and wrong way of playing with a puppy will appear in the next column. It should be of help to many who seem to be having a problem about now with the Christmas pup.

And by the way, if you ever wondered where the idea for a Lapdog started you can thank the Romans. It seems they developed the idea as a cure for stomach ills. The warm dog on your stomach was supposed to take care of all your ills.

Frosh 'Bs' Stop York On Hardwood

Despite a cold day both from the field and free throw line, Arlington high's frosh "B" cagers still managed to pull out a 32-29 victory over York Saturday morning.

Coach Bob Rees' Cardinals hit on only 35 per cent of their free throws and less than 20 per cent of their field goals but York wasn't experiencing too profitable a day either.

The Cardinals trailed by two points going into the final period when they outscored the visitors by five points and wrapped up their ninth victory.

Dick Anderson paced the winners with 11 points and Brian Karp and Jim Fruehling added seven and six respectively.

The Arlington "Bs" will conclude their season next Monday, Feb. 20, at East Leyden.

Morton Pontiac Gals Roll to Three Wins

Morton Pontiac pulled the upset of the year, sweeping all three games from league-leading Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling Saturday night at Sims Bowl in Des Plaines.

As a result, Steve's which bowls out of Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, is no longer in first place, vacating the position in favor of Vernon Hills Restaurant of Lake Zurich.

Vernon Hills from the Country Lanes in Lake Zurich swept all three games from River-Rand Bowl of Des Plaines and thereby took a two-game lead over the first round champions.

TWO GIRLS, Pat Proebstle and Joan Lindahl, both of Arlington Heights, were responsible for Morton's three wins. Pat rolled 222 and 232 in the first two games to lead the way and Joan took over with a 195 to capture the final triumph for Morton, which calls Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights home. Pat finished with a 589 series and Joan totaled 548.

It was good for Morton that Pat and Joan were "on" since Delores Harris of Wheeling rolled the high individual series, 599, aided by 228 in the opener and 208 in the second game. When Morton, which had 885 and 884 in the first two games, slipped to 834 in the third, Steve's slipped even more to 789 to lose all three.

Bill Bond's Hits Classic High with Big 1124 Game!

Cook County Mobile Homes of Des Plaines swept into first place in the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday night as Tommy Thomas' Casablanca five lost a pair to drop one game off the pace.

But the big news was the 1124 team game—high in the Paddock Classic this season—by Bill Bond's Mens Wear. This helped vault the Rolling Meadows team into a second place tie with Casablanca of Palatine.

Bill Bond's, which bowls out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, eclipsed the previous high of 1104, set by Cook County Mobile Homes, while bowling Saturday night at River-Rand in Des Plaines.

TWO BILL BOND bowlers, George Radke of Mundelein and Earl Nichols of Arlington Heights, set new personal highs. Radke rolled 265, which also was high game for the night, and Nichols posted 256. John Taylor of Waukegan fired a 234 game, 13 pins below his best. The other two games were 189 by Captain Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich and 180 by Frank Graff of Palatine.

Victim of Bill Bond's onslaught was Moyle Construction of Barrington. Moyle, which calls Ten Pin Lanes home, bowled well. After winning the opening game, 919-906, behind a 201 game by Ed Dudek of Wauconda, Moyle bowled better but Bill Bond improved even more to take the last two games.

ALL THIS EFFORT produced a pair of 600 series. Radke totaled 624 and Nichols two pins less. Two men, Graff and Casper Dewitz of Barrington, came close, each registering 599.

Bob Rogers of Des Plaines was the driving force behind the Cook County Mobile Homes team Saturday. He rolled 229 in the opener to pace the Des Plaines team to a 1026-970 triumph over Pro Sport Center of Gunnell's and Mt. Prospect. Rogers came back with a 215 game to pace the second win, and when he dropped to 190 he still led Cook County Mobile Homes. But this wasn't enough to achieve a clean sweep. Rogers totaled 634 for his three games.

Top individual performance was turned in by anchor man Herb Engstrom of Elgin, rolling a 657 triplicate for Casablanca. Try as he might, Engstrom and his teammates were able to win only one game from Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling. George Stone of Wilmette posted 209 to give Jeffery the first game and his 214 follow-up gave Jeffery the second game despite a 248 by Engstrom for Casablanca. The Hi-Way Recreation based team of Palatine won its lone contest when Engstrom rolled 216 and Captain Marv Perry of Arlington Heights had an even 200.

IN THE BATTLE of the cellar dwellers, Bill Cook Buick of Arlington Heights halted its losing streak at 12 by taking the first game from Timroth Plumbing of Des Plaines. Then the first round champions started a new losing streak by dropping the next two games to Timroth, which represents Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights. Dave Catherwood of Arlington Heights was high for Bill Cook Buick with a 594 triplicate. Lee Adams of Mt. Prospect topped Timroth with 579.

Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights, despite a 573 series for Timroth, maintained his league-leading 200 average. Tom Kouros, who was absent, remained at 198. Two bowlers, Radke and Rogers, upped their average a pin to 197.

Dick Nethaway of Des Plaines, who was absent, stayed at 195 while Ron Fogarett of Palatine dropped a pin to 194 and Warren Olson of Arlington Heights lost two pins to 193.

Skaters Gain 14 Markers At Champaign

Last Saturday 22 enthusiastic members of the Mount Prospect Skating Club and their families chartered a bus and made the trip to Champaign, Ill., for the Land of Lincoln Open Indoor Skating Championships.

The team showed well in the final point standings, scoring 14 points on the strength of three 2nd place medals won by Coach Helen Lutsch in the Senior Women's Division, a 2nd place medal for Bob Grady in Juvenile Boys and a 3rd place medal by little Pat Lutsch in the Pony Girls Division.

Helen Lutsch and Grady now have earned enough points in indoor skating to represent Illinois in the National Indoor Championships to be held in West Allis, Wis., on February 17 and 18.

OTHER skaters who represented Mt. Prospect at Champaign are as follows:

In Junior Boys, Jerry Haenisch and Jim Rybarczyk qualified for the semi-finals in the ½-mile event but failed to place. Jack Gehl and Tom Haenisch had some unfortunate spills and were unable to qualify.

In Juvenile Boys, Mike Bickler, Bill Gastorf and Dan Jilek skated well but failed to qualify in this hotly-contested division which drew 90 skaters in all.

LIKEWISE in Midget Boys, another large group was registered and Mt. Prospect was represented by Ronnie Baker, Doug Chaps, Greg Grippi trog and Tim Jilek.

In Midget Girls, Mary Lou Haenisch qualified for the semi-finals and Janet Bickler, Linne Lindstrom, Norine Lutsch and Linda Sommers were also represented.

In the Pony Boys Division, Billy Grady and Dick Solley both won each of their two heats with Billy qualifying for the 1/12 mile finals.

Unfortunately, some falls kept these two promising young skaters from scoring any points. Chuck Hughson also skated well in this division and just missed qualifying for the semi-finals.

York Bumps Cards In Soph Encounter

York's frosh-soph Barons, battling LaGrange and Glenbard West for the West Suburban conference title, rolled to their tenth victory in 12 decisions last Friday evening with a 50-31 conquest of Arlington high.

The hosts outscored Ken Schaller's Cardinals in each period and held a 25-18 halftime advantage. They outscored Arlington by 12 in the final two stanzas.

The defeat coupled with a Maine East win over Downers Grove pushed the Cards into sole possession of the conference cellar. Arlington stands 2-10 for the campaign and is one game behind Maine and Riverside.

FROSH JOE Mueller popped in seven first half points and Tom Wilmotte contributed six as Arlington stayed within striking distance of the Barons. However, a disastrous second half saw only two baskets find the range for the Cardinals.

Arlington couldn't collect a basket in the final period but did chip in with five free throws in six attempts.

Mueller's nine points topped the Cardinals for the evening and Phil O'Connell tossed in seven. Jimmy Dawson tallied 12 for the Barons on six baskets.

Rezoning Requests Referred to Board

Two rezoning petitions involving property in Maine township and one in Wheeling were received and referred by the county board to the board of zoning appeals last week.

Ten acres on the north side of Oakton street about 1,500 feet west of Mannheim road Maine township, were the subject of a petition by Elayne D. Trendel, 900 S. Broadway, Park Ridge, submitted by Attorney Paul C. Ross asking they be rezoned from R-4 (single family, 10,000 square feet minimum) to R-5 (general residence, 2,500 square feet minimum.)

THE OTHER Maine township petition involved 2.5 acres on the southeast corner of Golf road and Washington street, which is sought to be changed from R-4 to B-2 (restricted service) zoning. The petition was filed for Gustav and Alma Wilken, 7951 Golf road, Morton Grove, by Attorneys Philip R. Toomin and Edward M. Keating.

The Wheeling township property is one acre on the south side of Rand road about 100 feet east of Forest avenue, which Ralph Mitchell, 2326 South Whipple st., the owner, asks be changed from R-3 (single family residence -20,-000 square feet minimum), to B-3 (general business) district. (B8

Advance Night For Bethel 23

Next term line officers will step into the stations they will hold in June this Thursday evening, Feb. 16, when members of bethel 23, Order of Job's Daughters, hold their advance night in the home of their guardian, Miss Lillian Born, 1021 Olive, Arlington Heights.

Miss Georganne Stephens of Chicago will be acting honored queen and Miss Gail Lindgren, also of Chicago, will advance to senior princess. Advancing to junior princess will be Miss Gayle Weyrauch of Park Ridge and Miss Joanne Rickert, also of Park Ridge, will be guide. Other officers for the evening will be princesses from other bethels.

The group meets the first and third Thursday evenings of each month. (B9

Commuter Trains To Be Expanded

The Chicago and North Western railway will soon be operating new hourly streamliners to and from stations on the Wisconsin division between Chicago and Crystal Lake during "off-peak" hours to attract shoppers and other occasional riders to try the road's new "Commuter Streamliners" on trips to downtown Chicago.

While schedules are still being worked out, the railway has tentative plans to install the new hourly mid-day and evening train service "early in March," according to F. V. Koval, director of commuter service, Chicago.

KOVAL explained that the expanded off-peak streamliner runs to and from Chicago will not alter the railway's present rush-hour schedules in the morning and evening. The new schedules are being planned between the regular rush-hour periods, he said, to bring hourly departures and arrivals throughout the day, and during the evening hours.

It will be the first time that suburbs on the Wisconsin division have had hourly midday trains, Koval said.

North Western is completely modernizing all trains to "Commuter Streamliners" at a cost of approximately $40,000,000. The new bi-level coaches are electrically heated in winter and air-conditioned in summer.

ALL OLD coaches will be retired by July of this year when the railway will receive delivery on the last of 200 new coaches for the new streamliner service.

Forty weekday trains on the Wisconsin division already have the new double-decked coaches, out of a total of 64 trains which operate daily Monday through Friday, Koval said. Deliveries of the new coaches are now being made at the rate of two or three each week, and new streamliners will be replacing the old trains as fast as the new coaches arrive from the car-builder, he said. (B8

Community Conscience Is Needed

An "aroused community conscience" was urged Sunday by Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications 14 suburban newspapers.

In an address at the Chaddock Boys School, Quincy, Ill., he said "every citizen has a responsibility to help meet the grave social problems of our time."

HAYES declared: "We are living in an age of human awakening. In all parts of the world the key words are discovery, exploration, change and a search for deeper meanings. They describe what is happening to the inner man—his ideas, his notion of the world and his destiny in it."

He said it is "time to explore our responsibility to the world of human values." (B8

Heights Free Church Sponsors Institute of Family Living

Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church is sponsoring a 3-day "Institute of Family Living" on February 20, 21 and 22 at 7:30 p.m. at 404 N. Dunton st. Dr. Henry R. Brandt will conduct the series.

The meetings were conceived originally for the church congregation, but it became apparent that the institute would have a strong appeal to others. The church board feels that Dr. Brandt's presence and teaching can be considered a small contribution by the church to the well being of the entire community.

DR. HENRY BRANDT

DR. BRANDT was educated at Houghton college and Wayne university and received his doctorate from Cornell university. He has taught in the General Motors Institute psychology department, has taught "Family Living" classes in Genesee county through the Clara Elizabeth fund, has been a marriage counselor at Merrill-Palmer school and veterans counselor at Cornell university.

He is a former Dean of Men at Houghton college and was a professor of Christian education at the North American Baptist seminary. Dr. Brandt was also the lecturer at the General Motors Institute in 1954 on "Marriage and the Family."

He is presently a private marriage counselor and teaches counseling at Trinity seminary in Chicago.

HIS writings include "Six Talks on Family Living" and "Keys To Better Family Living," both by Moody Press, and "Building a Christian Home" through Scripture Press.

Along the Camp Fire Trail

HOFFMAN ESTATES

The thrill of a lifetime came recently for Mrs. Robert Wills guardian of Aowakiya and Ocowasin Camp Fire groups of Hoffman Estates, when she was honored at the January 24 Golden Jubilee banquet of the Chicago Area council in the Hotel Knickerbocker. Mrs. Wills received the Wakan national award and also the organization's 15-year leadership award.

To make her evening doubly eventful, she was seated with representatives from the South Shore district, who now head the Camp Fire groups at the church in which Mrs. Wills served as guardian back in the early days of her leadership career. In those days, Mrs. Wills had a Camp Fire group meeting almost every afternoon and evening of the work-a-day week and boasted the fact she had over 150 girls under her wing.

NOW married for 11 years and the mother of two boys, Mrs. Wills continues to prepare young ladies for their future roll as mothers and better citizens of tomorrow. Mrs. Wills' two Camp Fire groups are comprised of 36 fifth through eighth grade girls from five Hoffman Estates' schools.

Attending the Jubilee banquet with Mrs. Wills were her husband, Robert, and Mrs. Robert Pedersen, guardian of the newly-organized Chaweehi Camp Fire group. Mrs. Pedersen served as co-guardian of the Aowakiya and Ocowasin Camp Fire groups before forming the new 5th and 6th grade group.

PALATINE

Fellow banquet partners of Mrs. M. C. Giles were as thrilled as she was, when announcement was made at the January 24 annual dinner meeting that Palatine's district chairman was the recipient of the Wakan national award. In addition to the national citation, Mrs. Giles was presented with the 10-year leadership award.

Mrs. Giles has been active the Palatine Camp Fire program for 11 years, a period in which two of her three daughters have passed from the Blue Bird program through the Camp Fire years. She has served as district chairman since the committee was set up a year ago. As guardian of an eighth grade Camp Fire group, she now faces the challenging proposal of future Horizon club meetings with her group's entrance into high school activities in the fall.

Attending the Jubilee banquet with Mrs. Giles were Mrs. William Bleser, Mrs. Robert Luebbe, Mrs. Hans Martin, Mrs. Herbert Noftz and Mrs. James Zadny.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Okiciyapi Camp Fire Girls elected officers at their first meeting of the new year. Elected to serve for the coming three months are Nancy Chlupsa, president; Patty Ayres, vice president; Linda Lorenz, secretary; and Candy Ormsbee, treasurer. Lynn Carter is refreshments chairman and courtesy chairman is Bonnie Marks.

Two skating parties were cancelled because of warm weather; however, more time was devoted to preparations for the Golden Jubilee Potlatch dinner held February 7 in Arlington high school cafeteria.

INVITATIONS bearing a Jubilee seal were penned January 10 by the sixth and eighth grade girls inviting their parents to the gala affair. A smorgasbord menu was planned with the girls being responsible for the preparation of the food. At the group's January 17 meeting, milkweek pods were sprayed with gold paint and place cards were attached to the natural nut cups with gold cord to hold yellow after-dinner mints.

Petunia Pig, a 2½ - year symbol of the organization's Gold Rush, was duplicated by spraying a huge piggy bank. This focal center piece bore a saddle of yellow and white flower pompoms and was topped with a 50th anniversary wreath. After the dinner, the centerpiece was sent to Mrs. Ormsbee who was recently released from the hospital.

Ta-cin-ca Camp Fire group had a council fire January 31 in which they passed the rank of trail seekers. It was held at Bonnie Briscoe's home, 930 N. Patton. Those taking part were Patty Benson, Bonnie Briscoe, Barbara Downing, Pamela Hazard, Lynly Jarvis, Mary Klippert, Diane Oldenburg, Ellen Olsen, Colleen Peickert, Karen Platt, Marla Rubenking, Rosemary Saidikowski, Susan Seaman, Gail Vogel, and Linda Weigel.

Mrs. Richard Platt is the group leader, assisted by Mrs. Henry Wiegel and Mrs. Marlin Peickert.

District committee of Arlington Heights met February 7 in the home of Mrs. Wilbur Downing, 115 S Wilshire, with Mrs. Harold Purvine, chairman, presiding. Final details were made for the Camp Fire pot latch dinner to be held that same evening. Several dates to remember were brought to the attention of the district.

March 19 is Camp Fire Girls Sunday when all girls will go to their respective churches. This day will begin a week of Camp Fire Girls participating in ceremonials at school, at home and in the community.

Another date to remember is the annual candy sale March 19 through April 2. Mrs. Howard Olsen, 827 N. Kasper, is the chairman for this event.

ARLINGTON Heights district of Camp Fire Girls expresses thanks to the community for the success of the Wampum drive held last Sunday. Complete figures aren't in as yet but so far the district sees a successful drive, chairmaned by Don Hodges. (B9

A September 16 wedding is being planned by Miss Carol Barsi and her fiance, Paul M. Burger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burger, 446 Banbury, Arlington Heights. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage is being announced by Miss Barsi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barsi, 802 S. Na-Wa-Ta, Mt. Prospect.

The future bride was graduated from Arlington high school and is now employed by Bell Savings and Loan association. Her fiance attended Villanova university and is employed by Allied Building Credits Inc.

Vyvyan Owens

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Owens of Des Plaines are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Vyvyan Nannelle, to Alden Kenneth Munro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Munro of Palatine.

Miss Owens is a graduate of Maine Township high school and attended Illinois Wesleyan university and Moser business college. She is now employed as a secretary at Butler Brothers, Des Plaines.

Mr. Munro is a graduate of Palatine high school and attended the University of Illinois. He is now employed by the Molon Motor and Coil Co., Rolling Meadows.

Palatine Man Takes High School Classmate as Bride

A romance that began in a Chicago high school was culminated in Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, January 28, when Raymond Israel, son of Mrs. Erna Israel, 878 N. Franklin, Palatine, took as his bride, his former classmate, Gail Totman, daughter of the Don Vietinghoffs of Chicago.

The double ring service took place at 4 p.m. with Rev. R. Sauer officiating amid a setting of gladioli and mums.

The bride chose a gown of white satin fashioned with bell skirt, scooped neckline and street - length skirt. A rhinestone and pearl crown held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of carnations, stephanotis and a white orchid. Leo Holz, grandfather of the bride, gave her in marriage.

SERVING AS the bride's only attendant was the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Allen Israel of Palatine, who wore a pale blue organza street-length dress with pink carnations and tulle. The bridegroom's brother, Allen Israel, was best man and ushers were Willard Bingel Jr. of Palatine, a relative of the groom, and Gail Bach, also of Palatine.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents where the bride's mother received in an orchid satin dress with matching orchid accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Israel chose a beige lace with apple green accessories. Her corsage was also an orchid.

THE couple honeymooned in the Ozarks for a week and are now at home in Park Ridge. Both graduates of Luther High North, the bride is employed by the Commerce Clearing House in Chicago and the bridegroom, who was also graduated from North Park college, is with Electro-Seal Corp., Des Plaines.

Miss Volkening was graduated from Palatine Township high school and her fiance from Sterling Township high school.

St. Peter Mothers Luncheon Is Feb. 21

The veranda of Adams Hartmann House in Wheeling will be the setting for the annual spring Luncheon of St. Peter Mothers club on February 21 at 12:30 p.m. Fried chicken or roast beef is on the menu at $2.50 per plate. Last-minute reservations may be made today, Thursday, or tomorrow by calling Mrs. Richard Sorensen, CI 5-0708.

Mrs. Walter Meyer will give a review of the book entitled "Four Horse Players Are Missing." This is a comical satire on habits of horse players.

Guests of members are welcome to the luncheon.

Hairdressers Put on Show For Overflow Crowd Monday

"HONEY HUG," the newest line for spring coiffures, was modeled by Donna Quinn of Arlington Heights, a professional hair fashion model, who complemented her blonde hair with a white sheath dress trimmed in white ostrich feathers. Donna, who has had her hair colored in various shades of pink, blue, green and orchid, believes that it is very unfemine for any woman to express dislike over these new colors.

SHOCKING PINK tulip coiffure, created as the spring fantasy for the hairdressers' fashion show Monday, topped the ensemble worn by Marianne Scott. Gown was fashioned in stem green silk with large tulip leaves to complete the flower illusion. The show heralded National Beauty Salon week and proceeds will go to the Kidney Disease foundation.

Local hairdressers played to a full house of nearly 600 women Monday at the Villa Venice when they presented their first combination hair and fashion show. Standing room only provided the overflow audience with a view of the fabulous coiffures and the newest in spring and cruise wear.

The glamorous show, which featured 40 of the new and fascinating coiffure fantasies as well as the more traditional hairdo's was held in observance of National Beauty Salon week and will benefit the Kidney Disease foundation.

Sponsoring shops were all members of the Northwest Suburban Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association, whose members include shops in the entire Paddock area as well as those from Park Ridge to Lake Zurich.

THE PROGRAM centered around a seasonal theme, "May to September," and featured a spring fantasy coiffure in shocking pink created by Ruth Montgomery of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Heights and fashioned in a bouffant tulip effect; a summer fantasy in gold and white simulating a butterfly created by Rocko Marchetti of Mt. Prospect; an autumn fantasy creation accented by an orange and gold hairpiece; and a winter fantasy sprayed with Christmas tree flocking. The latter two were created by Chicago and Park Ridge artists.

Following each fantasy were more realistic coiffures suitable for suburbanites for evening and daytime wear.

FASHIONS, which made up the second half of the program, were from Beatrice Dorsay's shop in Dundee with the shop's professional models parading exciting spring and summer apparel. One of these models was Mrs. Lori Cahill of Arlington Heights.

The program closed with a showing of Arlington Heights designer Dick Johansen's custom-made designs modeled by the women for whom they had been created.

AUTUMN FANTASY hairdo, modeled by Marguerite Schindler of Arlington Heights, left, was one of the four seasonal coiffures in hairdressers' fashion show held in Villa Venice Monday. Extra hairpiece, in colors contrasting to Mrs. Schindler's own chestnut tresses, was used to create this coiffure. At center is Mrs. Jean Thorsen, also of Arlington Heights, who portrayed a young suburban matron in an attractive, yet relatively simple hairdo. At right is Alfred Martin of Martin's Hair Fashions, Mt. Prospect.

All Set for 'February Flair' Saturday at Rolling Green

BENEFIT PLANS put a bee in the bonnets of seventh district juniors of the IFWC when they met recently for luncheon in the Pump room of the Ambassador East to announce their "February Flair," hat fashion show and sale to be held February 18 in Rolling Green country club. Mrs. Elmore Lechelt of Arlington Heights, left, is chairman of the affair. With her are Mrs. Kenneth Bjertnes of Wheeling and Mrs. Myron R. Hartley of Mt. Prospect, president of the Juniors.

Seventh district junior women's clubs are all set for their second annual "February Flair," hat fashion show and sale to benefit the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children. The show will be held Saturday, Feb. 18, in Rolling Green country club and 2,500 suburban matrons are expected to attend.

A number of TV personalities are expected to be honored guests for the affair, which will feature three complete shows during the day. The first of these shows will be held at 11 a. m. and the afternoon shows are scheduled for 1 and 3 p. m. The hats, however, will be on sale from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and refreshments will be served throughout the day.

FORTY-TWO models from the seven junior women's clubs in the Paddock area will be modeling the hats, according to Mrs. Elmore Lechelt of Arlington Heights, general chairman of the show. Clubs participating are from Arlington Heights, Elk Grove, Des Plaines, Northwest, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Elk Grove.

These clubs, which make up seventh district juniors, have chosen the Clearbrook school as their philanthropy project for the second consecutive year. The school's director, Robert Wede, and Mrs. Wede, will also be among the show's honored guests.

Tickets may be purchased from any of the club members or at the door the day of the show.

Grand Fallacy

An expert is a person who avoids the small errors as he sweeps on to the grand fallacy. — Benjamin Stolberg.

Newcomers Announce Dinner Dance Plans

During the recent luncheon meeting of the Arlington Heights Newcomers club, Mrs. James Voelz announced that tickets are now available for the club's charity dinner dance set for April 22 at Vernon Hills country club. "Three Coins in a Fountain" is the theme of the dinner dance which begins with cocktails at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8:30. Music will be provided by Don Reynolds orchestra. Tickets may be purchased by contacting Mrs. James Glynn, CI 3-5008.

TUNING UP FOR the benefit concert by Victor Borge to be given at the Civic Opera house next month were members of the Service League of the Lake Bluff Children's home who lunched recently in the Pump room of the Ambassador East to announce their plans. On the committee are Mrs. Herbert Cornelius of Arlington Heights, left, Mrs. Sam Sherman of Palatine and Mrs. John Auld of Arlington Heights.

Proceeds of this charity affair will be donated to Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, Rolling Meadows, and Mark Lund Hilltop house, Bloomingdale.

FOLLOWING the recent luncheon, cards were played with bridge prizes going to Mrs. William Maier, Mrs. Quentin Sharp and Mrs. David Kammon. Mrs. Richard Hughes was a winner at canasta, and Mrs. Charles Logie and Mrs. Lyle Mullvain won at pinochle.

Any resident of Arlington Heights who has not lived here for more than one and one-half years is invited to attend either a luncheon or evening meeting as a nonmember; then is eligible for membership. Mrs. Neil Werner, CI 5-9330, may be contacted for further information.

Church Women Plan Sunday Bake Sale

As a special feature this year they will serve breakfast of coffee and donuts or coffee cake along with the bake sale, all in the school hall. The public is welcome.

All baked goods are homemade by the women of the parish. Proceeds will go toward their foreign mission fund and for school needs.

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz — Phone CLearbrook 5-9078

50 Years Ago—Feb. 10, 1911

WHEELING:

Wheeling had quite an attraction Feb. 2. The Perfect Hay Rack Mfgr. was in town a few hours with his rack and entertained admiring spectators who consider it a great improvement. Mr. Schlie will be at Herman Tatge's sale with one of his racks. See it Feb. 15 on the Lester Allson farm, J. Schwingel, Auctioneer.

PALATINE:

Chicago visitors Sunday evening had an experience which was their first and they hope the last of like nature. The storm tied up the railway company's electric switch system so bad that no train left the Chicago depot after 6:45 until nearly midnight. The train due here at 10:15 arrived at 6:20 the next morning, after being on the road four hours, and there were a good many Palatine passengers on it.

BENSENVILLE:

W. E. Bicknase took a trip to Deerfield last week to inspect the Perfect Hay Rack. He found it in operation on the Schwingel farm and was much pleased—well worth his trip to see it.

SCHAUMBURG:

Mr. Fred Gieseke died Sunday morning, aged sixty-one years. He was born in Schaumburg in March 1850, which has been his home ever since. He was married to Miss Caroline Schrage on June 19, 1873; to them were born seven children, five of whom have died. Mrs. Gieseke died 19 years ago, since which time he has lived on the homestead. Remaining to mourn his loss are two daughters, Mrs. Ed Sunderlage and Mrs. Henry Winkelhage, and two brothers, Henry of Ontarioville, and John of Schaumburg.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Sunday dawned bright and clear like an April morning and one would think Spring was near at hand; but a storm blew over from Lake Michigan, and Monday morning the earth, which had been bare two weeks, was covered with a foot of drifting snow.

Jesse Hausam the popular drayman, when he saw the snow storm, retired early Sunday night and got up at 4 a.m. Monday and started out with his snow plow. He had all the walks open for the early people going to the trains. He kept steadily at it for twelve hours and served the entire village fairly except a few dangerous old plank walks, and where the snow was too badly drifted for one horse and space too narrow for two horses. We owe Jesse a special vote of thanks for going at it while other people slept in their cozy beds.

PALATINE:

Wm. Luerssen announces this week that he will start a milk route March 1, cutting the cost of that product to ten cents a quart.

SCHAUMBURG:

W. D. Wilkening has traded his old reliable Buick C25 and is now driving a spiffy Buick 6.

Miss Ida Bartels became the bride of Herman Kruse on Feb. 6. Bridesmaids were Alma Mueller and Amelia Kruse. Edward Zoellick, Fred Bartels and Ernest Kruse were groomsmen. On their way home from the church they were held up five times. The drivers treated the boys very nice and all got home safe and happy; Saturday night about 50 young men gave them a grand chivarie and all were treated nice. After March 1 they will be at home on the Henry Moehling farm near Arlington Heights.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Judge Foell held Tuesday that the Arlington Heights township high school district was properly organized and is a legal district. The case has been on trial Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and exact decision on the entire matter has not been learned as we go to press. Arlington Heights district has been represented by Chas. S. Cutting, Wallace Shirra and H. J. Thal, R. E. Peck, Rathje, Lawler and Connor represented Mt. Prospect.

30 Years Ago—Feb. 13, 1931

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

A caroon commerating Lincoln's birthday, A. Lincoln being interviewed by a newspaper reporter: "Mr. Lincoln, what message would you give to the world today?" Mr. Lincoln, "Let us have faith that right makes might and in that faith let us to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it."

The first meeting of the new Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce takes place tonight, the 13th, in the village hall. W. F. Meyer, temporary secretary, handed the editor a timely definition of a good citizen, timely because it came from the lips of the great Lincoln. Abraham Lincoln said: "I believe that a man should be proud of the city in which he lives, and that should so live that his city will be proud that he lives in it."

Cook County Farm Bureau, O. G. Barrett, Farm Advisor, has put out a call for surplus vegetables to be sent to the drought area. Shipment will be handled by the railroads free of charge, and Mr. Barrett is sure of a good response from our farmers. "If only we could have a little more time than the deadline set of next Tuesday, we could get a dozen carloads."

MOUNT PROSPECT:

A meeting was held Wednesday night to organize a Boy Scout troop in Mt. Prospect. Mr. Arno P. Schramm is slated to be chairman of the Troop Committee, which consists also of Messrs. B. C. Bacon, F. H. Luecders, E. C. Bolton, Edward Pohlmann and John H. Babb. Commissioner Fred O. Proctor from Arlington Heights was over to explain the duties of a troop committee, the steps in organization of a troop, and the relation with adult organizations sponsoring the troops.

PALATINE:

Palatine has been a dot on the map as long as any town, but until ten days ago, passing autoists on highways to the north, south, east and west could only take someone's word for it that Palatine was "over there." Now signs showing the direction and distance to Palatine are in place. The Palatine Booster club can be given the credit.

20 Years Ago—Feb. 14, 1941

William Jensen will become Palatine's first army pilot. Mr. Jensen, residing at 411 S. Hale St., is one of the eight flying cadets from Illinois, who will soon be wearing air corps wings. He will complete his basic flight training at Randolph Field, Texas, Feb. 7.

Wm. H. DePue, well and favorably known real estate man, heads a new village ticket including George Henning, Laurence Koch, E. H. Feddeler and Fred Oswald for trustees, E. P. Steinbrinck for village clerk, Laurence Inkster for police magistrate, Robert L. Schoppe and Alma Kunze for members of the Library Board.

A. R. Godknecht, president of the village board for the past eight years, and a trustee of the village for six years previous to being elected as president, is retiring from public office. In leaving public office after years of faithful service during some of the most trying years for any public official Mr. Godknecht and his associates have the satisfaction of knowing that they have done their bit for the community, and this community owes to those men a vote of thanks and appreciation for the manner in which they have handled countless trying situations during these years of depression and uncertainty.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

Diane is the only winner from Illinois. Her entry was entitled "A study of Chemistry Pertaining to Certain Foods."

PALATINE:

From T. C. Hart's "Tales of the Street." Just because 1950 set all kinds of freakish weather records doesn't seem to be a good reason for 1951 to do the same thing, but evidently 1951 is going to do just that. It has already hung up a few records of its own. It was 20 to 24 degrees below zero in town, and readings out in the country were lower than that. 26 below at the disposal plant; 24 below at Gaare Oil Co.'s bulk plant, 28 below out in Inverness. Then Long Grove phoned in a report of 33 below. Along came Ground Hog Day—Friday and there were readings of 18 to 24 below. This is an old fashioned winter for sure.

The Chamber of Commerce got a letter the other day from a resident of New York who wanted to know how Palatine got its name. The history of Cook County says that at a meeting held in John Slade's home over a century ago the assembled crowd voted for a name. Two names were proposed, Palatine and Yankton. The history doesn't say where the promoters got the name, but since this area was settled by Yankee settlers and settlers of German birth or descent, it wouldn't be surprising if the Yankees proposed Yankton, and the Germans Palatine. Life Begins at YMCA?

THERE'S NO FOOL like an — no, that's not right. Life begins at — no, I shouldn't say that either. On the other hand, what DO you say about a group of youngish middle-aged males who all of a sudden go on an athletic kick?

A new emporium of health and wild activity called the YMCA opened in our area quite recently. There was lots of interesting conversation among the male population of the neighborhood about joining and building up the old muscles. All of the gals agreed that yes, indeed, we should join because it would be so nice for the children.

We even allowed that we might take advantage of the swimming facilities from time to time. In the meantime, these same males, some of them getting a trifle bulky around the middle, had organized themselves. Thus was the Paranoiac Athletic Health club born. Paranoia, according to my friend Webster, is a mental disorder characterized by systematized delusions of persecution and of one's own greatness, sometimes with hallucinations.

I don't know how persecuted they all think they are but they certainly think they are great and that, in itself is an hallucination. I don't mean that they aren't great fellows. I just mean that they aren't any longer great athletes. At least, I don't think they are. If the first night is any criterion, they won't be paranoiacs. They'll just be basket cases.

They started out with a nice easy game of basketball. Every once in a while one of them would make a basket and the rest clapped appreciatively. They are all real good sports. The game ended on a rather sour note as one good sport, carried away with the spirit of do or die, smashed into a wall racking up one of his feet pretty well. Well enough for X-rays. And then there were nine.

Then they zipped around playing volleyball until one of them got into a coughing fit which left him reeling against the next. And then there were eight. After a dip in the pool, they hied themselves out to a restaurant to put the few pounds they may have lost right back in the same spot. One of them got indigestion and then there were seven.

Seven went out this week and seven could barely rise from their beds the following morning. By next week there will either be none or the original ten. I can hardly wait to find out which.

Home, Aid Society

Gov. Otto Kerner was the principal speaker at the 77th annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society February 10 at the Palmer House. Members of Countryside auxilary attending the luncheon meeting were Mrs. Carol Maloney of Prospect Heights, Mrs. Edward Glppen of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Ralph Anderson, Mrs. George Koester, Mrs. Glen Nielsen and Mrs. William Heise, all of Palatine.

The monthly meeting of the local auxilary was held February 6 in the home of Mrs. Heise when plans were completed for a March 20 "Friendship Coffee" to be given in the Plum Grove home of Mrs. Thomas Crouch. Guests will be invited to learn more about the society and its work. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

THURS., FEB. 16, 1961

Mid-Winter Splash Party at 'Y'

Don't you wish that spring had sprung or that summer had begun? With the ice and snow it may not stimulate you to think of "The Swim," but if you have visited the new YMCA you will think of it.

INVITATIONS

Little white, double fold, construction paper polar bears can "bear" the following invitation:

Shut your eyes!
And then JUMP RIGHT IN!
Do not mind the ice and snow,
We're going for a swim.
Oh no, we are not penguins,
A seal or polar bear,
But when you feel the water's warm,
You'll be glad you're there.

State time, place and occasion, if any—it is a nice one for a boy's party. However, any age group would enjoy it—not the little ones, as they are not allowed in the pool and would need too much supervision if they were.

PREPARATION

Before you even mention it to the youngsters, call the 'Y' and see what the rates and rules are and make an appointment, well in advance. Check on the arrangements for payment, and if cancellation is necessary what that involves also. Also check as to equipment—towels, clogs, kind of suits, etc.

Send the invitations and then make sure you state clearly the time you will take the children home—plan your refreshments after the swim, naturally, but prepare a large amount because appetities soar.

You must prepare the group prior to entry to the pool. State the rules clearly—no running, horseplay, etc., or they will have to be taken home. A few rules to run by prevents a lot of confusion—the kids appreciate knowing what is expected of them.

MENU

While the children are at the pool, you can go home and prepare the "meal." I say meal, because snacks will not suffice. How about a few names like Diving Board hot dogs, Rippling Wave jello, Surfboard cookies and if you want to be square, "sand" wiches. Lots of soft drinks, etc., to round out the menu and the meal.

DECORATIONS

Not much to this but a centerpiece of a pan or bowl of water, oblong in shape with tiny diving board taped to one end. If it is a birthday you can have a tiny flag made from a piece of towel with the year on it at one end of the pool. A large beach towel will be the tablecloth and terry cloth guest towels in bright colors, napkins. They launder easily too.

Use paper plates, cups and straws and enjoy the cleaning up yourself or let the kids help.

This can be carried through the entire party if it is a birthday — you can give beach clogs, washclothes and soap, goldfish, turtles, or anything that suggests water, etc., for favors and games will follow the theme.

Well, dive in, and give a big splash party—then you will be in the swim of things for sure.

Wheeling Jrs. Announce Plans to Enter Contest

Sewing a smart fashion may win a trip to Paris for a local clubwoman this year. Mrs. Hubert Sommerfeld, American home chairman of Wheeling Junior Woman's club, has just announced the club's plans to enter the fourth annual fashion-sewing contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's clubs and Vogue Pattern Service, in cooperation with the Woman's Club Service Bureau of New York City.

First prize in this national contest is a trip to Europe with other prizes including trips to the federation's annual convention in Miami Beach, Fla., next spring.

ALL CONTESTANTS are required to make and model an outfit which they consider the "Ideal Costume for the Clubwoman's Wardrobe." The winning entry will be selected on the basis of adaptability for various club occasions, overall fashion effect, becomingness to wearer, and workmanship.

Judging of Wheeling Juniors' entries will take place at the regular meeting Tuesday, Feb. 21, 8 p.m., at the Mark Twain school.

In addition to the judging of the sewing contest, the program for the evening will be a dramatic skit presented by members of the Village Theatre.

THIS WILL BE an open meeting. Members may bring guests, and any women residing in Wheeling or vicinity, interested in joning the club, are invited.

Social hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Charles Piercy and refreshments will be served following the meeting. (S

Sixpence in Monnet Smith's Shoe Brings Luck at Wedding

A sixpence brought back from Europe by Miss Monnet Smith was worn in her shoe as a good luck piece January 28 when she became the bride of Ens. Leeland Millard Bathrick in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monnet Smith, 630 Aberdeen rd., Inverness, was graduated from Palatine high school and DePauw university.

The bridegroom, son of the Lincoln M. Bathricks of Cincinnati, was graduated from the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis and has spent the last six months at navy supply corps school in Athens, Ga.

WHITE stock and candelabra decorated the church for the 7:30 p.m., double ring service which was performed by Dr. Paul L. Stumpf. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of traditional off-white silk mist bianca with chapel train. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves, and a neckline with alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls.

Her veil was fastened to a small crown of seed pearls and her only jewelry was an add-a-pearl necklace given to her by her maternal grandmother, who also made the blue garter worn by the bride. Her flowers were a cascade of white roses.

Arlington Couple United In Faith Lutheran

Carrying her grandmother's unusual handkerchief as "something old," the former Patricia Grabb of Arlington Heights became the December 3 bride of Donald W. Volkmann, also of Arlington Heights. The handkerchief, rich in sentimental value, was made in New Mexico during World War I out of wood pulp.

The bride was gowned in a rosepoint lace and satin peau desoie chapel length wedding dress, over which she wore an imported Belgian lace mantilla chapel length veil. The gown had a fitted bodice of rosepoint lace with long pointed sleeves and sabrina neckline, and the full peau de soie skirt was adorned with rosepoint lace. Her bouquet was of white roses, lilies of the valley and eucalyptus leaves.

SHE MET her bridegroom at the altar of Faith Lutheran church in Arlington Heights at 7 o'clock in the evening for the double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. Robert O. Bartz. Baskets of white mums and gladioli decorated the sides of the altar as the couple repeated their vows. Organist Donald Herman played as Maryanne Laseke sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Grabb, 203 N. Wilke rd., and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Volkmann of 1315 W. Hawthorne.

THE BRIDE'S only attendant was Mrs. Arthur Schulzė of Arlington Heights, who was attired in red silk chiffon with white shoes, hat and muff trimmed with red tea-roses. Best man was Arthur Schulze of Arlington. Ushers were Eugene Stemple of Carpentersville and John Van Dyke Jr. of Bensenville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Grabb chose a sapphire blue silk jersey dress with blue accessories and had a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Volkmann wore pink lace with matching accessories and had a corsage of pink and white carnations.

ONE HUNDRED guests attended the wedding reception held in the Colonial Inn in Schiller Park. Buffet dinner was served, followed by dancing to the music of Bud Brinkman's combo.

The couple are making their home with the bride's parents until their new home in Buffalo Grove is completed in spring. The bride is employed at Arlington Heights National bank, while Mr. Volkmann works for Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis in Chicago. He attended Arlington high school, while his bride is a graduate of Leyden Community high school. (S

AAUW to View Film

The Oscar-winning color and sound film of the life of Albert Schweitzer will be shown to members of the Northwest Suburban branch of the American Association of University Women tonight, Feb. 16 at 8 in South Park fieldhouse, Des Plaines.

Narrated by Frederic March and Burgess Meredith, the film was procured from the Albert Schweitzer Education foundation and covers the life of the inspired "jungle doctor." Part of the movie takes in the experiences of the 85-year old "doctor" in his leper village hospital, where for nearly 50 years he has created a symbol of "reverence for life" in the midst of violence, superstition and misery.

LOCAL AAUW president, Mrs. V. W. Brownell of Mount Prospect, brings to the attention of members a new "member-at-large" status. Anyone moving from one area or part of the country to another may now notify the membership chairman of the move without resigning or forfeiting her national dues for the year of the move. The chairman notifies the branch to which the member is moving, and the member then attends meetings in the new area. Those moving or newly arrived eligibles in the northwest area are asked to contact Mrs. J. M. Forkins, VA 4-0350.

Mrs. Robert Claus, arts chairman, VA 7-4068, reminds members who produced any work in the art field to call her concerning the annual display at the March meeting.

Board members will meet March 7 in the Prospect Heights home of Mrs. E. V. Carlson, 207 E. School lane.

American History Month for DARs

The national society of Daughters of the American REvolution has designated February as National American History month. In her message to the society, Doris Pike White writes, "today as never before we need loyal and responsible Americanism—a moral and spiritual return to the fundamental concepts of 1776. Our nation's strength will depend on the quality of its citizenship, on the national character of our people. We cannot survive as a free nation if we do not take steps to strengthen our individual character and realize our responsibility as a free people."

In order to foster the study of American history locally, Eli Skinner chapter of the DAR presents annually to winning eighth grade students in Arlington Heights five silver awards as first prizes and five certificates as second prizes for excellence in history. (S

Poodle Lovers Meet Despite Heavy Snow

Already planning their second "poodle party for people," this one for summer when the weather is more predictable, are the poodle fanciers in this area. Seventy-five women and one lone man had made reservations for last Friday's dessert luncheon at the Circle Five ranch in Barrington, but heavy snows and slippery roads prevented many of the poodle lovers from attending.

The luncheon turned out to be the real "gab fest" that had been anticipated. Pictures of pets were passed around, helpful information was gleaned from fellow poodle owners and poodle books and magazines were thumbed through by all.

Many of the women had donned their poodle-decorated skirts and blouses while others wore poodle jewelry. The lone man was wearing just a business suit with no poodle ornamentation.

ONE OF THE highlights of the afternoon was a canine style show of hand-made coats with the selection ranging from fur and fur-lined coats for the snowy weather, to the sequinned shrugs and rhinestone-studded velveteens for spring. Still another highlight was the demonstration of obedience training as taught in area obedience schools.

Purpose of the luncheon was to acquaint poodle owners with each other and to discuss breeding to retain the high standards of the breed. Hostess for the luncheon was Mrs. Harvey Orndorff of Barrington with Mrs. Lee Gustafson and Mrs. Earl Newquist of Arlington Heights as her co-hostesses. (B9

The Way We See It

American Freedoms Need Deeper Study

Communism and the threat it presents to free institutions appears to be emerging as a subject of high interest at the grass roots level throughout the nation.

In our northwest suburbs, this interest is evidenced by the formation of church study groups, increased activity by Americanism committees of patriotic organizations, and the appearance before various civic and business groups of anti-Communist lecturers, often accompanied by films and literature.

Perhaps such interest has been stimulated by discussion of Communism during the Presidential election. Perhaps it can be attributed to the recent publicity concerning efforts to abolish the House Un-American Activities committee.

In any event, we welcome efforts to alert all segments of our society to the menace that Communism poses for our democratic form of government.

There are indications, however, that the attitudes of some members of these groups are endangering the very values that distinguish our system of government from those totalitarian countries with which we are locked in combat.

These values are derived from such documents as the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence, and Bill of Rights.

They include such guarantees as the right to hold varying political beliefs, including membership in the Communist party, freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom from self incrimination, and the right of petition.

Too often the magnitude of the Communist threat appears to stimulate an emotional response among our populace that equates any deviation from the norm or threat to the status quo with subversion. For example:

—To suggest that no agreement on disarmament can be reached without the inclusion of Red China at the conference table is to become the handmaiden of world Communism.

—To urge the unilateral halting of nuclear weapons testing is to be duped by fellow travelers.

—To oppose prior censorship of press or motion pictures is to be accused of abetting a Red conspiracy to corrupt the minds of our youth through pornography.

—To question the merits of our religious institutions is to subscribe to atheistic Communism.

—To petition for the disbanding of the House Un-American Activities committee is to flirt with treason, according to a member of the committee.

It is not the intent of this editorial to lend Paddock Publications' support to any of these causes or issues.

Our purpose is to bring home the realization that the continued existence of our country as we know it requires more than a militant anti-Communist posture.

It requires a dedication to those documents that protect the right of dissent, publicly expressed. Only then will our survival be worthwhile.

We therefore suggest that the Constitution of the United States of America be studied along with the Communist Manifesto.

We urge that the philosophy of Jefferson be studied along with that of Marx, and that the pronouncements of Lenin be balanced with those of the distinguished jurist Learned Hand, who recognized the internal dangers that political tensions bring to free societies when he said:

"That community is already in the process of dissolution where each man begins to eye his neighbor as a possible enemy, where nonconformity with the accepted creed, political as well as religious, is a mark of disaffection; where denunciation, without specification or backing, takes the place of evidence; where orthodoxy chokes freedom of dissent; where faith in the eventual supremacy of reason has become so timid that we dare not enter our convictions in the open lists, to win or lose."

Fund Appeals Multiply; Need for Planned Giving

The fund drive season is getting into full swing, and between now and April northwest suburban residents can count on being solicited a couple of dozen times for various causes.

In an attempt to reduce the number of solicitations some communities have newly organized combined appeals; others are toying with the idea. Still other towns have abandoned collective fund drives when community interest waned, and donations dropped.

Whether confronted with one appeal or 25 fund drives (the number recorded last year in one area community), the person solicited can do much to relieve indecision, irritation, and needless embarrassment by following a few simple rules outlined in a pamphlet published by the Knox College Alumni Fund.

In order to avoid the hurried fumbling for a dollar when confronted by a neighbor or the afterpangs of regret at having turned down a stranger for a worthy cause, the pamphlet suggests "planned giving."

The first step in the plan is to estimate roughly at the beginning of the year the total amount you can afford to give away during the year.

Secondly, apportion the total tentatively in broad categories such as religious activities, educational projects, community services, and national welfare appeals.

The third step is to assign a figure for specific activities within each category.

Perhaps the first year of a planned donation schedule will require adjustments, with new causes being brought to your attention, and old ones receiving less than intended, notes the pamphlet.

By the second go round, however, a formula should be worked out that will make for more intelligent, smoother contributing.

'I'll Get Rid of You!'

Poetry Has Real Value

Good Poem Can Tell Us Much of Life, Living

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Poets are people who, when the wind blows and the sun is bright on Presidential inauguration days, complain that they cannot see but who, in the wisdom of the years can belt out from memory tightly constructed poems.

They are misfits: anyone else in a technical society could see on such a day. We could enclose poems in plastic and shroud eyes in dark glasses and then we could see. But poets see at other times, in other places, and try to put on paper the records of their visions.

HOW OFTEN are they understood? Have you read any good poems lately? I tried to think when last I saw someone reading poetry. It happens, of course, at high school and at college. Then students are asked to dissect and analyze and piece together poems; but it seems to end there. Perhaps people at literary teas read poetry.

Once a year a noted man will come to town with a sheaf of poems and a metropolis can fill a hall to hear him or to see him. When the world was much younger and we used to live in Hyde Park we used to see people "out on the point" in Lake Michigan sunning and lolling and reading—of all things—poems.

But can you recall riding a commuter train and seeing anyone guiltily reading a lyric? Such a view does not come to my mind. For a long time now we have been blaming poets because so much of modern poetry seems unintelligible.

But much of it is not, and much of it incorporates better analysis of our age and our hearts than most of what sociology or psychology produce. Perhaps we are too busy; still, a good sonnet can compress as much experience into fourteen lines as a reasonably good novel can in three hundred pages. We evidently bring small expectations to poetry and derive little from it.

POEMS TALK, most of them do, about love and death; we are at a loss in the face of one—our lyricists cheapen it on jukeboxes—and afraid—of course—of the other. Poets strip bare too many layers of psyche for us to bear it, for our society often protects us from poetry. Only when we dare approach the larger vision dare we risk poetry. Maybe when it is intelligible we are more disturbed than when it is not.

These musings are occasioned by the appearance in paper-back of a centennial edition of Palgraves "The Golden Treasury" (Mentor, 75 cents). In it are 690 great poems, about ten for a penny. Oscar Williams has brought the classic up to date with scores of twentieth century poems.

I read around in it a while the other day and tried this device: read one older poem and one from recent decades. Often the grandeur is gone; the sorting process of our time has not yet done its work. But Yeats is there, and Frost and Eliot and Moore and Auden and Thomas. Reading them, one is not ashamed of the poetry of the time; he is only conscious of what the audience has been missing.

SUMMARY: drop that newspaper, and try "The Golden Treasury" for 10 minutes, one day a week. You will remember, once again, love and death—and life.

Misunderstandings Highlighted

Press, Professors Tangle Over Vote Fraud Coverage

by DICK HOFFMANN

The current tempest over three University of Chicago professors' report on the press's coverage of the vote fraud story highlights some common misunderstandings between the public and the profession.

It seems to show that neither the academicians nor the Fourth Estate members were clear as to the other's purpose.

The professors' report set out to study whether the Chicago press was fair and impartial in its coverage of allegations of vote fraud. The report concluded that it was not, but distorted the affair to the benefit of those launching the charges.

The newspapers appear to have misinterpreted the intent of the report, for in editorial counter attacks they complained that the authors were attempting a whitewash of the "vote fraud" charges. One attack on this position which the professors never took up was that they had failed to contact any of the attorneys involved in the matter.

TO DO SO would have been a repititious gesture; it would not have served the purpose of throwing additional light on the limits set by the professors of studying the press's role in the matter. The attorneys involved in the action had been amply quoted. Unless the professors wished to get their opinion as to the newspapers handling of the situation, it would have been a useless inquiry.

Whether the professors made a convincing case against the bias which they say the newspapers exhibited is another question. It would appear that these political scientists are as unaware of the mechanics of printing a newspaper as the Fiji islander is over the presence of the United Nations.

In one instance, they complained that the use of quotation marks which fenced in "irregularities" was a deliberate effort at overemphasis. But it is a common practice to surround allegations with quotation marks to show that the evidence isn't convincing.

The professors also were piqued over "misleading" and "distorted" headlines which they felt were expressions foreign to the body of the story. Unfortunately, the use of headlines introducing the reader to any controversial story can be questioned. Policemen are often miffed over the press using "Cop" in a headline, feeling this is an attempt to demean their profession. It is a rare occasion, however, when "policeman" can be worked into the confines of the space allotted.

AS FAR AS responsible reporting goes, the Chicago press never did check into the contention of Pundit Walter Lippmann that even if Illinois or Texas failed to certify Kennedy the winner, it would have no effect in the electoral college, for the rule has been to award the election to that candidate having a "majority" of the electoral vote, not a prescribed number. Since the electoral college was to meet whether this certification was made or not, Lippmann stated there was no doubt to the outcome.

His comments weren't exactly inaccessible, since a Chicago daily does carry his syndicated remarks. But the Chicago newspapers continued to write about recounts and the like as if the outcome of the whole election continued to hang in balance.

THE DEBATE was continued on the late hour "At Random" television show this past Saturday where Dr. Finer, one of the three professors involved, engaged members of the working press in some sharp-tongued polemics. One of the guests, Merriman Smith, dean of the Washington press corps, best illustrated the impasse which exists to an understanding of the mechanics of printing.

The late F.D.R., he related, once complained over the presentation of a story, and said he would have listed some 18 items in the lead paragraph, and made a number of points in the accompanying headline. When Smith objected that this would constitute about seven or eight streamers of headline type and a monumental introductory paragraph which would occupy a whole column of type, Roosevelt retorted: "Don't tell me anything about the newspaper business. I used to be editor of the 'Harvard Crimson.'"

If Lincoln Was Back In State Assembly —

by Rep. PAUL SIMON

This week marks the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, and sometimes it's forgotten that he spent four terms in the Illinois House of Representatives.

If Lincoln were to again enter the Illinois legislature, there are two measures which probably would interest him greatly: the Equal Job Opportunities proposal and the Freedom of Residence proposal.

Both are involved in the struggle in which he was engaged, that our country should not be "half slave and half free."

SLAVERY IS no longer with us, but it cannot be denied that many of our fellow citizens are deprived of some of the opportunities others of us have, beacuse of the color of their skin, and in some cases because of their religious beliefs.

Try to imagine, for a few minutes, that you are a Negro.

If you apply for a job, the chances of your getting one for which you are qualified are much less than if you had white skin. If you want to buy a home or rent a home, you are restricted by custom and practice to certain sections of a city or county; because of this you must plan on paying an average of 15 per cent more for rent or purchase than if your skin were white—and generally you can less afford that extra 15 per cent.

What can be done about these problems?

THE LAW cannot provide all of the answers. The legislature, the executive, and the courts are less effective than an informed public, aware of injustices and genuinely interested in doing right. But the three branches of government can help.

The Equal Job Opportunities bill would make it the law of our state that discrimination in employment is illegal because of race, religion, or national background. Illinois is the only major northern industrial state which does not have such a law. At the present time, if you have a prejudice against pocket handkerchiefs and take away my pocket handkerchief, I can have you thrown into prison. But if you don't like the color of my skin or my religion and take away my opportunity to earn a living, Illinois law now says nothing.

A survey in Illinois a few years ago showed that more than one-fourth of the businesses in the state would not hire Jews. The figure for not employing Negroes was much higher.

It is worth noting that many people who complain loudest about so many Negroes being on our relief rolls are the same people who oppose measures which would give them an opportunity to work.

THE FREEDOM of Residence bill would have Illinois join states like Colorado which have a public policy that discrimination in the sale or rental of property is illegal.

If someone would accuse you and me of murder, we would deny it vigorously. But I'm afraid we are guilty, in a sense, in that too often we have forced the Negroes, about one-tenth of our population, to live in sub-standard housing areas—and Negroes account for ninety per cent of the deaths by fire.

Whether you want to face it or not, the all-white, or all-Protestant, or all-Catholic, or all-gentile communities gradually will have to become a thing of the past. We are going to have to make mottos like "All men are created equal" and "Love thy neighbor" greater realities. This is particularly important in view of our current world struggle against Communism.

IF LINCOLN were to join the Illinois legislature again these days, I don't think there is much question how he would vote on these two bills. Until we adopt them, we are the "Land of Lincoln" on our license plates, but not in our laws.

Letters to the Fence Post

Concerned Mother Opposed To Lengthened School Year

Hooray! for Mrs. Kenneth B. Marble's "no" vote against a longer school year in Mount Prospect School District No. 57. I am definitely against the lengthening of our school year. Already in the past four years one day a year has been added, and now two more days are to be added for 1962-1963, amounting to more than one week in all in five years.

Many parents will welcome this as good news—as they can send their children off for a few more days each year and not have to be bothered with them. Granted this is a good way to free oneself of the burden of responsibility of coping with your children, especially on warm summer days when they are apt to be restless. Send them off to school and let someone else worry about them!

I HAPPEN to love and enjoy my children however, and that is one reason I moved to Mt. Prospect from Chicago so that we would have more free time to spend each summer together. We find so much to do in the summer months together as a family; whereas, in winter months there are PTA meetings, church activities and Scout organizations, etc. that call each member in a different direction and it leaves little time to enjoy family activities.

Rob them of their summer vacation is to rob them of the American way of life. I find that by being out-of-doors with them 10-12 hours a day that we have few, if any, illnesses during the school year, that they enjoy their home life because we have experienced happy times together, that my children are more attentive and eager to learn when they resume their studies in the fall, and that they bring home better grades. Make their school year longer and they are going to become bored and exceptionally irritable and hard to work with. Just as an example, four days this week my two children, along with all others in their room, have been kept after school everyday, not just for a few minutes but as long as 20 to 30 minutes, because they have gotten a little boisterous and eager to get out from under the grind. Then once they are home that "½ hour of homework" that goes home with them is more like 1½ to 2 hours. What time do they have for themselves to pursue sports and hobbies?

DON'T misunderstand me, I'm all for a good education, but I also feel that there is a lot more to be had out of life. There is the building of healthy bodies, the love of nature and the elements, and the being together in family activities which cannot be had with a long school year, which is overtaxed with homework to be done and meetings to be attended.

It certainly looks as though Mt. Prospect will be catching up to the Chicago Public School calendar and believe me there are many disgruntled parents in that system who wish for a shorter school year for their children.

I only wish that there were more on the School Board of Education who feel as Mrs. Marble does. She, too, speaks as a mother who loves and enjoys her children's free time or she would be satisfied having them in school longer each year.

IT IS CERTAINLY disheartening to think of children having to sweat out June in school, much less another summer month as Mr. W. Cox envisions in an 11 month school year. I ask, trustees, are your hearts made of stone to expect this of grade school children?

A Loving Mother
Mt. Prospect

Please Spell My Name Right: Mayor

I feel that a reply to Mr. Assem's letter of February 2 is necessary.

1. There was a notice of the hearing on the Vehicle sticker petition in the paper December 29, 1960, so any interested parties could attend. Maybe the letter-writing gentleman reads only his own letters and therefore missed this legal publication.

2. Mr. Assem has also referred to me as "sandbag" Murray. I would like to advise everyone in the village that he called me at a time when I was fighting to keep my own building from being burnt down. Due to a remodelling project my entire electrical panel was exposed and had gallons of water running over it. I had just thought that my only salvation might be to sandbag my own building to save it when his call came into me. I think that if the situation would have been reversed the letter writer would have made the same comment to me if I would have phoned him under the circumstances.

3. When referring to speeches of great men of this country I believe the letter writer should credit the speaker with his phrase. The phrase, "of the people, by the people, for the people" is Abraham Lincoln's and not mine. I wish I had said these words originally, but I did not do so.

4. I believe in the newspaper theory, "I don't care what you say about me, but please spell my name right." Commissioner Nesseler spells his name thusly and not as you had it in your letter. Anyone interested in their government should at least be able to spell the names of officials properly.

John Murray, Mayor
Wood Dale

Taxpayers' Information Requested

In an obscure place in one of the back sections of the February 9 issue of the Arlington Herald appears a small article headed "Ask Zoning For Three New Stores."

The article states a time and place for the meeting "to hear testimony on a petition for a zoning variation to permit moving of a commercial sign from its present location to 1714 E. Northwest Highway."

CAREFUL reading of the item discloses no information as to the location of contemplated construction of any store building.

Taxpayers are entitled to information concerning the matter referred to in the title of the aforementioned item and be apprised of full and complete details.

As a matter of constructive criticism, instead of haphazardly scattering "legal" Notices throughout various sections of the paper why not publish all legal Notices on one page.

Mrs. Eva Adams
Arlington Heights.

Tollway Busy

Net revenue on the Illinois Tollway jumped 47.5 per cent to an estimated $15,144,516 in its second full year of operation. It is estimated that an additional 20 per cent hike in gross revenues will be tallied in 1961. More than 31 million vehicles traveled the 187-mile tollway during the year.

Home Owner President Speaks Up

A Mr. J. Elke of Wood Dale had a letter published in the February 2nd edition of The DuPage County Register supposedly an "Answer to the Wood Dale Property Owners Association."

Mr. Elke, you are wrong on several counts.

FIRST, THE petition circulated by members of the Association was not in protest of the vehicle tax nor the vehicle tax ordinance. It was a petition to bring the vehicle tax increase to a referendum and let the people decide for themselves what is best for them.

Second, the petition against the ordinance allowing the trailer court to annex to the village was not thought up by or circulated by the association, but allegedly by certain members of the School Board.

THIRD, SINCE you admit being so well versed on petitions, and the trailer court one in particular, then you should remember that when the trailer court petition was presented to the village council, the mayor and council offered no objections. They scrapped the ordinance, hence no need for a referendum. There were no 632 signatures on this petition, yet no objections were made. Was it because this group had more influence with your village officials?

What did you say, Mr. Elke?

D. Coughlin, President
Wood Dale Property
Owners Assn.

Resident Thankful For Concern, Help

Allow me to express my appreciation to Paddock Publications for the privilege of airing my views in the Fence Post prior to the hearing last Saturday conducted by the zoning board of appeals on the proposed relocation of Consumers company cement batching plant.

Allow me, also to express my gratitude to ALL those persons, who once being alerted to the implications of this thorny situation, have tangibly expressed their CONCERN for the stability of their village zoning ordinance.

I THANK the intrepid citizens who tramped door to door in wintry weather with petition forms opposing the relocation.

I thank the 186 individuals who penned their signatures to those forms.

I thank those many fellow-villagers who left the urgencies of Saturday morning obligations to fill the village hall to voice personally a growing concern.

AND FINALLY I want to acknowledge the fair treatment received at the hearing from the zoning board of appeals in accepting for consideration all written evidence and proofs opposing the relocation.

It is gratifying to know that every precaution is being taken, by citizens and governing bodies alike, that the letter and intent of the law be upheld, and that differences of opinion can be expressed openly and without malice, not impugning the good faith and personal integrity of any party.

Emergency Difficulty Is Cited

A neighbor who needed a doctor called her doctor at 4:30 a.m. This person, unable to breathe, needed immediate attention. Her husband woke neighbors to get help and to a telephone.

He called another town doctor, who also refused to leave his bed to make an urgent call. Both doctors are less than six blocks from patient's home, yet they would not come out.

FINALLY, the fire department was called, and they in turn called an ambulance to take the person to the hospital in Elgin.

What has the doctor of today come to? Does a person have to be D.O.A. before a doctor responds?

This can be proven any time by the patient, fire department, or the ambulance which took the patient 11 miles to the hospital.

Skating Carnival Evokes Compliment

On behalf of the Mt. Prospect Skating club officers, members and personnel, may we take this opportunity to sincerely thank you for your Paddock Trophy contribution to our Winter Carnival. May we further add our thanks to your Melda Lynn and especially to Bob Frisk and the sports department for the tremendous job they did publicity wise on our behalf.

Without your generous support it would not have been possible to make this a successful venture. State Association officials have informed us that we had the largest crowd they have seen in years at a skating meet.

WE FEEL the precedent for an established winter recreation program in this area has been set and we will continue to exert all our efforts to expand and extend these facilities to all youngsters, without discrimination.

If, through this program, any of our youth can be taught self-discipline, competitiveness, sportsmanship and fair play, we shall feel a small sense of satisfaction that our efforts have not been in vain.

May we again thank you.

President, Mount

Suggest Name For New Hall

Now that Arlington Heights' new village hall is soon to become a reality, it seems to me that, in the spirit of the times, we ought to give it a name.

I suggest the name "Goedke-Carlisle Building," in honor of the two village presidents who have seen the town through its greatest growth.

Resident Is Grateful For Concert

Sometimes it seems natural to accept good without any extra effort to reveal our gratitude.

This occurred to me as I sat and thoroughly enjoyed the great performance of the Obernkirchen Children's Choir in the Arlington high school gym on February 9.

FOR MANY years we were members of the Barrington Community Concert Association. This year, Mrs. Dasho and I were invited to become members of the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association since Barrington dropped their series of concerts.

I saw many residents of Barrington, Palatine and other neighboring communities in attendance at the children's performance, and I thought it was wonderful and generous for the sponsors of the Arlington Heights' concerts to invite all of us as members.

So, for myself and others who live in the area who might have failed to do so, I wish to acknowledge gratitude to the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association for membership.

Road Program

The 1961 Illinois highway program will total $255.7 million in construction improvements, nearly $29 million more than last year. The total includes $174.5 million in federal funds.

Of this total, $180.6 million will be for projects on the interstate system, and $75.1 million for improvements on other state highways.

Teens Win Praise of Parents

Because it seems there is always so much doubtful "publicity" about teenagers in general I would like to use the column of your paper to publicly thank the some 100 young people who attended an after-the-play party at our home Friday evening.

Fresh from a smashing 3-night sell-out success of "Damn Yankees" at Prospect high school these people were exhuberant but in the 2½ hours they danced and talked and sang there was not any concern for proper behavior of any kind.

WE ALSO appreciated the fact that Mr. Mische, Mr. Voltz, and Miss Stewart (the teachers who were in charge of the musical) were interested enough to come to the party. Their appearance was the highlight of the evening for the kids.

We are proud, as can be the parents of these teenagrs, the directors of the performance, and the school as a whole.

Ag College Prepares For April Farm-Home Festival

Preparations are swinging into high gear as the University of Illinois college of agriculture readies itself for another Farm and Home Festival.

The Festival annually attracts nearly 15,000 farm and city people from all part sof Illinois and from adjoining states.

Theme of this year's Festival is "Foundations for the Future." The giant show, set for April 6, 7 and 8, will revolve around four major exhibit areas designed to show how basic research today may open up new horizons for living in the future.

Here are a few examples of the type of research Festival visitors will see:

DAIRY SCIENTISTS are building their exhibit on the theme, "From Roughage to Milk." They'll also show how fruit flies, mice and goats are finding themselves in the unlikely position of aiding dairy cow genetic research.

"Flavor" is the theme of the food technology exhibit. The scientists will show how various factors affect food flavors. On hand also will be the U. of I. national champion dairy products judging team.

U. of I. entomologists are preparing glass cases to house live termites and ants to show how these insects live. Practical aspect of the exhibit is to show the best methods for controlling these pests.

Slated to meet the "Home" section needs of the Festival are a number of exhibits designed for the modern homemaker.

FOR EXAMPLE: A miniature electrically operated woolen mill will show various phases of wool cloth production.

Weaving, ceramics and jewelry designed by professional home economists will be on display.

The specially built wheelchair kitchen will show recommended dimension arrangements and storage ideas adapted for wheelchair use.

Foods researchers will display wise use of food freezers, a variety of packaging materials and publications about food freezing.

Though most exhibits in the home section are concerned with the new and modern, the highlight of the section quite possibly may be two rooms set to display articles from a historic costume collection.

THE DISPLAY will include seven wedding gowns dating from 1830 to 1961. The gowns will be on figures which will be surrounded by palms to give a "wedding" atmosphere. Also on display will be historic fans, antique lace handkerchiefs and collars.

Saturday, April 8, is the annual Ag Student Guest Day and Home Economics Hospitality Day. High school students will have an excellent opportunity to see the campus, hear about career opportunities and learn how students live while going to college.

The Festival also includes the Town and Country Art Show, featuring the best works selected from local shows throughout the state.

Predict Face Flies To Be Worst Insect Headache in 1961

H. B. Petty has reported that face flies might present one of the farmer's most important insect problems in 1961.

"They will be just as bad as last year, if not worse," he said. "They'll probably be most severe in the northern one-half to two-thirds of Illinois. So far they have not been troublesome in the southern one-third to one-half. Face flies are so named because they cluster on the faces of cattle and horses."

Petty, describing the 1961 insect outlook, spoke before the Illinois Custom Spray Operators' Training school. He is an extension entomologist with the University of Illinois and the Illinois Natural History survey.

HE SAID THAT two Illinois areas could look forward to chinch bug troubles. One area includes DeWitt, Macon and Piatt counties and fringes of the counties surrounding them. The other covers southeastern Bond county and the north-central section of Clinton county.

Before chinch bugs develop, however, they must have dry, hot weather and thin, open stands of small grains.

The outlook for corn borers is not too serious. How severe they become depends mainly on weather and planting time. If farmers plant early and the weather is favorable for the borer, damage could occur north of a line from St. Louis to Paris, excluding extreme northeastern Illinois. This applies to field corn.

Petty added that Hessian flies were at a peak in 1956. Then their numbers decreased until 1958. Now he warns that they are approaching another peak, which may occur this year in some areas.

Northern counties can again expect a spittlebug problem. But it will not be serious. Central counties will have a light infestation. Since spittlebugs attack hay, and hay is a surplus crop in many areas, few farmers attempt to control these insects.

Good Hay Cuts Protein Costs

University of Illinois dairy scientist Leo Fryman says good quality roughage is still first in line as an economical source of feed nutrients for milk production.

That's because the poorer the hay, the more protein you will have to buy. If the milking herd is getting all the good-quality hay it can eat, you will need to add only 10 to 12 per cent total protein in the grain mixture.

With legume hay and corn silage, you will need to boost the protein to 13 to 15 per cent. And with all non-legume hay, you'll have to increase the protein to 16 to 18 per cent.

New Company Formed

Realty Firm Plans Projects in Suburbs

An ambitious group of specialists, combined to form Realty Company of America, Inc., this week entered the national real estate market, revealing plans for several multi-million dollar projects in metropolitan Chicago and for putting home-selling on a "scientific marketing" basis.

Realty Company of America, incorporated in Wilmington, Delaware, maintains eastern headquarters there, with national headquarters in Chicago. The company will soon announce development projects in several other midwest and eastern cities.

HEADING the new company are two Chicagoans with contrasting backgrounds but more than 25,000 Chicago-area homes to their credit. Board chairman is Harvey M. Rawson, an investment specialist who has been active in Chicago real estate for more than 20 years. Rawson, a LaSalle street attorney who has concentrated on representing his own investments for some years, has helped develop more than 5,000 homes in this area.

President is William A. Alter, 31, who, as president of Alter Realty, Inc., has been active in the development of over 5,000 acres and 20,000 homes in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Soon to be announced are two vice presidents, an expert in modern marketing, and a specialist in modern construction techniques.

"Realty Company of America," Alter says, "has been formed in order to pool the diverse talents of people with varied backgrounds. We have all long felt the need of modernizing land and community development, of bringing experts with special knowledge to bear on this problem.

"The fact that the metropolitan Chicago real estate market is undergoing an unprecedented slump is due largely, we believe, to outmoded, antiquated, lace-doily selling and building techniques. Today's market demands the entry of a group of expert specialists. Only such men can pool their talents and experience and put home-building, land and community development, and real estate marketing on a modern, scientific basis."

THE FIRM has announced four major projects, one already in operation:

1. Arlington Heights Gardens, 300-home community offering houses from $17,000 to $20,000 in an area dominated by $25,000 - $30,000 homes. According to Alter, R.C.A.'s "Total Living" homes there are priced at least $1,000 under appraisal value.

2. In Oak Lawn, an R.C.A. development of 200 multiple-dwelling units at 105th and Lawn is planned to be valued at $4,000,000.

3. In Wood Dale, R.C.A. plans a 35-acre, $20,000,000, industrial park just west of O'Hare International airport and north of Irving Park road.

4. In the northwest suburbs, the company is negotiating for the purchase of a major shopping center site, with completed property estimated at $15,000,000 valuation.

Initiated in NSA

Annette M. Brust, 437 Maple av., Wood Dale, secretary to Laird H. Hansen, director of marketing and Earl E. Brown, director of purchases, A. M. Castle company, Franklin Park, has been initiated in Lake Shore chapter, the National Secretaries association (International).

Public Finance Opens New Office

Tuesday was the first day of business for the new Public Finance office at 1622 W. Northwest highway in Arlington Heights.

Announcement of the opening was made by C. C. Eagle, a supervisor for the company, who lives at 814 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights.

"Public Finance is the principal subsidiary in this area of American Investment company," Eagle said. "American's home office is in St. Louis, Mo., and through its various subsidiaries, this company operates more than 580 consumer finance offices in 41 states."

ACCORDING to Eagle, a 5-year lease has been signed by the company with Arlington Heights Realty company, 6050 N. Richmond, Chicago, owners of the building. The new structure has 1120 square feet of working area. The interior has been especially designed to meet the specific requirements of a consumer finance office. Contemporary walnut furniture and fixtures carry out the modernistic theme, as do the light pastel walls and fluorescent lighting.

"We believe our customers will appreciate the convenience of our new Arlington Heights office, which is located near Arlington Park and which has its own parking area," Eagle said.

Although this is the first Public Finance office in Arlington Heights, the company operates 12 offices in Chicago and offices in the nearby communities of Aurora, Elgin, Joliet and Waukegan.

IN EXPLAINING the history of the company, Eagle said, "American Investment company was founded over 40 years ago in Springfield, Ill. Since that time, it has grown to a nationwide organization which makes cash installment loans to qualified customers under state small loan and similar laws. Last year, more than a million families borrowed from American subsidiaries for a variety of worthwhile purposes ranging from loan consolidation to vacation trips. At the new office in Arlington Heights, customers may borrow from $25 to $800." (BB

Cite Rise In Health Spending

The typical American family now spend $294 a year for personal health services, or 42 per cent more than it spent five years earlier.

During the same time period, the benefits received by American families under voluntary health insurance more than doubled—from $1.5 billion in 1952-53 to $3.1 billion in 1957-58.

LESS THAN half of the increase in health spending during the five-year period was due to increased cost of health care, while somewhat more than half was due to increased use of health services.

These are among the main findings of a recent study made jointly by Health Information Foundation and the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center. (BB

Map Expert To Address Realtors

The permanent real estate index number system now in effect in Cook county, was explained by William H. Barg, sales manager, Sidwell Studio, Inc., in his talk "Maps and the Realtor," at the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors regular monthly dinner meeting held Thursday night, February 9 in the Elks club in Des Plaines.

Barg gave a brief history of mapping—from metes and bounds descriptions to photogammetry (the science of mapping by aerial photography) and available maps and their uses.

FOLLOWING Barg's talk, the sound movie, "A Manner of Speaking," was shown. The movie illustrated how the courteous, efficient use of the telephone can help build business profits and create good will.

Five new members were installed at the meeting. Active member, David Pottishmann of Approved Real Estate, Inc., Des Plaines, and four associate members—Elizabeth Byers, Henry M. Boller, and George O. Larsson of Des Plaines, and Charles M. Indra of Park Ridge. (BB

Emergency Jobless Pay Begins Feb. 15

"Beginning February 15, unemployment benefits will be extended under the temporary emergency benefits provision of the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act," Director of Labor Robert Johnston reported today.

"However," Johnston emphasized, "the extension will apply to only those workers who exhausted their regular unemployment benefit rights on or after February 8. Because the law provides that emergency benefits may only be paid for a full calendar week of unemployment, the first week for which temporary emergency benefits will be paid will be the week beginning February 19.

"MAXIMUM payments under the temporary emergency benefits program are 50 per cent of the claimant's normal entitlement," the director pointed out. "A claimant entitled to benefits for 26 weeks of total unemployment under the regular program may draw temporary emergency benefits for up to 13 weeks of total unemployment. If entitled to normal benefits for 20 weeks of total unemployment, his maximum temporary emergency benefits would be 10 weeks, and so on."

Temporary emergency benefits are available to all claimants who have exhausted their normal benefit rights under the regular unemployment compensation program, including ex-servicemen, former federal employees, and intrastate claimants whose combined wages in different States are sufficient to qualify them for benefits under Illinois law. In all cases, regular benefits must have been exhausted on or after February 8, and the claimant must meet all the regular requirements of the law. Payment of temporary emergency benefits will end at the close of the emergency period. (BB

Soil tests help you by telling what to add to your lawn or garden to get the best plant growth. Testing in late winter lets you correct soil nutrient difficulties before spring growth begins.

Soil testing primarily tells whether the soil is acid, neutral or alkaline, and how much of each plant food is present in the soil. Soil that is too acid or too alkaline causes plants to be weak or stunted. Their roots cannot develop properly and cannot make use of plant foods already in the soil.

Improper soil reaction can be corrected by the addition of lime or sulfhur. Lime reduces acidity. Sulfhur or aluminum sulfate will increase acidity.

NITROGEN, phosphorus and potassium are the major plant food elements, and each is necessary in the correct amount for good growth of plants. Nitrogen stimulates quick growth and causes the dark green color of healthy leaves. Phosphorus is necessary for root growth. Potassium increases plant vigor and disease resistance.

Ordinarily it isn't necessary to test soils for minor elements such as copper, zinc, boron and others. Most soils contain enough of these elements to supply the very small amounts needed by the plants. Also, many fertilizers and water supplies may contain small amounts of these materials.

Fertilizer may be applied without testing the soil. Using recommended rates probably will not cause an oversupply of plant food, however, in doing this, some plant food may be added which is not needed. It is quite easy to over apply materials used to correct soil reaction. Too much lime or sulphur can easily make the soil too alkaline or too acid.

IF YOU WOULD like to have your soil tested, the Cook county Soil Testing laboratory will do it for a nominal fee. Tak a little soil from several places around the garden or lawn to a depth of 4 to 6 inches. Mix the samples well, then take a cupful as the sample to be tested.

If your soil is not all the same, send samples from more than one place. Mark the samples so you know which one came from each area, and also indicate what plants are growing in it. Let the samples become air dry before mailing.

Address the package to: Cook County Soil Testing Laboratory, 131st & Bell Road, R. 1, Lockport, Illinois, and enclose $1.00 to cover the cost of testing each sample.

After the tests, the testing laboratory will recommend the type and amounts of materials needed to improve your soil.

4 Reasons Why State Will Stay Top Fertilizer User

Illinois is likely to maintain its position as one of the top states in fertilizer use, a University of Illinois agronomist said recently.

S. R. Aldrich reported that in just 20 years Illinois farmers have changed from very limited users of fertilizers to the highest in the country. He believes that they will continue to boost their fertilizer use for these reasons:

—Larger yields remove more nutrients from the soil.

—The soil's supply of nitrogen must be higher as the yield potential goes up.

—Higher yields increase production efficiency and give a farmer more net return with which to buy needed fertilizer.

THE TREND toward more crop specialization raises fertilizer demand. For example, when 1,000 acres of corn replace 1,000 acres of oats, farmers need about 25 extra tons of nitrogen and half that much extra potassium, but little change in phosphorus. When corn replaces wheat, nitrogen and potassium needs go up, but phosphorus need goes down.

In the future, fertilizer recommendations will give more attention to the natural fertility, subsoil nutrients and production potentials.

Recent research has shown that nutrient needs vary with the stage of crop growth. This may lead to fertilizer application to meet specific needs of crops at the critical stages.

In the future, higher crop yields and the drain on native soil reserves of minor elements will result in new deficiences that must be filled. At the present time, however, dificiences are limited to a few soils and a few crops.

Aldrich spoke before the fertilizer and chemical session of the University of Illinois Agricultural Industries Forum.

Say Freeman To Rush Kennedy Farm Aims

Agriculture secretary Orville Freeman will stick to the farm aims he shares with President Kennedy.

These aims are: to lift farm income; to use farm surpluses to work for peace abroad; to aid unemployed and depressed areas at home.

This prediction is made in the spring issue of "Farm Quarterly" magazine. In its report on the new secretary, it says Freman will insist on cutting surpluses by use of stiffer supply controls applied in terms of bushels, pounds, and bales, but with referendums of commodity groups as a check against embarking on unpopular ventures.

In contrast to former secretary Ezra Benson's struggle for repeal of crop controls on grounds that they are damaging the interests of farmer and public, 42-year-old Freeman will push for congressional tightening of these controls on the basis that they will reduce surpluses and increase farm prices.

Indications are that rural improvement work will be expanded and rural credits for low-income families stepped up by the Farmers Home administration. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics may be put back together again. Conservation work of the Soil Conservation and Forestry services will get full backing and small watershed and rural electrification work will be pressed.

Freeman's practical experience with farming came as a boy when he spent 10 summers and week ends living and working on a 280-acre, diversified tenant-operated farm that belongs to his family.

Graduated magna cum laude from the University of Minnesota in 1940, he is one of three Phi Beta Kappa members of the President's cabinet.

As Minnesota's governor for three terms, he made his most significant agricultural contributions in forestry, soil conservation and dairying, the magazine said. Freeman marshaled for the first time the official energies of the state before Congress, the courts, and the U.S. department of agriculture on behalf of new federal guarantees of freedom of interstate commerce in high quality milk, cream, and manufactured dairy products.

His aim has been to replace with uniform federal standards many conflicting state and municipal milk rules and regulations which are allegedly being used as economic barriers in the interests of monopoly by local dairy producers and processors.

Secretary Freeman took with him to the department of agriculture a group of Minnesota associates: George A. Selk, his commissioner of conservation; Thomas R Hughes, his personal secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Jacobson, former assistant professor of political science at Macalester college, who has been his speech writers and adviser; Dr. Willard W. Cochrane, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota, who served as Kennedy's agricultural campaign advisor.

Down On The Farm

with Your Farm Adviser

A group of University of Illinois dairy biochemists are working to answer a question that has for centuries puzzled scientists and laymen alike.

The question: How do cows make milk?

To carry out the research, U. of I. scientist Bruce Larson and his associates have kept cow udder tissue cells alive in laboratory test tubes for more than two and a half years.

Larson said that for a short time the test tube cells actually continue to make milk in the laboratory.

After a few days, however, the milk-making process stops. But the cells continue to grow and organize as if they were still in the cow.

Researchers believe these tiny test tube cells may some day unlock enough secrets to explain how milk is produced in the cow's udder.

UNIVERSITY of Illinois farm economists point out that if your individual income tax return is questioned by the Internal Revenue service, the law assumes that you are guilty until proven innocent.

This differs from other segments of United States law, which say you are innocent until proven guilty. It's not the tax agent's job to prove that your return is wrong; you must prove that it's right.

U. of I. economists say this is one reason accurate, up-to-date records are a must for every farmer.

EACH YEAR the one-third most efficient hog producers earn between $3,000 and $4,000 more net income from their hog enterprises than the least efficient one-third. Each group averages 50 litters.

This is what yearly studies of some 800 hog records kept by farmers enrolled in the Illinois Farm bureau Farm Management service show. There is no better evidence to emphasize the importance of good records. The University of Illinois college of agriculture, cooperating with the Illinois Farm bureau Farm Management service, has made a business analysis program available to Illinois farmers. See your county farm adviser now for details of this program, and plan to enroll this year.

Batteries will discharge even if they are not used. Since a discharged battery freezes at 19° F., keep batteries charged on idle combines and tractors.

Change crankcase oil more often in winter than in summer. Odd jobs around the farmstead do not get the tractor warmed up, and the oil becomes contaminated with unburned fuel, water and acid.

Illinois Farmers' Outlook

Soybeans: It Looks Like Time to Sell

By T. A. HIERONYMUS

There is little doubt that we will scrape the bottom of the soybean barrel this year. Carry-over will be close to ten million bushels, which is the minimum pipeline supply. The uncertainty has to do with the price at which all of the beans can be used up.

How well the supply can be made to last will depend on the price. It is clear that at $2 a bushel there will not be enough to last all season. At some higher price we may price so many users out of the market that there will be too many beans. As this happens we will need to put the price back down to get some customers back in the store.

IF CROP AND carry-over were estimated correctly, the supply is large enough to seed 10 per cent more acres, carry-over 10 million bushels, process 400 million for oil and meal, and export 140 million. Last year the crush was 392 million and exports were 142 million. During the first four months of this season, both crush and exports were above year-before levels.

If exports total 140 million bushels, the remaining supply of soybeans will permit a crush of about the same size as last year's. During January-September of last year, soybean meal averaged $54.50. The current price of beans is reflecting a meal price of over $60 a ton. Livestock numbers are moderately larger and should average a bit higher in price than they did last year. At current meal prices customers are probably being lost pretty rapidly; we are likely to lose too many if the price goes above $60 to $62.

A CRUSH OF 400 million will require record exports of fats and oils. The world is basically more abundantly supplied with edible fats and oils than it was last year, when prices were much lower than they are now. Production of such competing oil-bearing materials as peanuts, coconuts and sunflower seed is up sharply from last year. All that is holding the price of oil so strong is the huge giveaway operation of the USDA. Even with the huge USDA programs, we must depend on large sales for dollars. Current prices are probably driving some of this business away.

In the October-December quarter, exports of soybeans were five million bushels above the year before. They were about the same in January. These exports sales were made at prices close to year-ago levels. Since then the price has gone up more than 50 cents. Today's price is probably driving European processors away from U. S. soybeans to Africa to buy peanuts.

There is no way to be certain how the various users will react to higher prices, but it appears to me that current prices are more than high enough to ration out the supply.

THERE IS MUCH speculative enthusiasm for soybeans. The general public has bought huge quantites of soybean futures. Their enthusiasm has been fanned by suggestions from Washington about new farm legislation.

When it is necessary to make a major readjustment upward in price to stretch the supply out, as it has been this year, the price usually overshoots its target. One thing seems certain: From some level or other there will be a major decline in soybean prices.

Nitrates Retard Hog Weight Gains

University of Illinois tests have shown that nitrate added to swine rations significantly slows weight gains.

A research assistant in animal science, J. T. Tollett, added 0.61, 1.23, 1.84, 2.4 and 3.17 per cent nitrate, as potassium nitrate, to corn-soybean meal rations. A control group received no addition. He found that levels above 1.84 per cent significantly depressed gains.

Additional tests confirmed that the nitrate, not the potassium, caused the slower gains.

IN ANOTHER test, Tollett added varying levels of nitrate and vitamin A to a milo diet fed to hogs. In all cases, regardless of the vitamin A level, the rate and efficiency of gain were significantly slower. Dietary nitrate also increased the methemoglobin level in the blood, and this response was not affected by vitamin A supplementation.

I nother words, the vitamin A did not prevent the toxic effects of nitrate in swine.

Tollett explained that nitrate toxicity and vitamin A deficiences are becoming more serious in cattle and sheep. Vitamin A deficiencies occur even though the animals receive an adequate amount of forerunner of vitamin A found in forages.

THERE IS increasing evidence that these two problems, nitrate toxicity and vitamin A deficiencies, are linked together. If so, it's possible that they are increasing because of increased levels of nitrogen fertilizer being applied to crops.

Plants absorb the nitrate; then livestock absorb the nitrate from forages. The nitrate converts to nitrate in the trate coverts to nitrate in the hibits blood from transporting oxygen—consequently the animal suffocates.

Only one or two cases of nitrate poisoning have been reported in swine so far. But the U. of I. swine staff are studying the problem so that they'll be one jump ahead if it does become wide-spread.

Tollett gave this report at the recent U. of I. Nutrition Conference.

State to Change Village Markers

As soon as weather conditions permit, work crews of the Illinois division of highways will place official 1960 population figures on road signs throughout the state.

At the same time the crews will clean, repair, or replace the approximately 275,000 signs along the state highways including route markers, warning, caution, regulatory, information, and directional signs. Many take a beating from both the winter and the motorist.

THE OFFICIAL population count of the state on April 1, 1960 was 10,081,158, according to the Census Bureau. This is a gain of 1,368,982, or 15.7 per cent, over the 8,712,176 in 1950.

Changing the population figures involves work on several thousand signs. Present signs will be used in most instances; plates will be refaced and repainted with a reflectorizing material, giving the name and population of the town or city.

IN TOWNS and cities where there was little change in population during the past decade no change will be made. This will apply in areas of less than 1,000 population where the population change was only 10 or 15, gain or loss, and in cities of more than 1,000 where the change was less than 100 persons. The work is to be completed by June 1.

The job of erecting and maintaining the signs is carried on by work crews in each of the ten districts comprising the Illinois highway system. District headquarters are in Elgin, Dixon, Ottawa, Peoria, Paris, Springfield, East St. Louis, Effingham, Carbondale, and Chicago.

Our Lucile Observed While She Observes

By LUCILE ERNST

The members of the Mount Prospect Art League were happy to have 14 girl scouts and 4 adults of Troop 453, Fairview school, attend their meeting February 7. Gerald Hardy gave a lecture on abstract art.

During the month of February the Mount Prospect State Bank will exhibit water colors and oil paintings. The exhibit is being sponsored by the Mount Prospect Art League.

Victor Bittner contributed two water colors. "Fall in Pennsylvania" is a rustic scene done in bright autumn colors. His second picture "At The Well," is of a native woman of the Virgin Islands. He seems to have captured the hot island sun in his picture.

VIOLA Prill is showing a landscape and a seascape. "Mississippi Skiffs" is done in muted colors and pictures rowboats tied at a pier. "Song of the Sea" is done in soft beige and cool greens.

"Flowers" is an oil by Evelyn Rahn. Her painting is clearly defined and colorfully concieved in orchid, pink and gray.

Hedvic Vlasak's "The Bridge" is a gentle and muted painting of birch trees clustered around a river. All of the paintings will be exhibited in the main lobby of the Mount Prospect Bank until the end of the month.

I SUPPOSE our own faults are the most irritating of all faults and the very ones we can't abide. I came to this conclusion after reading a book on art recently. The gentleman who wrote it kept constantly advising his readers to "observe." I do this sort of thing all the time. I am constantly advising helpless students and hapless neighbors to "observe."

I truly believe even painting one picture will help one to observe and that keen observation will help in learning to paint. However, I must admit observing can be difficult in this day and age. I have some personal experience along that line.

THE SUN was setting in great red flames against the frozen sky. It was a magnificent sunset and I was driving along Roselle road. How could anyone not stare fascinated at pink snow and long black shadows?

It has been pointed out to me upon occasion that I have a natural tendency to weave while driving. This inclination was no doubt aided by being absorbed in observing. I was possibly falling off the road now and again.

It was with surprise I noticed no other drivers were observing the beauty of the sunset. Indeed, oncoming drivers were observing me. They appeared to be approaching my car with everything from extreme caution to sheer terror. The driver of the car behind me was showing signs of nervous instability.

IN ANY case, everyone was upset. You may want to "observe" but it is not as easy as it would seem. Even parking the car won't help. Someone just thinks you ran out of gas and will stop to help you. It is somehow downright embarrasing to say, "No, really, there isn't anything wrong. I was just looking at the sky."

New Olivier Film Hailed As Unusual Masterpiece

by JIM PHILLIPS

Without a doubt, Sir Laurence Olivier is one of the great dramatic artists of our time, and he has proved the point again in the recent British release, "The Entertainer," currently at the World Playhouse in Chicago.

And when and if you have the fortune to see this movie, you will also realize that there are supporting players who actually support!

Those of you who aren't familiar with British films will recognize only one name in the cast other than Olivier's—and that would be Roger Livesey, a film veteran of long standing. In general, the cast is excellent—and in comparison with this standard of rating, Livesey and Olivier are superb.

"THE ENTERTAINER" is a tragedy of man. Archie fading song and dance man Rice (Sir Laurence) is a who is trying to make a go of it in what he knows are his last days of show business. He has a nervous, but sincerely devoted wife; a daughter who has let love for her father stand in the way of her own romantic future; and two sons, one of whom has Archie written all over him, and the other, a boy faced with military duty in Egypt.

And, of course, there is the grandfather—Archie's father (Livesey) who has known no other thing than theater. In fact, Archie's attempts to live up to his father's brilliant vaudevillian past are what cause him to fail in life—he knows he'll never surpass the success of "the past generation."

So the aging Archie becomes the focal point of everyone's trouble. He causes the death of his father by getting him back on the stage to raise money to pay overdue taxes; he seduces a bathing beauty who believes Archie will make her a budding actress; he double-crosses the performers in "his show" by promising them more money and more bookings; and he indirectly is responsible for his soldier-son's capture and death at the hands of the enemy (you are aware that if Archie Rice had not tried to make himself an idol in cheap theater, the son wouldn't have joined the army.)

SO, THIS IS the man they call "The Entertainer." And Olivier puts the character across beautifully.

It will be quite a shock to theater-goers who have seen nothing but Shakespeare sputtering out of the Olivier mouth. Sir Laurence dances, cracks terrible jokes, is rude and crude to his audience, sings out of key, and generally does his best to convey the worst in the man called Rice. The panic of a personality that is heading for the rocks is conveyed to the movie audience in such a way as to make you cringe in your seat.

Two of the most artful and brilliant scenes in "Entertainer" are: the one in which Archie tries to tell his daughter the incident about "two nuns who smiled at him;" and the other, in which a telegram comes to Archie, announcing the death of his son.

Produced in black and white, with a string of "unfamiliar" technical specialists' names attached to its titles, "The Entertainer" is a picture not to be missed by those adults who appreciate excellent British acting and screenplay (thanks to a fine piece of drama by John Osborne).

Area Residents Assigned Lead Roles in 'Rashomon'

Mrs. Mary Jane Bentley, 910 S. I-Oka, Mt. Prospect, and David Dove, 31 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, will play important roles in Des Plaines Theatre Guild's forthcoming production of "Rashomon," it was announced this week by Lee Madden, director.

"Rashomon," a drama based on Japanese legends of 1000 years ago, will be presented by the Theatre Guild March 10, 11, 17, 18, 24 and 25 at Rand Park fieldhouse, 2025 Miner st. (Route 14), Des Plaines.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m., and ticket reservations should be made with Mrs. John Clark, VA 4-8019 in order to get the night preferred.

DAVID DOVE is a newcomer to the Des Plaines Theatre Guild acting ranks, but Mrs. Bentley has appeared previously in "The Chalk Garden," and last fall in a featured role in "Ladies In Retirement." She has also been very active behind-the-scenes for the organization, serving last year as recording secretary and currently as social chairman, historian and librarian. She is a member of the Board of Directors of Des Plaines Theatre Guild, Inc., incorporated last year as a not-for-profit organization.

In "Rashomon" David Dove plays the part of the Deputy, and Mrs. Bentley is cast as the Medium. This is one of the most forcefully dramatic roles in the play, since Mary Jane does not speak a word of dialogue, but only mouths the words of the husband's soul-voice through her trance.

LEADING characters in "Rashomon" will be played by James O'Reilly of Crystal Lake as the bandit (a role created by Rod Stieger in the original Broadway production); Mrs. Clare Wright of Des Plaines as Kinume, the wife, which was played by actress Claire Bloom on Broadway; and Ed Sauer of Park Ridge, who departs from his usual comedy roles to play the serious and challenging part of the samauri warrior. This is about the sixtieth role Sauer has played in a Des Plaines Theatre Guild production, as he is the only charter member of the organization still active as the group celebrates its 15th anniversary season.

Others in the "Rashomon" cast include John Allen of Des Plaines as the Buddhist priest, Jack Bohy of Des Plaines in the role of the Woodcutter, Bob Bonnell of Park Ridge as the Wigmaker, and Mrs. Lucille Quist of Des Plaines as the mother.

LEE MADDEN of Morton Grove, a Chicagoland freelance motion picture producer, is directing "Rashomon," which is the Guild's fourth and "challenge" show of the 1960-61 season. Madden directed "Anastasia" for the group last year, and the just completed "Sabrina Fair" production. He has also conducted an acting workshop for the Guild, which has been enthusiastically received by would-be thespians in the Northwest suburbs. (Bill

"HOW COULD YOU!" expressed by the group whose eyes are all on "Helen Sayre," played by Lois Drum, when they discover the wrong speaker has been invited to their business convention! Guss Allgauer Is Happy with Change

Restaurateur Guss Allgauer is a very happy man, and well he should be, for he easily has one of the most elegant dining establishments in the northwest area at Villa Moderne, Edens expressway and Lake-Cook road.

Guss, already represented in the Loop by Allgauer's on Randolph street, assumed direction of Villa Moderne dining facilities last spring. But he was not happy with the operation as he found it.

ALMOST immediately he set about to correct the faults and the results of his efforts are now paying off.

Having a comfortable seating capacity for 380, the spacious new room becomes a rather intimate setting thru the use of a lighted tree and pool as dividers. The color scheme embraces many hues of green, with touches of charcoal, yellow, and red . . . eye appealing and restful.

A new private dining room for 50 guests also was part of the remodeling, making a total of 6 private rooms for dinner parties ranging from 15 to 500.

FEATURED in the cozy Highland Fling lounge are the comedy-song music men known as the Three Twins. This is the first time the popular trio has entertained on the North Shore and the spirited fun, novelties, conversation, and good music make Allgauer's patrons stay late.

SWINGIN' SQUARES

"Attention all lovers!" is the order of the day from the Arlington Heights Swingin' Squares, announcing their valentine dance for tomorrow night. Among other appropriate dances, club caller Don Finfrock will feature "Old Fashioned Girl," the one that married dear old Dad, club officers say, "Bring your favorite partner and dance your heart out."

Graduates of Finfrock's beginners class are now members of this club and several new-member couples helped make up the ten squares plus who attended the February 3 dance. Several hours after the dance about two squares of our members became "Snow Bunnies."

Club president Harry Ryan has all the particulars of this venture for those interested.

Club dances are held the first and third Fridays of each month at the Recreation Park field house, 500 E. Miner, Arlington Heights. Club caller Don Finfrock starts the festivities at 8:30 p.m. and dancing is until 11 o'clock when a refreshment and social hour begins. Guests are welcome always.

BUCK AND DOES

Club caller Bob Kim and his wife, Rose, are conducting round dance lessons Tuesday nights in the Higgins school, Touhy and Higgins, Elk Grove. Class hours will be from 8:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. February 21 will be the last Tuesday for beginners to enroll.

Tentative plans for a Thursday night beginners square dance group are awaiting a final count from the Kims. Therefore, anyone interested in being part of such a group is asked to contact Mr. or Mrs. Kim, Hempstead 7-2682, so that it can be determined as soon as possible if there will be enough dancers to make the venture worthwhile.

The Bucks and Does next regularly scheduled square dance will be February 25 in the Higgins school with Bob Kim squaring 'em up at 8:30 p.m. Everybody's welcome.

TEEN PROMENADERS

A familiar square dance call, "do-pas-so" is currently spelled "do-pas-sew" by the Teen Promenaders, Arlington Heights high school group. There's new costumes, red and white checked dresses, in the making for all the chic chicks and they'll be complemented by the white shirts and black slacks of the men.

The Teens meet every Monday night in the home of their caller, Harry Ryan, 1134 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. The club continues to grow, in knowledge of square dance fun as well as in number of members, and it's been the guest of veteran clubs from time to time.

DURING THE holidays a reunion with former members, now away at college, was held in the Winston Park junior high school in Palatine. A 6-square plus crowd of enthusiasts turned out and several couples accepted the Teens' invitation to parents to join them for the evening.

Bouncy, busy calling was done by Harry Ryan, Don Finfrock, Jerry Hirons and Merrill and Nina Tibbetts, who kept things whirling in the brightly-decorated hall. Refreshments wound up a most successful venture and it's likely the reunion will become an annual event. (B9

Q. What is the acceptable and most practical way to get stray bits of food on a plate onto the fork?

A. Either the European method of using the knife as a "pusher," or the American method of using a bit of bread is proper. Never, of course, be guilty of using the fingers.

WILLIAM SAROYAN'S characters from "The Cave Dwellers" are gathered around Gorky the Bear in an abandoned theater. The production is being given this weekend, February 17 and 18, at Cutting hall, Palatine high school. Curtain time is 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the door, from any Palatine Player member, or from members of the Palatine Knights of Columbus.

A SCENE FROM "Swiss Family Robinson" which will be the first feature in a double bill starting at the Oasis drive-in theater Friday, February 17. Second feature is "Ten Who Dared."
